things necessary to a
care-free motor trip

What is a Mussless Motor Trip?

Many an otherwise successful holiday has been marred by the fuss and muss of lubricating the chassis on a hot day.

And many more otherwise successful holidays have been spoiled by breakdowns due to lack of lubrication.

There is no need for either. Cut out the muss and cut down repairs.

Equip your car with Alemite and lubricate it every 500 miles to avoid burned-out bearings—the Alemite High Pressure System makes the job a clean one.

Owners of Alemite-equipped Cars Find Service Stations Everywhere

Look for the authorized service station sign—drive your car on the rack—and your chassis is O.K. for another 500 miles.

If your car isn't Alemite-equipped—attend to it now before you go on that trip—it will save you worry as well as repair bills—it will complete your holiday satisfaction.

War Veteran Remembered

At a meeting of the Executive of the Great War Veterans held Thursday evening the following address was presented to Comrade D. E. Noonan, leaving for home shortly for Boston, where he has accepted a position. Mr. Noonan was for some years Accountant for Messrs L. M. Poole & Co., and during his residence in Charlottetown made many friends who will accompany him to his new scene of duty with their best wishes. The address was accompanied by a valuable smoker's set. Mr. Noonan fittingly acknowledged the thoughtfulness and kindness of his comrades and declared his assured how they will be in G. W. V. A. activities would always be one of the pleasantest memories of his life. Following is the address:—
Charlottetown, P. E. I.
June 23, 1925

Mr. D. E. Noonan,
President of the Great War Veterans Association,
Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Your recent announcement of your intended departure from this Province, and your consequent resignation from the Presidency of the Great War Veterans' Association imposes upon your comrades on the Executive the duty of an official farewell this evening.

More than five years of the closest intercourse with you, first as a valued member, then as Vice-President, and later as President of the G. W. V. A., has afforded us the opportunity of correctly appraising your qualities of mind and heart, and when we say that your removal from this city will be a distinct loss to our Association we are but making a statement that will be heartily endorsed by all those who are conversant with your successful efforts to promote its aims and aspirations.

Your war-time record it is needless here to dwell. Suffice it to say that when it seemed evident to you that Teutonic aggression threatened the downfall of our beloved Empire you were not slow in placing yourself in the line of battle, and although history may be silent regarding your individual contribution to the successful outcome of that great struggle, those who fought side by side with you can attest to your undiminished courage and devotion during those terrible years of death-dealing conflict.

And when peace was finally restored to a war-torn world you did not seek to evade your responsibility in the matter of national rehabilitation. With characteristic self-sacrifice you at once set about to assist those comrades whom the various afflictions of war had left to a less fortunate condition than yourself, and during the years that have intervened that time and the present, particularly during those years which you have been a member of this Association you have given unstintingly of your time and talents to the promotion of that most worthy object.

It is most regrettable that you are compelled to leave your native province in order to obtain employment that will offer reasonable prospects of advancement, and it is still more regrettable that, to accomplish that purpose, you must, under prevailing conditions, pass from under the protection of the flag you so valiantly assisted in defending.

We shall miss your prudent advice in all our deliberations, while our social activities will be minus that great impelling force which you were wont to infuse into all the Association's endeavors. We sincerely hope, however, that your career for the Canadian Province, and the old associations, will cause you to pay us periodic visits, thus affording us an opportunity, from time to time, of at least renewing a cherished friendship.

As a parting word, dear Comrade, we say "God-speed." You may rest assured that we shall continue to follow your career with unabating interest, and when fortune favors you as it undoubtedly shall, there will be none who will experience a greater measure of satisfaction than your comrades who comprise the present Executive of the G. W. V. A.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. BRENTON SCOTT

Perhaps one of the largest funerals ever seen in this Province was held on Saturday, June 6th, when the remains of Brenton Scott of Clyde River were laid to rest in the Presbyterian cemetery there. He was only a young man, just twenty-seven years of age, but through following the milling business formerly conducted by his father, he had come into intimate contact with many people and was widely and favorably known. The sad circumstances under which his young life was ended so suddenly had also touched the hearts of all, so, moved with a deep feeling of sympathy, they had come to tell those who mourned how they felt for them in their loss.

The service was conducted by Rev. C. U. MacNevin, the pastor of West and Clyde River, assisted by Messrs Pierce and Millett who are the Methodist and Baptist ministers in the district. The pall bearers were all of his own family, four being his own brothers and the other two were young men who had married his sisters.

His pastor, Rev. J. J. MacNeil, a young wife and one little boy, Wendel, just a year and a half old, and with them are his father and mother as well as five brothers and three sisters. The brothers are Seymour at Cornwall, Kentford and Peter at Newburyport, Cecil in New York and Harold at home. The sisters are Mrs Geo. Livingston and Mrs Gordon McKinnon at Clyde River and Lillian at home. To the bereaved the Guardian extends its deepest sympathy.

LESTOCK R. ANDERSON

St. Peter's Bay is much poorer, because of the death of Mr. Lestock Anderson, who passed away at his home, after a brief illness, on the 29th, ult.

Mr. Anderson was born in Greenwick about eighty-four (84) years ago, and for over fifty years, conducted a business in St. Peter's Bay, which was an upright and honorable man, one who "feared God and eschewed evil." For about fifty years he was an Elder of the Presbyterian Church, and took a prominent part in church matters, and was keenly interested in the Union movement, which had his cordial support.

He is survived by his wife, and a family of four sons and five daughters, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

The funeral services were conducted at the house and the Church where he was a regular worshipper. The Church was thronged with people from different parts of the country—Protestants and Catholics alike, who came to pay their last tribute of respect to a man who was held in the highest esteem by all classes.

His pastor, Rev. M. McLeod, made fitting reference to his long and useful life, and spoke of him as "a prince and a great man who had fallen in Israel,"—a man who had been a prominent figure in the community for many a year.

Mr. MacGregor of the Bank of Commerce, sang very impressively, Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," which all felt was appropriate to the occasion. Six of his fellow Elders in the Session acted as pall-bearers, and thus, as in the case of Stephen, "devout men carried him to his burial."

A very large concourse followed the remains to the cemetery in the Middle, where the service was held, and there the farewell words were spoken over the venerable man whose loss the community mourns.

"Servant of God, well done; Rest from thy toiled employ; The battle fought, the victory won Enter thy Master's joy."

MRS. ELLEN BRADLEY

On Thursday morning, June 11th without the slightest warning, the Angel of Death visited St. Teresa, this time to call Mrs. Ellen Bradley to her eternal reward.

Mrs. Bradley, who was the wife of the late Patrick Bradley, has been a prominent member of the life of the community for many years, suffered from a sudden attack of Angina pectoris and passed away almost instantly.

Mrs. Bradley was born on Prince Edward Island and has resided at St. Teresa for approximately forty years, with the exception of two or three years spent at different times in New York.

She was interested in her own quiet way in charitable endeavors of many sorts, and took a silent but effective part in those things which worked for the good of the community in which she lived.

The deceased was a devoted wife and loving mother. Her jovial disposition and kindly nature made her a general favorite among old and young.

The funeral, which was very largely attended, took place on Sunday afternoon from her late residence to St. Teresa's church, where the services were conducted by her nephew, Rev. John A. McPhee of Brooklyn, N. Y., assisted by her pastor, Rev. I. R. A. MacDonald, Rev. Joseph Rooney of Morrell, Rev. Edward Clinton, Souris, Rev. Theodore Gallant, Sturgeson and Rev. Allan J. MacDonald of Port Augustus.

Six sons of the deceased acted as pallbearers, carrying all that was mortal of their mother from her home to the church, thence to her final resting place.

A family of six sons and two daughters mourn the loss of a loving mother; Philip, Urban, Adrian of St. Teresa, Leo of Charlottetown, Michael, Frederick, Marcella and Mary of Brooklyn, N. Y., also two sisters, Mrs. James McKenna of Hillsboro and Mrs. Mary McPhee of Brooklyn, N. Y.

ALVIN GLOVER

Alvin Glover, a highly respected and successful progressive farmer of Kensington died there suddenly on June 12. On May 31st, he suffered a slight attack of angina pectoris, but this did not develop serious proportions and no alarming symptoms followed the attack. On the afternoon of June 12, he was in the field, in company with his son Horace, who was repairing a fence. He was walking behind his son in the direction of home and only a few steps remained. When Horace had reached the part to which he would attach the wire that he had in his hand, he turned and was dismayed to see his father lying prostrate upon the ground, face downward. He sprang to his side, but found him already dead.

Mrs. Glover was instantly called, and Dr. Gillis was at once summoned, but before the latter could reach the scene, Mr. Glover had expired. This dreadfully sudden death of a beloved husband and devoted father was an appalling shock to his wife and family.

The funeral was held on June 14. Rev. A. W. Robertson conducting the service at the home, at the church and at the grave, taking for his text Eccl. 12 "Then shall the dust be as it was and the spirit shall return to the God who gave it." Through life, he emphasized, we must realize that we are immortal creatures with these mortal bounds, and, though the outward man may perish, the inward man we cannot evade the decay of the body, we may have the freshness of eternal life in the soul. The Reverend speaker attaches prime importance to the necessity of our Redeemer and Judge, taking with us the merits of a pure, spiritual life.

The pallbearers were W. A. Pidgeon, Gordon Glover, W. L. Cotton, W. C. McLeod, Heath Bonness and Bruce Bernard.

Wreaths were placed upon the coffin by his widow and family and by G. P. Walker, Summerside, R. L. Glover and Mrs. Margaret Glover, Calgary; Fallow, J. A. McLeod, Toronto; Crescente Mr and Mrs. W. C. McLeod and Mr. and Mrs. Everard McLeod, Park Corner, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pidgeon and family.

His widow, nee, Margaret L. McLeod, daughter, Cecelia and son, Horace are left bereaved. The surviving members of his paternal family are one brother Robert, Calgary, and three sisters, Mrs. Eva Crozier, Calgary, Mrs. Samuel Bernard, St. Eleanors, Miss Fannia and Miss Jessie, Lynn, Mass., not all of whom was able to be present at the funeral. Interment took place in Kensington Cemetery.

Mr. Glover was a splendid type of manhood, realizing the developing material of the whole man, subordinating intellectual and spiritual superiority. He saw in worldly effects only the means of attaining the object of the moral man religious perfection. He made home life a miniature paradise, a haven of rest where he would retire at eve, having the burden of today's worries and cares of tomorrow at the threshold; he has gone to enjoy his reward and his happiness will only be complete when he will be joined by the loved ones who so deeply mourn his most unexpected death.

Mr. Glover was an ideal husband and father, and a most kind and obliging neighbor, and the example that he has set will remain a shining mark to guide those who remain in the path of genuine Christianity. Y.

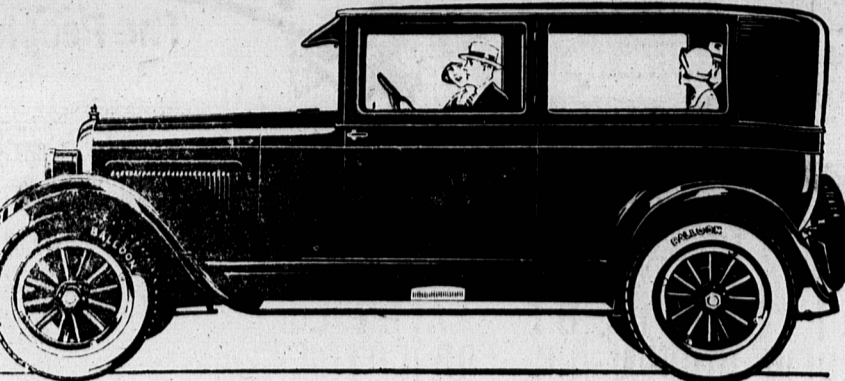

Father Sullivan Parishioners Honor

To the Reverend Joseph Sullivan: Dear Father:—A thrill of joyous routine of St. Mary's spiritual life for the past few days, and its climax is reached this morning when we see you in our sanctuary. Mingled emotions of love, gratitude, and reverence fill our hearts, Dear Father, as we extend to you our sincere congratulations and joyful welcome home.

We trust that this day's pleasure is mutual, Father, and that you are as pleased to be with us as we are to have you. The records of St. Mary's reveal your identity as one of her children and show that, here in the dawn of your life's young morning you received your birthright, "Child of God and heir to the Kingdom of Heaven." Doubtless, even then, God set his seal on your infant brow, and chose you as His own. It is therefore most fitting, that in the early days of your Priestly career, you should come back to the little Church on the hill and pray for the "Bread of Life" on "It's Altar. Gratefully might we respond to the Sursum.

Corda of your Mass, to behold you a Priest of God forever, custodian of His divine treasury and dispenser of its gifts and graces.

You shall foresee what inspiration of grace and what blessings may attend you amongst us? The older people will recall with profit the quiet, unassuming, but truly God-fearing parents who sowed so deeply in a Christian home the seeds of a Catholic training, that is destined to bear such abundant fruit. The younger people, some of whom were companions of your childhood will be edified by your holy calling, and though they may not hope to attain to such heights of sanctity, will be moved to serve God more faithfully in the sphere in which He has placed them. In younger hearts still, may be born a desire for a priestly vocation.

God grant that any such promptings may not be disregarded, but blossom forth, so that in due time at other occasions like this may arise. The priesthood of which you are now an honoured member, was founded by God's own Son, and He sets its standard according to His own divine perfection. We rejoice to see you in the ranks of His followers, an acknowledged claimant to the love and loyalty of a Catholic World. The radiance of Heaven shall be reflected in your life by the practise of such special virtues, as unselfishness and self-sacrifice, so precious in the sight of God.

And now, Dear Father, as the joys of reunion are nearly always tempered with the sorrows of parting, so it is in this case. Farewell must be spoken. Duty calls you to a far distant land and we may not all meet again. We beg God's blessing on you and your life-work and pray Him to grant you fullness of days and merits.

Kindly accept this little gift, Father, as a souvenir of the day and from time to time remember prayerfully the parishioners of St. Mary's.
