MILK PRODUCERS (Continued from Page 1) Matters were discussed in a listless fashion during the first hour of the meeting, until the matter regarding the payment of producers at processing plants was brought up by Mr. Kennedy. He suggested that the farmer should be paid every two weeks or the plant owners be bonded since the producer was paid on the fifteenth of every month and so the owner possessed six weeks of the producers' milk supply.

Mr. Walter Cox replied that it was practically impossible for the owner to make out his books every two weeks but he would pay and had paid up the account of any producer at any time. He had gone farther, he said, and gave money on different occasions to those who were dealing with him and as a result some owed him at the end of the month.

Regarding the matter of bonding, he said the most he could do was skip out of the country with the funds from the milk program. Mr. Cox would leave the plant to be distributed among the producers which certainly would not be very advantageous.

Discussion Check Test Mr. Guy Rodd brought up the matter that a check test should be carried out. Producers and processors spoke out in no uncertain fashion their convictions on this problem.

Mr. Lee Kennedy urged that this test be adopted. Messrs Cox and Guy thought it unfair that a Government can make a test once or twice a month because a certain test producer was given a certain test for the month he could send in skim milk the remainder of the month. Mr. Cox thought that fairest test that could be taken would be a sample test three days in succession.

Mr. Kennedy raised the objection that there was too much variation between the tests of certain months. Mr. Guy said he could not explain this but that it was likely due to changes in feeding. He threatened to have a sample test taken every day and the producer could wait to see the results.

Hon. Eugene Cullen, M.L.A. stated that testing once or twice a month was unfair because certain conditions might make the tests high one morning and low another.

Mr. George Gregory of G. and G. Plant said the tests paid by Government tests all summer and the variations in two tests each month went from 3.3 to 4 per cent.

With regard to the Bangs disease it was agreed that the greatest danger was from incoming cattle from other provinces. It was acknowledged that there is a

"We do not believe that war is inevitable. It is a basic principle of our political philosophy that there is no political problem which cannot be solved by discussion, by negotiation, by compromise, by agreement."

Martin, turning again to Vishinsky, said one major contribution the Soviet Government could make towards peace would be to disband their fifth columns in other countries.

"It is important that any group of rulers should seek to dominate the minds and souls of men, and to demand that complete subservience which is due only to God," he said.

Then he urged Vishinsky to tell the Russian people the truth. The Western world views with growing alarm, Martin said, the effects of the totalitarian philosophy which shuts off its people from the rest of the world.

The only conclusion to be drawn was that "the Russian Government finds it necessary to give the people of Russia a completely false impression of the Western world."

"By continual distortion of the government of the U.S.S.R. is creating in the minds of its people a false distrust and fear of the peoples of the West."

Turning aside Vishinsky's previous charges that the Atlantic Pact is an aggressive alliance, Martin said the 12-country accord is not a threatening but a stabilizing factor in which the countries seek security against an aggressor.

Switching from English to French, Martin briefly quoted from an address made by Prime Minister St. Laurent March 28 in the House of Commons to the effect that the Atlantic Pact aims to be a warning to any aggressor.

Framing his precept that the individual is all-important into political terms, Martin said the U.N. Assembly must call on each member of the U.N. to:

- 1. Renew the pledges of the United Nations charter. 2. Renounce all theories that war is inevitable. 3. Co-operate in every effort of the United Nations.

4. Maintain and restore the freedom of peoples to communicate with all other peoples in the world. 5. Support efforts to bring about disarmament in force: and weapons consistent with security.

6. Accept those limitations of national sovereignty necessary for peace. 7. Pledge never to impose its will by force or threat of force on another country. 8. Restore its faith in the destiny of mankind to build peace on the foundations of confidence among countries.

Special Telegram To Mayor MacDonald

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 15—Dispatched over the same line as the first messages were sent on November 5, 1949 which is now operated by the Canadian National Telegraphs, Mayor Gordon S. Kinley, of Halifax, today sent a special telegram to Mayor B. Earle MacDonald of Charlottetown.

"In this 200th year of the founding of the city of Halifax and the 100th anniversary of the first telegraph communication between this city and other sections of Canada and the United States, I send you greetings over the original line which is now part of the Canadian National Telegraphs," said Mayor Kinley.

"During that century we have come to know each other better and the ties of friendship and trade between our cities have grown to a great degree this has been due to better communication. Working together, there is an even greater future ahead for us. As in the past century, I feel certain the Canadian National Telegraphs will play an important part in it."

So is the policy of isolation which prevents a meeting of the Russian people with other peoples. The two are so inter-dependent as to be almost the same. The prospect that they can be changed under dictatorship—whether the dictatorship be by one man, by the Politburo or by any small class such as the Communist Party itself—seems too tiny for consideration. To open up the country, disavow its teaching of hatred, would be for the Government to spring a trap set for itself.

Austin mentioned other Russian practices—failure to keep agreements and the like—which militate against peace. There are many, such as traditional expansionism which was fostered by Russia long before the Bolsheviks.

There is the use or threat of armed force to enforce Russian policies on her neighbors. There are the numerous attitudes of Russian racial and ethnic intolerance which she has caught up with the times.

Many manifestations of Russian intransigence do not even seem to be deliberate. They are a part of Russia, and to the Russians seem natural and right. To expect them to change on any sort of timetable is to invite disappointment.

What actually is happening in the United Nations and all the other negotiations is an effort to avoid war, rather than to make peace. A strong Western military defence to discourage any possible resort to war, even a world organized to go its way without Russia, is statecraft, an actual goal in the cold war. It is entirely different thing.

That may be why Austin said certain Russian concessions could "strengthen" rather than "make" peace.

Travel Between Nfld., Mainland Breaks Records

MONCTON, Nov. 16—"Travel between Newfoundland and the mainland, which since confederation has reached an all time high even including the war years, is still heavy," T. J. Dalton, district passenger agent, Newfoundland District Canadian National Railways told newsmen here today.

Although the number of passengers during the summer season at Port Aux Basques had been increased, said Mr. Dalton, they still remained crowded. Reasons for the increase in the number of passengers were a reduction of approximately fifty per cent in railway fares in Newfoundland and more money being available in the Province.

Everyone in Newfoundland looked ahead hopefully to the full development of its tourist attractions, he stated, but before a great deal could be done such matters as lack of facilities, particularly steamship and hotel accommodations, would have to be changed.

Premier Smallwood was giving these problems serious thought and recently attended the Canadian Tourist Association conference at Halifax.

Mr. Dalton, accompanied by J. Forsee, division freight agent of the C. N. R., Newfoundland District, is meeting with E. A. Ryder, traffic manager, E. B. Robb, general freight agent, and Frank L. Dougan, general passenger agent here. Mr. Dalton will go to Montreal before returning to St. John's.

Other speakers at the night sitting included Gordon F. Higgins (P.C.-St. John's East).

Mr. Winters explained that the proposed changes were in the form of amendments to the National Housing Act.

One of the amendments would reduce approximately by half the down payment required of purchasers of homes. Another would ease regulations covering Government loans on co-operative housing projects.

Will Co-operate

Mr. Winters said if the Province agree, the Federal Government will co-operate with them in the provision of serviced land for housing projects. The Dominion also will co-operate on the building of low-cost houses for sales and it will be ready to participate in the building of economic or subsidized rental units.

The Federal government would pay 50 per cent of the costs and the Province the remainder unless the province felt municipalities should assume part of the financial share.

On Rental Question

During the debate, J.W. Noseworthy (C.C.F.—York South) moved unsuccessfully to have the Government rescind its Nov. 3 order authorizing increases in domestic rents.

Ross MacDonald ruled on the amendment out of order on the grounds that it was not relevant to the housing bill.

Besides Mr. Winters and Mr. Noseworthy speakers in the debate included Donald Fleming (P.C.—St. John's West), G.B. Johnson (S.P.—New River), David Croll (L.—Toronto Spadina), Jack Garland (L.—Nipissing), and Hughes Cleaver (L.—Halton).

Mr. Winters gave figures showing that an estimated 96,000 housing units will be completed this year while another 86,000 new homes will be started.

The formation of new families is expected to be about 10 per cent below that of last year. New housing will exceed net family formation by about 20,000 units.

"This is the first year that some progress will have been made to reduce the backlog of housing needs accumulated both during the war years and the depressed '30s," said Mr. Winters.

Says Russia Has Means To Strengthen Peace

By J.M. Roberts, Jr. Associated Press News Analyst

Despite all the talk of peace at the United Nations, a stalemate in the cold war seems to be about the best for which anyone can hope at the present.

Said the chief United States delegate, Warren Austin, at the United Nations Monday:

"If the Soviet Government wishes to undertake measures for strengthening the peace, the means are at its instant command. Stop your campaign of hate against the non-Communist world. Pursue your doctrine that the non-Communist world is your enemy. Let your people meet with ours and discuss together our common problems. Lift your iron curtain and you will strengthen peace."

The statement is a yardstick by which to measure the possibilities of peace in the cold war. The prospects don't measure up well.

What Austin is doing is asking the Russian Government to abandon some of the central themes of its existence. The chance that it would occur in any given period of time seems next to impossible.

Russia's propaganda springs from the belief that peace between Communism and the bourgeois world can never be more than a truce pending the ultimate showdown. There have been many charges by American observers that it is also a part of Kremlin domestic political tactics, to give the Russian people an objective to excuse their regimentation.

So is the policy of isolation which prevents a meeting of the Russian people with other peoples. The two are so inter-dependent as to be almost the same. The prospect that they can be changed under dictatorship—whether the dictatorship be by one man, by the Politburo or by any small class such as the Communist Party itself—seems too tiny for consideration. To open up the country, disavow its teaching of hatred, would be for the Government to spring a trap set for itself.

Oil Deal Reported

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—Federated Petroleum, Ltd., of Calgary, has purchased the entire interest of Imperial Oil, Ltd., in the Foothills Oil and Gas Co. Ltd., and Imperial Petroleum, Ltd.

Imperial's interest in Foothills amounted to 1,181,805 shares, representing 80.8 per cent of the outstanding stock. Sale of Foothills carries with it the controlling interest in Southwest Petroleum, in which Foothills owns 470,506 shares or 62.7 per cent of the issued stock.

Imperial's interest in Lowery was 70,005 shares, representing 77 per cent of the issued stock of the company.

In making the announcement, Imperial said it has become increasingly difficult to follow competitive practices between Imperial and these companies.

Women Gather For Meeting in Moscow

MOSCOW, Nov. 15 (AP)—Women from many parts of the world gathered in Moscow today for the opening session of the International Democratic Federation of Women.

Nina V. Popova, chairman of the preliminary session, took the lead in the opening conference which discussed the agenda. She is secretary of the All Union Central Council of Trade Unions, and chairman of the Anti-Fascist Committee of Soviet Women.

The agenda of the conference will include discussions of the work of the International Democratic Federation of Women and its national peace organization and the economic rights of women.

SAID PRISON FIRE SET

KINGSTON, Ont. Nov. 15—The Whig-Standard says its newspaper story today that it has learned from reliable sources that the fire at Kingston Penitentiary Nov. 7, was set by convicts. The fire in the upper section of the east cell block destroyed the roof, and earlier reports attributed it to defective wiring. R. B. Gibson, Commissioner of Penitentiaries at Ottawa, said there was no sign of incendiarism and no one was injured.

Prices For Sale of Butter Purchased By Dairy Products Board

The Dairy Products Board has announced its prices for the sale of butter purchased during the summer.

Prices for other than first grade butter will be less, Alberta being the lowest at 57 cents. This is due to the difference in the original floor prices in these areas.

Prices for other than first grade butter include one cent less for 38 or 39 flavour score with a total less than 92; 3 cents under first grade price for flavor score of 37 and 5 cents under first grade price for flavor score of 35 and 36 and butter below third grade.

The butter will be regraded and reweighed by the Board and invoiced on a grade and weight basis. The prices are f.o.b. stations to which delivered in carload lots. No cars will be split but a number of persons may purchase a carload.

"It is anticipated that this price can be maintained until the end of December, but the position will be reviewed from time to time, in order to determine what adjustments in price, if any, are necessary as the program of distributing butter progresses," is noted on the Board's application form.

The purchaser must agree to accept delivery of the car at the nearest railroad station or within 20 miles trucking distance from his place of business. A certified cheque for $1,500 per car, made payable to the Receiver General, must accompany the application to purchase. When the application is accepted, the remainder of the cost of the car must be forwarded by certified cheque to the Receiver General. Shipment will not be made until the balance is paid. Certified cheques will be returned in the case of unfilled orders.

Manhunt Begins For Slayer Of Los Angeles Child

By Frank Frawley LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15 (AP)—The strangled, mutilated body of six-year-old Linda Joyce Glucoft, her head crushed by a blow from an axe, was found today in a rubbish heap of four doors from her home.

Police later set in motion a manhunt throughout the west for a 66-year-old baker already linked with a child molestation case.

Detective Bill Brennan said: "All the evidence points to rape."

Police chemist Ben Einker, after a detailed examination of the house and yard, said: "It appears she was strangled to death in the house, wrapped in the blanket, taken outside and slugged over the head with the blunt end of the axe." He declined to say whose they are.

The killing was the latest of a series of brutal child murders in this area in the last quarter of a century, climaxed three years ago by the still-unsolved Rochelle Gluskoter kidnap-slaying. She was killed by a man who lured her from play.

The curly-haired Linda, daughter of Jules Glucoft, 36-year-old commercial artist, and his wife, Lillian, 33, vanished before dinner last night. Early today, after an all-night hunt, two detectives found her body, wedged in a pile of boxes and wrapped in a brightly-colored Indian blanket.

Nearly was a bloodstained axe, pants and an eight-inch butcher knife were in an incinerator. Empty whisky and wine bottles lay on the ground.

Brennan said the blanket came from the home of Mrs. Ruben Hausman, mother of a playmate of Linda's. A police broadcast ordered the arrest, on suspicion of murder, of Mrs. Hausman's father, Fred Stroble, who had been living with her.

Police said Stroble was charged with molesting a 10-year-old girl in suburban Hawthorn Park area April, but in May fled $500 bond and went to Mexico. He had been back only a week.

British Election May Come Soon

LONDON, Nov. 15 (CP)—The Labor Government today traded a delay in steel nationalization for a freer choice of the date for the next general election—possibly early next year.

Rising living costs following September's devaluation of the pound which may contain more bad news apparently are hurrying Prime Minister A. A. and his Cabinet toward the polls.

Their strategy now appears to call for an election in any event before insurance next April of the budget, which may contain more bad news for hard-up Britons.

Abie must call an election some time before his government's five-year term expires next July.

Today he offered a compromise with the House of Lords on his Government's bill to place the steel and iron industry under state ownership.

The bill sets next May 1 as take-over day for the industry. The Lords balked on that date, because they want an election verdict on state ownership of steel.

The Lords, predominantly Conservative, suggested July 1, 1951, as take-over day. The Government compromise offered August 1, 1951, and the Lords are understood to have accepted it.

Young Canada's Book Week Is Huge Success

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP)—Young Canada's Book Week has turned into such a smashing success that the Canadian Library Association already is deep in plans for next year's campaign to coax youngsters along the "worthwhile-reading" road.

Elizabeth Morton, executive secretary of the Association which is sponsoring the project, said today the C. L. A. has been "snowed under" with queries from schools and libraries across the Dominion for more information about children's books.
