THE following is from the Wesleyan: In Zion's Herald of August 8, there appeared in the editorial columns a cut and splendid article on the Rev W. L. Watkinson, the famous British Wesleyan minister, from the pen of the Rev Wm. Harrison of Cornwall. This was certainly an unusal honor for even so good a writer. In the July number of the Methodist Quarterly Review, there is another article from his pen in the new department introduced by the new editor, the Rev. Dr. Gross Alexander, the Round Table. The article is entitled "A Miracle in Literature." We congratulate our friend on the excellence his articles and their place in such notable publications.

Every attention is paid to correspondence but it is impossible to get everything in as written, especially when as of late many communications are being received each day.

ONE of the hopeful signs for P. E. Island is the increasing number of summer visitors who come to our shores. Almost every hotel and boarding house within reasonable distance of the water has a number of guests, while many a farm house has "the spare room" occupied by friends of the family during the whole summer. A number of our guests have provided summer cottages for themselves, and on both the North Shore and the Strait side of the Island many pretty residences are occupied for about four months of the year. One of the most desirable of these is "The Rowans," the residence of E. A. Archibald of Methuen Mass. situated at Victoria and formerly owned by J. S. McQuarrie. This pretty cottage has recently been enlarged and renovated and with its surroundings of cherry and apple trees, rowans, sumachs, and other shubbery forms a rural summer home not excelled on the Island. It is located only a few rods from the village and adjoins the beautiful property of E. Boswell. Here the temperature rarely rises above 80 in the shade in the hottest part of summer, the evenings are delightfully cool, and there is a complete absence of the blood thirsty and ubiquitous mosquito. The Crapaud River on the East and Victoria Harbour on the South offer excellent facilities for bathing and boating. A daily mail, telephone connections with all parts of the Island, a steamer from Charlottetown making two return trips each Saturday, and stage connection with Bradalbane Station on the P. E. I. Railway may also be mentioned among the advantages of this most desirable location. The one thing necessary to perfect Victoria as a summer resort is a railway, either steam or electric, connecting with Summerside or Charlottetown, and if the government could see its way clear to thus facilitate travel it is possible that in a short time many others might be induced to follow Mr. Archibald's example and spend their summers, away from the heat and flies, in Victoria.
