FOXES DO WELL WHEN FED SILVER TIP FOX CUBES

It is more economical to feed Silver Tip Fox Cubes in place of meat because if you could wring all the water out of three pounds of fresh meat, less than one pound of actual food would be left. The other two pounds are water. But there is practically no water in Silver Tip Cubes. One pound of Silver Tip Cubes is equal to three pounds of meat.

Silver Tip Fox Cubes have met with instant favor. It is the fox food that you, too, should use for numerous good reasons: No other food or supplement need be fed to completely nourish the fox. Balanced in its nourishing animal and vegetable elements, Silver Tip contains all the known necessary vitamins, the bone and nerve forming minerals, the digestion aiding enzymes, and Nature's own food regulators and conditioners which make for perfect health and growth.

PRINCIPAL INGREDIENTS

- | | |
|--------------------------|------------------------|
| Powdered Buttermilk | Bone Meal, 25% Protein |
| Rice Flour | Mest Meal, 60% Protein |
| Egg Yolk | Cooked Wheat Cereal |
| Iodide Potassium | |
| Ground Malted Barley | |
| Corn Gluten, 25% Protein | |
| Fish Meal, 60% Protein | |
| Rolls Oatmeal | |
| Wheat Germ | |
| Molasses | |
| Cod Liver Oil | |

You can feed every single ounce. There is nothing to mould, spoil or poison your fox; no need to keep it in an ice-box—it is good until used. And there is no opening of tin cans or messy feed-dish washing.

SILVER TIP IS EASY TO USE—It is cubed in convenient size. There are no wasteful crumbs from broken biscuits, because each cube is in itself a mouthful. The compressed, hard food, the chewing of which stimulates the flow of saliva, exercises the jaw and prevents bolting—a frequent cause of digestion—also helps to keep the gums and teeth in good condition.

Unlike Biscuit, in feeding SILVER TIP fox food, you do not have to bother with preparing and mixing soups, vegetables or milk with it in order to complete the ration or induce foxes to eat it.

Balanced Cubes the Last Word in Modern Fox Feed Technique

Modern feeding science has taught us that in order to get the best results with any kind of livestock, the food supply or ration needs to be nicely balanced to suit the requirements of each class both for maintenance and production. A ration to be properly balanced therefore must almost inevitably be a blend of various classes of feeding stuffs. Apart from these scientific reasons there are also sound practical advantages in having mixtures of food rather than trusting too much to any individual feeding stuff however well known and popular it might be. We need not mention the element of palatability, an all-important factor when heavy rations must be consumed, and which is more easily ensured through a complex mixture of foods than with simple substances. The real benefits of the balanced ration, however, can be acquired only if it is consumed as a whole, the fox being left in a position to select certain ingredients and reject others. This is almost impossible of attainment unless all the ingredients are reduced to a mealy condition and then intimately mixed together. It has been the usual practice, therefore, to supply these balanced feeds in the form of meals and feed them as such.

The advantage of SILVER TIP fox cubed feeds from the practical point of view may be briefly summed up thus:

They enable accurate rationing to be carried out with a minimum of labour. They are cleaner and more easily handled and stored than meals of ordinary molassed feeds. They keep fresh and wholesome much longer.

Loss of food from feeding boxes, bunks or self-feeders is reduced to a negligible amount whether the SILVER TIP cubes are fed indoors or out on the ranch.

The feed receptacle is less apt to get foul, hence a much more sanitary and hygienic feeding regime is apparent.

From the scientific viewpoint also there is much to be said in favour of SILVER TIP Fox Cubes. In the first place efficient mastication and admixture of the food with saliva is secured. With ordinary meals the food is either swallowed with so little mastication taking place that digestive troubles are apt to ensue or else the animal takes so much time chewing each mouthful of meal that it cannot eat its daily allotment of the heavy rations required for high production. SILVER TIP FOX CUBES bring the teeth effectively into play and secure a manner of eating closely comparable with that imposed by natural foods.

OF GREATER IMPORTANCE still is the certainty which the SILVER TIP FOX CUBE ensures that the various ingredients of the ration will be consumed in the correct proportions demanded for proper balance. There can be no picking and choosing by the animal; every mouthful is so uniform in character, that the work of the digestive organs can be regularized with that nicety which is so essential to the steady progress of the animal. It is much easier to secure palatability and a regular consumption of heavy rations of concentrated foods when they are given in the form of SILVER TIP cubes than when fed as meals.
