Platform Drops From Under British Premier's Feet

(Canadian Press)
LONDON, Oct. 15.—Recalling a similar mishap at Premier Macdonald's house at Montreal a few months ago, Premier Ramsay MacDonald had an alarming experience while addressing an audience of ten thousand people at Cloakheaton in Yorkshire this afternoon. The speaker's platform suddenly collapsed, dropping the Premier and two hundred persons with him to the ground. There was much excitement but no person was seriously hurt.

Mr. MacDonald picked himself up, mounted a point of vantage, smiled and continued his address.

NEWARK CENTRE OF TONG WAR INTEREST

Gamblers' Feuds Believed Responsible —Chinese Minister Takes Action.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The war among the Chinese tongs in the eastern States has reached such serious proportions that the Chinese minister at Washington has taken a hand in the efforts to stop it. He has sent one of his assistants, Ziang Ling Chang to New York to investigate the situation.

The police of Newark, where the latest victim of the tong warfare lived, have received a telegram from Washington asking them to render such assistance to Ziang Ling Chang as may enable him to get an accurate line on the situation.

The murder in Newark yesterday has temporarily shifted the centre of interest there. The Chinese Arcade and Mulberry street, the Oriental section of Newark are being patrolled by squads of six detectives each in an effort to put a stop to the warfare there.

Spread of the murders to the Newark district lends color to the belief that gamblers' feuds are back of the warfare. The Oriental section of that city is a rendezvous of hundreds of Chinese who go there to participate in Chinese gambling games. This is especially true when the police make raids in New York's Chinatown.

BODY OF POPE TO BE REMOVED

This Month From St. Peter's to its Final Tomb.

RÔME, Oct. 15.—Since soon after the death of Pope Leo XIII. in 1903 reports have periodically appeared that his body would be taken from St. Peter's, where it was left temporarily, to the tomb provided for it in the Basilica of St. John Lateran. The Messaggero now states that the body will be moved some night between October 13 and 31.

The delay in carrying out the will of Pope Leo was due to the grave incidents which occurred on July 12, 1881, from St. Peter's to the body of Pius IX. From St. Peter's to St. Lawrence. At that time an anti-clerical mob had planned to seize the body and throw it into the Tiber. Now, however, no incident of the kind would be expected as the feeling of the people and the Government toward the Vatican has changed.

Despite the present attitude toward the Vatican, the Messaggero says, the moving of Pope Leo's body will occur without solemnity and will be virtually private. The present Pontiff wishes the body to be in the tomb at St. John Lateran at the celebration of the sixteenth centenary of the dedication of the great Basilica next November.

Ku Klux Klan At Hamilton?

(Special to The Guardian)
HAMILTON, Oct. 15.—There was a disposition last night to regard a fiery cross, which was erected on the Mountain Brow, as a hoax, but today the belief is that it was the work of persons interested in the formation of a Ku Klux Klan here. Small cards have been surreptitiously circulated, hinting at the formation of such an organization, but it is not thought a Klan would be approved here by more than a very limited number. The gas pipe, of which the cross was formed, disappeared during the night, and no trace of it has been found.

Ald. J. Sherring reported that when informed of the burning cross he drove to the hill top, where he saw the blaze. The reflection could be seen for some distance and attracted a crowd. Gas pipes were used to erect the cross, and it was wrapped in cotton, which was soaked in oil.

DRUNKEN BOAST CAUSED ARREST

Trial of Phaff Alleged Rum Runner is Re-summed.

BREST, Oct. 15.—Confronted by his accusers, Max Jerome Phaff of New York, charged with participation in piracy of the French steamer Mulhouse June 26, was invited to tell his own defence story today.

The American, of German birth, who has been held in a naval prison here since his arrest in Paris last month faced resumption of his trial with the same blatant sang froid that characterized his attitude throughout. Phaff does not fear a life sentence as a result of the trial. His chief fear is the vengeance of the bootleggers he has in part exposed.

One of Phaff's accusers, a French sailor named Masquelier, took the stand today and reaffirmed his charge that the American was a member of the pirate band that looted the Mulhouse of $2,000,000 worth of liquor.

The prosecutor, however has indicated belief that Phaff may not have taken part in the holdup at sea. Since his clearing was postponed a fortnight ago, the French authorities have become convinced through statements made by Phaff and others, that the accused man acted as "go-between" for rich American bootleggers. Phaff has named Nate Adelman, known in the United States for his liquor deals, as one of the men who knew of the piracy of the Mulhouse.

DECLARES THAT U. S. WILL NOT SUBMIT

(Special to The Guardian)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 15.—Sentiment in the United States will "not tolerate" submission of domestic questions "to the determination of any group of Powers," Secretary Hughes declared here last night in a campaign address, answering criticisms by John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, of administration foreign policies.

Mr. Hughes did not mention the proposed League of Nations protocol by name, but he laid stress on the question of jurisdiction over domestic issues which, at the behest of Japan, occupied so large a place in the discussions at Geneva.

"Recently," the Secretary said, "the question has been discussed of the appropriateness of investing a group of Powers with the authority to deal with domestic questions, not questions arising under treaties by which parties have limited their right, but with questions with in the competency of a nation, as to the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic brought by M. Wolfsohn & Company, raising the question whether the Soviet can be sued in the courts of the United States. The plaintiff sought to recover for property it alleged the Russian Soviet Republic had taken. The New York state courts held that the Russian Government existed, although it had not been recognized by this Government, but that it could not be sued without its consent.

Wolfsohn & Company, raising the question whether the Soviet can be sued in the courts of the United States. The plaintiff sought to recover for property it alleged the Russian Soviet Republic had taken. The New York state courts held that the Russian Government existed, although it had not been recognized by this Government, but that it could not be sued without its consent.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Tests already immunized against the disease at the Philadelphia hospital for contagious diseases and afterwards directly exposed to measles only six developed it and of these six the disease was of such a mild modified form as to make its diagnosis difficult.

Serum for prevention of measles he added is not yet available for general use.

That diphtheria scarlet fever and measles will all be virtually eradicated was Dr. Krusen's prediction.

MARITIME PRO-FOURTH VINGES MAY BENEFIT

By Decision Given By Railway Commission on the Crow's Nest Case.

(Canadian Press)
ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 15.—This morning referring to the judgment of the Railway Commission on the Crow's Nest Pass agreement said: "The judgment indicates that position taken by myself and other Conservative members of parliament from the Maritime Provinces. We have all along contended that railway rates should be fixed for every part of the country by a railway commission and that neither west nor any other section should enjoy special privileges. This position is fully sustained by the judgement of the Board.

The Railway Commission will now have an opportunity of affording considerable relief to the Maritime Provinces in common with other parts of the country. In the interest of the whole country it is essential that the judgement just delivered be maintained in a decade of the rights of the Maritime provinces. We have people as against the demand of part of the people."

SKELTONS RE- CALL STORY OF TRAGEDY

Find Bones of Members of Stefansson's Party Lost 10 Yrs. Ago.

(Canadian Press)
NOME, Alaska, Oct. 15.—Since Russia hoisted her flag over Wrangel Island, in the Arctic Ocean, north of Siberia, on August 20, the Stars and Stripes have been run up on Herald Island, a smaller body of land, forty miles east. It was learned here today. The United States claim to Herald Island was made by Captain Louis Lays, Master of the schooner Herman, which returned to Nome Sunday after making a vain attempt to reach Wrangel Island, where a Colony of thirteen, headed by James Wells of Nome, was left last year to establish a British possession.

The cutter Bertha of the United States Coastguard, and the schr. Silver Wave made attempts to reach Wrangel Island this summer, but the only craft known to have succeeded in doing so was the vessel Red October which claimed the island for Russia. The Herman, lay at Herald Island two days. On the beach were found bones believed to be those of one of the two parties of four that were lost after the Karluk, an exploration ship of Stefansson, went down in the ice sixty miles north of Herald Island in 1914. Parts of a sled, a compass and two guns were seen with the bones.

Sidney F. Snow, of San Francisco, who went out with the Herman on two trips into the ice pack of the Arctic this summer, and took motion pictures of same, said that perished had been on the island a month, and in that time were unable to do anything for themselves. It was thought here that the party must have been the one headed by Dr. Allison Forbes McKay, surgeon. These men became dissatisfied and left a camp that Captain R. A. Bartlett, Master of the Karluk, had established on the ice where the ship went down. Dr. Allison Forbes McKay and James Murray, British scientist, and Henry Beauchamp, French scientist, and Stanley Morris, a Canadian sailor, members of Stefansson's 1913-1918 Canadian Government Arctic Expedition left Stefansson's ship Karluk after it was wrecked and attempted to make their way to Wrangel Island across the ice floes and were never heard of after starting their attempt.

Coleman, who is a native of Portersfield, New Brunswick, took his seat in the prisoner's box shortly after ten o'clock, where just a few minutes previously Lewis Bevis had sat charged with a similar offence. It was necessary to bring ten talsmen off the street to complete the jury, there being many objections to the charges and stand asides by both Crown and defence. A number of witnesses for the Crown testified this morning.
