LETTER OF SYMPATHY

At the Dec. meeting, (28th.) of the Bridgetown Women's Institute the following letter of sympathy was read to the Pres. Mrs. E. H. MacDonald on the death of her mother Mrs. Geo. Hamlett which occurred very suddenly at Mrs. MacDonald's home on Dec. 4th, 1927.

Dear Mrs. MacDonald:

We your friends and sister members of the Women's Institute wish to convey to you our sympathy with you in your recent bereavement. We fully realize that no words of ours can in any measure lessen your sorrow at parting with your dear mother; there is only one who can do that, and to this loving care we commend you. But we do hope it may be a slight comfort to know that your friends feel for you in your grief. You shall miss the loving counsel, the kindly help of ready and willing hands, but you must think of her as only gone a little while before on the "Long Trail", which we all sooner or later must travel. It is a comfort to you to feel that God in his kindness and mercy spared your mother days and perhaps weeks of illness and suffering and that after a long and useful life she was ready to hear the Master's call. "Well done thou good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Yours Sincerely,
The Institute Members.

ISLANDER AS NEWBURYPORT MAYOR

A few weeks ago The Guardian printed a very graphic account of the election of Mr. Andrew J. Gillis, a former Islander, as mayor of Newburyport, Mass. Herewith are further details of the program to be followed by this clever Irish-Scotch-Canadian, who promises to set staid old Newburyport on its ear. The account is copied from the Boston Globe:—

NEWBURYPORT, Jan. 2.—Andrew J. (Bossy) Gillis assumed the office of Mayor today.

At 10 o'clock this morning he was sworn in, and just five minutes later he was banging his fist on the table at an informal conference with the City Council and telling what he was going to do in the line of cutting off heads and making department chiefs walk the chalk of strict and energetic duty.

Not more than 10 minutes later he sat back at the Mayor's roll-top desk, with his feet cocked up on it, and enumerated in detail the appointments he will announce at tomorrow night's inauguration address, proclaiming with an "I don't mean maybe!" here and there the sudden cessation of the municipal careers of numerous functionaries.

And then, after that was over, he called in Frank E. Coffey, call fireman, who had circulated a petition to urge the retention in office of the chief of the fire department, and called him down in terms which could be understood at some distance, concluding with the declaration that Mr. Coffey might just as well consider himself through, right now.

He next served notice that four policemen were to "get theirs" tonight, naming Patrolman Daniel J. Lynch, Henry and John Fenders, and Edward K. Gove who was made a permanent addition to the force by retiring Mayor Nelson.

MR. ANGUS J. GILLIS.

Big Day for Boys About Town.

About this time Mayor Gillis said: "Well; let's eat!"

Whereupon the assembled gentlemen of the press asked his Honor when he expected to come back to City Hall.

"Oh," said the Mayor, with a grin, "I can come in any time—I've got a key now!"

It was a big day for the boys about town. They flocked to City Hall in droves and hung at doors, eagerly listening to the echoes of the new Mayor's youthful and jubilant voice as it "talked out" from the council meeting and his executive office. One of them, "Jere" Sullivan, sent the only floral tribute of the festive day. It was a gorgeous horseshoes of red and white carnations, with pink roses for extra special embellishment, and a broad diagonal ribbon reading in gold letters "Success."

Togged Out Regardless.

The new Mayor, his blue eyes bright and his red hair neatly parted, shone resplendent in a brand new suit of blue serge, with a carnation in the buttonhole.

"The $25 Mayor's suit," he announced when someone spoke of it.

He had a brand new pair of high black shoes on, too, which never had been scratched on the soles before. He wore a soft white shirt and collar, and a blue and gray striped necktie—and a gleam in his eyes that stayed with him all day.

"To the victor belong the spoils," he quoted joyfully as he fished in his coat pocket for a memorandum of his list of appointees to office. "I wasn't going to give this out till tomorrow night, in the inauguration speech," he said, "but I'm not holding back anything. Here goes—and put this down: I'm not afraid of any man in this town, or in the State; these appointments have got to go. I'm not afraid of any man in this town, or in the State—and I don't mean maybe!"

Announces Appointments.

"Here goes," he said again when he had straightened out his list:

"City Treasurer and Tax Collector, Charles E. Houghton; he's the same man that has it now—he's all right.

"City Messenger, William H. Donohue; he replaces George H. Dow."

"What's the matter with Dow?" asked a reporter.

"Well, nothing special," "Bossy" said, "but there seems to be a lot of strife here in the Hall; he's the head of a family and all that; but for the good of the city and in the interest of making things run smooth here, he's got to go.

"John J. Shea, city assessor; he replaces C. J. Kiley."

"What's the matter with Kiley?"

"He's had it six years and he's well-to-do, and there are men who need the job more than he does, men just as good, probably better. Shea's a good man. It's just a political berth.

"Dennis J. Haggerty, Overseer of the Poor for three years, no salary; he's an 'Irisher,' a very genial employer and very valuable to the citizens of Newburyport as paying teller in the bank; a live man, with lots of ability that's not recognized; he replaces T. H. McCarty, another 'Irisher,' who didn't want to serve any longer."

"What about these jobs with no salary, Mr. Mayor?"

"Oh, they can get their groceries if they know how to do it," he said happily and without any seriously sinister significance. He smiled broadly.

"To the Victor, the Spoils."

"This is just a political game. Men get in a city job and then they don't want to leave it—same as I probably won't want to leave this one when my two years are up!"

"John J. Nevins, two years, Superintendent of Highways; he replaces Cornelius H. Kelleher."

"What's the matter with Kelleher?"

"He's not on the job; inefficient; he's had a chance but muffed it. In my estimation, Kelleher carried a lot of deadhead city laborers. They did all they could to beat Gillis in the last campaign, but Gillis came through, and to the victor, the spoils!"

"Go Home, Puppy Dog!"

"Tree Warden and Superintendent of Parks, Patrick W. Hartnett, one year; he replaces nobody. Former Mayor Nelson, my predecessor in office, abolished the job. Charles P. Kelley, had it before that, one of the old-time school of politicians in Newburyport. But Kelley didn't have a chance at it. Mr. Gillis remembers the day when Mr. Kelley used to say to Gillis as a little boy, 'Go home, Puppy Dog.' Giving the job to Hartnett cleans up a muddle.

"Dr. A. J. Peters, well-known leading light in the medical profession in Newburyport, Board of Health head; he also has his friends and enemies, and replaces Dr. A. J. Hewett. Dr. Hewett spent a lot of money for Mr. Nelson in the last campaign for mayor, because he can use Mr. Nelson and he can't use the present mayor.

"And I Don't Mean Maybe!"

"And I don't mean maybe! I'll give 'em the fight if they want it, and right off. I don't care who hears me. Some of you fellows outside carry that one anywhere you like. I'm not afraid of a man in Newburyport, or anywhere else. The way he handled the board of health, the work's been juggled.

"Registrar of Voters, three years, $150 a year, Daniel J. Collins; he replaces John J. O'Brien. Why? I don't know. I guess O'Brien was all right, but he had the job a long time. I don't see why we can't give one of our friends a job.

"Harbor master, one year, $125, Lorenzo Phinney; he replaces Benjamin W. Stevens. Nothing the matter, except Mr. Phinney asked for it, and I jumped too quick—but I'll stand by my guns.

"He'd Better Watch Out."

"Building Inspector, one year, no pay, Oliver W. Page, well-known building contractor; he replaces Edward B. Hoyt. Mr. Hoyt was pro and con in the election, so I made a change. Mr. Hoyt is doing all my own building, however, and he'd better watch out or he'll lose money. No pay, but he may get a little graft!"

Here the new mayor crossed one leg over the other, still keeping his feet on the desk. And he smiled again, a bit roguishly, and like a boy playing pranks out of school.

"John L. McLean, keeper of the lock-up by day; he's an old time city marshal, in for life. But if he doesn't conduct the department different, he's likely to find the skids under him.

"He's Got a Drag with the Mayor."

"Keeper of the lock-up by night, Edward R. Ayers; he holds over, too. I can't get him unless I prefer charges against him, he's under civil service.

"Orrin G. Welch, one year, caretaker of the city clocks and sealer of weights and measures; he's the same, a hold-over. He's got a drag with the Mayor—he seals the pumps also! And he's a good feller!"

Mayor Gillis enjoyed this joke, himself, for he's the proprietor of a big gasolene pumping station in the city, and he wants to erect another one.

"Dr. John W. Shaw, city physician, three years; he's the same, a hold-over. He's got a drag, too, I guess.

"Chief engineer of the fire department, Frank Thurlow, two years, $500; he's call chief; he replaces John Erickson. Mr. Erickson voted for neither Nelson or Gillis in the election; he's inefficient and not on the job; he didn't give the present Mayor a fair deal on a permit for a gas station. And I don't mean maybe!

"Some Grow up and get Refined."

"Assistant chief of the fire department, $250, Richard K. Pike; he holds over. He's civil service, and I don't believe I can depose him; I guess he's been a pretty good official.

"And speaking back there about Ayers, superintendent of the lockup by night—you might tell Mr. Ayers this: When someone is in the lock-up late at night, he'd better get out of bed and get him some bail. I remember one time I was there and he didn't do it. He may think people are cattle, but some of us grow up and get refined.

"City Solicitor Timothy Francis Kelleher, Boston attorney and native of Newburyport, a nephew of the past superintendent of streets who's going to be canned. He was a grammar school mate of Gillis, and was Gillis' counsel in fighting the zoning limitation. He's a poor boy who's worked hard and got along. He replaces James F. Carens, who resigned.

"They're Not on the Job."

"Superintendent of Gypsy and Brown Tail Moths, and Forest Warden, Patrick W. Hartnett, replaces Kelleher, who was superintendent of streets, also."

And that, said Mayor "Bossy" Gillis, was "the works" on the upheaval his appointments will cause.

He also served notice that he was going down to the police station tonight to take a verbal crack at Policeman Daniel Lynch, Edward Gove and Henry and John Fenders.

"I've got the dope on them; they are not on the job; they're politicians; and they've got to snap out of it. I'm going around there, today or tonight, and suspend some of 'em right off, and prefer charges against 'em."

I had two children before I knew that there was such a tonic. My former experiences caused me dread. By chance I read that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription quieted the nerves and strengthened the body of the expectant mother and I proved that statement to be true, also I had comparatively no suffering and did not lose any of my strength or vitality. If Kidneys Bother Try Dose of Salts

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage, or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities; also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications.

LEADS CANADA — According to the cheese and butter grading report by Provinces received from Mr. T. Hicks, Montreal, the following figures on butter gives Prince Edward Island the leading position over all Canada with a grading percentage of 98.1. Quebec is second with a percentage of 92.8. The Island also enjoys the distinction of ranking second in cheese, Ontario is first with 92.6 and Prince Edward Island second, 91.9. When one considers, says Mr. J. R. McDonald, Dairy Superintendent, that Ontario is a cheese producing province with greater shipping facilities, we down here should really feel proud of our record. The quality of cheese for 1927 is about 3.1 increase compared with that of 1926. Butter is about the same.

CANADA AND WEST INDIES JOIN TO CELEBRATE TRINIDAD JUBILEE

Twenty-five Canadian Missionaries Welcome Moderator Of United Church To Island.

TORONTO, January 13. — Celebrations in which the United Church of Canada is specially interested begin tomorrow on the Island of Trinidad in the British West Indies in connection with the Diamond Jubilee of the Trinidad Mission.

The Moderator of the United Church, with other delegates from Canada, and twenty-five missionaries of the United Church are joining with the native Christians in a time of great rejoicing for sixty years of successful work.

ALMOST ENGULFED AT START

"In 1865, on a visit to the West Indies, I found myself on that Island met for the first time native of India," writes Rev. John Morton, D. D., pioneer of the mission. "I at once determined to secure a missionary for them or go myself. This purpose ripened in 1867, when I was appointed to the work.

"We left Nova Scotia, three souls, December 1st, 1867, by the brigantine Aurora, 227 tons, to be dismasted five days later, and not to reach Trinidad till January 3rd, 1868. A little more sea, or wind, would have engulfed us.

"When we arrived, Hindi was an unknown tongue to us, and English to the East Indians. The children came about us as curious as monkeys, so we began with them. 0—x, ox, c—a—t, cat, and so on.

Mastery of the language was followed by the gradual development of a system of education in which more than 23,000 East Indian children are receiving today the benefit of the best leadership that the Canadian Church can provide in their primary and high schools and college.

It is the peculiar feature of the school system of Trinidad that all instruction is under the auspices of missions, thus giving Christian teachers an unexampled opportunity to impart Christian knowledge along with the three R's.

CELEBRATIONS GENERAL

In the present celebration, meetings will be held at the five mission centres, Tunapuna, Guaico, Couva, San Fernando and Princess Town, according to information reaching United Church offices in Toronto from the Island.

Mrs. C. F. Sanford, of St. John, N.B., and Mrs. G. Ernest Forbes, of Weston, Ont., are representatives of the Woman's Missionary Society at the celebrations in Trinidad.

In Canada, a committee, with Rev. A. E. Armstrong, D. D., as Chairman and Rev. Robert Haddow, D.D., secretary, is making preparations for celebrations in March.

Trinidad is the second largest among the British West Indian Islands, only Jamaica being of greater extent. The population of Trinidad is about 250,000, of whom one-third are East Indians.

It is among the East Indians that the first missionaries began their work and they are today the largest constituency served. Most of the missionaries from Canada are from the Maritime Provinces, with a few from west of the Great Lakes.

The founder, Dr. Morton, remained on the field for nearly half a century. Rev. Kenneth J. Grant, D.D., now retired and living in Nova Scotia, is among the few survivors of the early days.

Supported from its founding in 1875 by the Maritime Synod, the work passed to the Presbyterian Church in Canada on the formation of that body by the union of 1875 and to the United Church of Canada by the union of 1925.

To a well-known bishop a wealthy woman complained that her domestics showed a strange indifference to their fate in the next world.

"I don't think they care whether they go to Heaven or not," she said.

"I suppose you have assured them of your hope to be there?" asked the bishop.

answer.

"Assuredly," came the confident

"Do you not think that may be the precise reason for their indifference?"

That the interest aroused in the New Chevrolet has been well merited is indicated by these first photographs of this latest addition to the light car field. The smart sport cabriolet, with its folding seat and disc wheels, is shown in the upper right-hand photograph. In the centre is the sturdy Chevrolet one-ton truck chassis, while at the lower right is the coach model, the body of which is five inches longer than formerly. Insets are: upper left, the massive new radiator and heavy full crown fenders; right, the powerful and clean-cut motor of the new line, with two-port exhaust and complete enclosure; lower left, a view of one of the four-wheel brakes. The New Chevrolets, which are to be reduced in price, are to be available at once. They are longer and roomier than previous models.
