70 percent of that of previous season. I would say this figure is the best so far. The corn crop will scarcely give one-half the yield of the average for the Province. In potatoes and roots a drastic reduction has taken place. The acreage for potatoes is less than previous years by between six and seven thousand acres, while the acreage of certified seed passed by the inspection branch is down almost 50 percent. The crop has been seriously injured by blight and the growing conditions were exceedingly unfavorable. It is questionable if there will be little more than a bare crop of an exportable surplus of potatoes this year when compared with 1940.

In any event there is general complaint in the greater portion of the Province that the crop is very light and only fair in quality. At the time of writing the root crop indicates approximately 70 percent of the previous season's yield. The knowledge of the writer of the next two or three weeks conditions in this respect may undergo some improvement. The production of vegetables, garden truck, etc., has been very poor for some years. In livestock production there has been unusual vitality. Large numbers of dairy cattle have been exported at prices that should give a good margin on improved breeding and care. Interest has centered as well in beef production and in areas that have a tendency in this direction, outstanding efforts have been made to improve quality.

Danger of Seed Shortage

If at all possible grain production of Prince Edward Island farms should be retained on these farms or in this province for our own domestic needs, and above all a supply of seed grain should be laid by on each farm for next year's commitments. There may be a shortage of good seed if our own supply is allowed to slip out of our hands in the export trade. Prevailing market prices during the season have been of a reasonably satisfactory nature. Through the efforts of the Provincial Cheese Board and as a result of keen export demand the returns to cheese factories have been highly satisfactory. Butter prices too have been generally profitable although at the time of writing the market would seem to be lower than conditions would justify. While it is too early to prophesy market levels for potatoes and turnips, if producers use good judgment and do not rush these products on to the market prices should be maintained at remunerative levels.

Farm labour has been particularly scarce during the year and it is becoming increasingly difficult to secure adequate help. This condition will undoubtedly affect to some extent farm production and revenue. If the present tendency continues into the 1942 season.

George Formby and Kay Walsh in "I See Ice" At Capitol, S'Side

George Formby, now acknowledged to be the best selling comedian in British Pictures is seen in his latest effort "I See Ice" which opened last night at the Capitol, Summerside. The picture means a tremendous hit with the audience. Kay Walsh is Formby's leading lady and acts much to the charm of the picture.

Adventures on a train in the paper office and a nightclub, and finally on an ice-rink during a no-kill final, leave him with Kay Walsh in his arms in a contract as a star in the picture.

Three ukulele accompanied songs give added and tuneful diversion to the heart comedy that is the main keynote of the production.

True to Formby tradition, it has jokes about hiccoughs, landladies, debating and castor oil. Cyril Ritchie is the picture's star and eventually comes to a sticky end, while Garry Marsh and Betty Whitehead have a dangerous secondary romance that provides much of the plot for the picture.

The ice-skating sequences have been extremely well produced with a direction by Anthony Kimmins as a whole is excellent.

ent and in the most judicious manner in growing and feeding our livestock. Cull or rotten potatoes are valuable in bog production, and producers should see to it that there is no waste of any kind in carrying out farm practices. Organizations of farm groups to secure western grain at the lowest possible figure and at a time when the grain market is at its lowest level should receive full consideration.

Swine and Poultry

Owing to keen export demand unusual activity has taken place in swine and poultry enterprises. Very few young pigs have been sold out of the Province and it is safe to state that a large number of hogs are being maintained on the farms of Prince Edward Island for finishing purposes during the present season than at any other time within the knowledge of the writer. The industry is still expanding and the demand for brood sows of good type is exceedingly keen.

The same conditions prevail in the poultry industry. There is little tendency to sell off older flocks. As a matter of fact poultry producers are encouraged to retain these layers and the bulk of the present year's crop of chickens is being kept for laying purposes. There will be a substantial increase in the size of the average flock on P. E. I. farms during the next season. Unusual interest has been manifested in chick production, particularly through hatcheries and an outstanding expansion has taken place in this field.

The increased livestock production means increased quantities of feeds and the question of how these are to be supplied is one of very urgent character. With a large livestock population and a substantially reduced production of grains roots and potatoes the need for importation into this province becomes apparent. It is difficult to state what a modest estimate. Every feed resource in the Province should be utilized to the fullest possible extent.

Officers, Citizens Discuss Air Cadet Unit

The citizens' committee recently formed to organize the Cadet Corp in Summerside and a number of interested citizens met Wing Commander R. P. O. Metcalfe, chief administration officer of the air cadet movement of the Eastern Air Command at Halifax, and F. O. G. A. Guyner, organizer of the Cadet Corp at an open meeting in the Town Hall last night. The visitors outlined the air cadet movement and pointed out its many advantages to the youth of today. Wing Commander Fullerton, commanding officer of No. 9 Flying Training School, Summerside, was present and number of officers on the station.

W. O. Metcalfe and F. O. Guyner arrived in Summerside early last night. They intend going to Charlottetown this afternoon. This morning they will meet the boys of the High School who have signified their wish to join the unit.

Metcalfe in his address last night stressed the many advantages to the boys in the air cadet corp. He pointed out that the movement was not entirely a war effort but a youth training scheme which would stress the many advantages as well as in war. One of its most important points is the discipline which it affords. This moral training is of great value to the boys at the age of 15. It will have a valuable influence on their future life.

It also assists the parent in disciplining young boys while their factor is always in the case in war times. Therefore it can be an asset to parental control. These boys who join an air cadet unit can not fail to benefit both along disciplinary and educational lines. The boys are very enthusiastic and the department is willing to make the rules elastic enough to suit the needs of the various units.

W. O. Metcalfe expressed much satisfaction at the interest shown in Summerside and was really amazed at the progress made in such a short time. He spoke of the movement in other places and in most instances where progress was made it was a direct result of the demand of the youth of the district.

F. O. Guyner outlined the course of the air cadet corps which covered a junior and senior course. The basic course requires a minimum of 210 hours. It was planned, if possible, to have a trial balloon work done during school hours, two periods a week. The speaker gave an outline of the subjects and answered many questions asked at the meeting.

Mr. A. R. Berman addressed the meeting and spoke very highly of the movement. He was wholeheartedly in support of the movement as it was a very educational one and had many advantages for the youth of today.

W. C. Fullerton spoke and said he would be very happy to render any cooperation possible in the way of lectures and instructions, if it could be arranged or necessary, would have the unit affiliated with the station. He assured the committee of the full support of the officers at the station.

Mr. A. R. Berman also spoke and gave some idea of how the movement was taking in Summerside. The School Board had promised their willingness to cooperate and had offered a room in the basement for the use of the air cadets. The financial end of things had been taken care of by two generous minded citizens who had voted $1,000 toward the costs of the uniforms, etc.

Mr. Pineau of the High School teaching staff said he had interviewed Grades 9, 10, 11, 12 and there were 43 pupils who were willing to join 55 joiann shduu uuuuu to join and 55 juniors between ages 12 to 14 years.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended by the meeting speakers and the meeting closed with the King.

tank factories in one week while Lord Beaverbrook was in Moscow and had offered a room in the basement for the use of the air cadets. The financial end of things had been taken care of by two generous minded citizens who had voted $1,000 toward the costs of the uniforms, etc.

The two leaders held their press conferences at about the same time as the British announced their "further successful action" by the fleet air arm against the enemy's supplies and sea communications with his troops on the north Russia front.

This was a sweep last Wednesday principally against German shipping off Northern Norway in which four enemy vessels were reported hit and damaged.

Lord Beaverbrook who returned with Harriman and their staffs yesterday, said the British lease-lend program had been worked out by Prime Minister Churchill even before the two delegations held their three-day talks with the Russians last week.

Under the plan, finished munitions and arm for British factories are being sent to the Russians without expectation of cash payment and with no money limit.

"We are treating them the same as we are being treated," he added, referring to American lease-lend aid for Britain, but he emphasized that the plan does not apply to raw materials.

Harriman, without going into details, said that one of the United States' principal concerns was to strengthen the Iranian railway, running through Iraq, from the head of the Persian Gulf to Bandar Shah on the Caspian Sea, where, upon re-loading ships could carry supplies on into Russia.

The problem is to keep the railway from becoming too tight a bottleneck.

Sections of the London Press were critical of the aid effort, however, Lord Beaverbrook's own to seize villages and storm large towns, the Germans stated that 12 "Communists" had been killed and 20 captured in new disorders in the capital, Belgrade.

The trouble, however, went on. Two members of the German road-building organization were shot dead by rebels in Bosnia.

The Government of Greece stated in London that the spirit of rebellion in that conquered country also had risen high and that resistance was being organized.

The government asserted that the German army had burned three Crete villages and executed 100 prisoners. It also stated that in eastern Macedonia Bulgarian military authorities had sent a punitive expedition to suppress a rebellion there.

The source considered because of the following notice to the editors of Netherlands newspapers:—"Severe action will be taken unless the practice stops of publishing a whole page of pictures of dogs on the main news pages when Hitler meets Mussolini or Horthy (the Bulgarian Regent), or when the German army has made sensational advances on the eastern front."

"We are just as tired of this as of articles ventilating public complaints about food shortages and coffee that does not taste like coffee."

and Japan. He said he understood the Russians had taken the time to consider the possibility of their precarious military position. A foreign source in London offered to the Associated Press with reserve a report that the Germans might give Russia an armistice if Russia would dissolve her western armies, turn over all her airplanes to the Germans and place her factories under German direction.

The source considered these purported terms as questionable because they contained no mention of a demand for oil. He considered the matter a trial balloon sent up by Berlin.

British sources greeted the reports with flat declarations of disbelief and a Russian source in London said:—"There is not a word of truth in the report. The Germans know we would not accept an armistice if it were offered."

A Berlin commentator said: "We will continue to fight the Russian division is annihilated."

Elmsdale and Vicinity

The farmers have taken advantage of the fine weather to harvest their grain crop, which is considered very good. Many farmers are now digging their cobbler potatoes and report a good crop. The Green Mountains will not be dug for a few days yet. A scarcity of help is the cry on every hand.

The Elmsdale and O'Brien schools have closed for the fall vacation.

Mr. Alton O'Brien spent the week-end in Summerside.

Mr. Arnold Currie of Hansford N. S., is a guest of his uncle Mr. Bruce Currie and Mrs. Currie for a short vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Winston Currie of Glenwood were recent visitors at the home of Mr. Currie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Currie.

Mrs. Ronald McKenna spent a brief holiday at the home of her sister Miss Kathleen Cameron, in Summerside.

Miss Vera Elliot of Coleman was a week-end visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil MacNeill.

Messrs Sterling Matthews and Raymond Brien of the R.C.A.F. stationed at Summerside, spent brief furloughs with their families here.

Mrs. S. T. Gallant of Charlottetown returned to her home on Tuesday after spending a few days in Roseville, the guest of her sister Mrs. J. in Doyle.

Miss Rosella O'Brien of St. Lawrence was the guest of her friend Miss Jean Wallace, of Alma, for the week-end.

Mrs. Joseph Keefe, Alberton, spent a few days in Elmsdale and Alma visiting friends.

Mr. Fred Kelly, of Roseville has gone to Halifax where he plans to spend a few months.

Sincere sympathy of many friends is extended to the widow and family of the late Edward Ellsworth of Waterford, whose death took place on Friday last, at the age of sixty-nine years. Rev. Richard Ellsworth of St. Dunstan's College is one of the surviving members of his family.

The news of the death of Mrs. Peter J. Cahill of Kildare was learned with regret by her many friends who sympathize with her husband family in their sorrow.—E Use Minard's for dandruff.

Teachers Hold Convention

Resolved that thanks of the meeting be extended to the Rev. Sisters of Rochford Square School for the use of their classrooms, to Professor H. H. Blanchard and Mr. Edison Macdonald for their splendid addresses, and to the retiring executive for their work during the year.

Resolved that this Convention recommend to the City School Board the adoption of new schedules of supplements and promotion which will take into account class of license, successful teaching and length of service in the years 1938, 1939 and 1940 the Government raised to the status of First Class all teachers who have taught 25 years, and that this was discontinued in 1941 be it resolved that this convention request the Board of Education to continue the procedure adopted in 1938.

Resolved that the Board of Education be requested to admit to further examinations all pupils of Grade X of the City Schools who qualify for the Trustees' Leaving Certificate.

Resolved that readers now used in Grades IV and V are too difficult and that the Board be asked to substitute new reading material.

Interpreting The War

and deepened. Moscow reports some of those Russian forces have cut their way out of the pocket captured.

Southward from Orel, there seems to be an opportunity for Hitler to deal the Russians another shattering blow. He will do it. A thrust from Orel to Kursk along the two railroads available for it would unline the Russian defence from west of Kharkov.

From Orel Nazi forces are menacing Kharkov and Donets Basin from the north. They are also threatening to surge eastward between the two main Russian armies on the Moscow and Kharkov fronts.

Provided there is no general Russian collapse in the centre, Moscow still promises to be a tough nut to crack by siege, together even from Leningrad. He Hitler can gain his own stated main objective in Russia, destruction of Red armies in the field, without attacking Moscow, he would be likely to do it.

There has been no mention yet in German war bulletins of the situation on the Kharkov front east of Kiev, but news from Moscow indicates the Russians are planning to retire to a new line of defence there. Aside from that there is little to show what is actually happening on the upper Dnieper, southwest of Bryansk and far west of Orel, to the Russian Vorska River line in the Poltava-Kremenchuk sector, more than 200 miles to the south.

By Hitler's own thesis, there are greater prizes than Moscow to be sought southward from Orel. Encirclement of Red armies holding the Dnieper-Vorska line is one. The other is the Donets Basin, already in greatest peril from the Nazi thrust eastward along the Dnieper Valley and the Moscow-Kursk-Kharkov-Rzhev railroads. A Soviet thrust eastward from the south flank could be caught in a German vise or freed to fall back behind the Vorska, opening a wide door to Nazi invasion of the oil-rich Caucasus.

TRINITY Y.P.U.—The regular meeting of the Trinity Y.P.U. was held in the social hall on Friday evening. He then gave a talk on the need of missions in China, Japan and Africa. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, followed by a sing song. The meeting was closed by Auld Lang Syne and the King.

Dennis, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, referring to the payment of freight rates on feed grain from western Canada to this province, said last night that the Provincial Government has not offered to pay one-third of the cost for freight from Port William. The local Government will take advantage of this offer when the need arises.
