THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

BY JANE PHELPS

BAB IS HEARTBROKEN BECAUSE NEIL HAS BEEN DRINKING CHAPTER LXXXVII

All my time was spent with Mrs. Carter, but I soon dismissed any idea I might have had of giving any sort of large affairs for her.

I begged him to tell me what he was doing that he could not be more at home, could not give his aunt the attention it seemed his respect for her demanded.

"I have all I can take care of with out listening to your reproaches," he said. "I am putting over-trying to rather, a big deal. I can't be worried about Aunt having a good time. You surely should be able to enter tain her; ha! ideas are very simple."

"Nonsense!—if you want to bring her down town to the Lawyers Club for luncheon tomorrow you may. Then you can plan for a matinee or something afterwards."

"That will be nice. I am sure she will be pleased to lunch there. I know I always am. We will take Robert for a drive in the park first. She simply refuses to be separated from him and he from her. She told me yesterday that she never thought she could become so fond of a child as she had of him."

"You don't half know how cunning he is, you see so little of him. He is way ahead of his classes; his teacher told me last week she had to hold him back, that he was almost too bright for his age. He speaks French wonderfully well, his accent is much better than mine. I wish mother had made me learn language; when I was his age instead of waiting until I was almost a young lady."

"Yes, you can't commence too early." Neil answered but absent-mindedly. That was the way he was now. His mind did not seem to be upon anything I sat for more than a moment or two. I longed to beg him to talk to me, to tell me of his work but did not. When he was trying to float one of his schemes he was impatient, nervous, and unlike himself.

There was one thing he had done, rather left undone since his aunt came. Not once had I seen him take a drink, neither had I detected it on his breath. She was absolutely opposed to liquor in any form, and I knew it would pain her greatly should she know that Neil resorted to it, even when worn-out nervous; or when in company with men who habitually indulged.

Then one night he came home more nearly drunk than I ever had seen him. It had happened two days before he had proposed we lunch down town with him. He had not come home to dinner, had not been in until about midnight. Fortunately his aunt had just gone to her room. He was noisy and quarrelsome. I had a bad half hour with him. I was so afraid she would hear him and come down to see what the matter was. Finally I got him to bed, and he soon was asleep. I was almost heart-broken. I never had become accustomed to his taking liquor, even ever so little. And to see him in such a maudlin or quarrelsome condition was degrading for him, and for me.

In the morning he had been very penitent. Had called me a "good girl" because I had kept it from his aunt and from the servants. And had given me his solemn promise never to offend to such an extent again.

"If I do I won't come home," he had added.

"But I far rather you would come home than to let others see you in that condition," I returned. "It is had enough for me to know it. I should be ashamed indeed if it were publicly known that you could so far forget yourself as to drink too much."

"You make mountains out of mole hills, Bab. But don't look so serious. I have promised, haven't I?"

"Yes, dear." But somehow I hadn't the faith in his promises I used to have. But I wouldn't let him see it.

GENERAL DEBILITY FOLLOWS INFLUENZA

Health Can Only be Restored Through the Use of a Blood-Making Tonic

Debility is a loss of vitality not affecting any one part of the body particularly, but the system generally. It is dangerous because it reduces the body's resistance to disease. When debility follows acute disease, convalescence is slow, and one's strength does not return as it should. An attack of influenza often results in debility that persists for months. Everybody recognizes that the remedy for debility is to build up the blood because the blood goes to every part of the body, and any improvement in its condition is quickly felt throughout the system.

In cases of simple anaemia, or debility following acute diseases such as fevers or influenza, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found valuable, because they really build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. There is no other medicine as valuable for growing children, and for men and women whose nervous energy has been overdrawn. They are worth a fair trial in every case where thin blood and weak nerves have started the trouble. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has been proved in the home of Mrs. John Fram, Owen Sound, who says: My daughter Mabel was troubled with a bad cough; she was pale, weak and her appetite was very poor, in deed I feared that she was going into a decline. A friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking eight boxes she was again enjoying the best of health. Again last autumn Spanish influenza attacked our home, and after the acute symptoms were past, both myself and another daughter were left very much run down. My daughter was so weak that she could not walk to school and would tremble when she got upon her feet. I was so weak myself that I could not do my housework. Again we resorted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in each case we took five boxes, when we were as well as ever. We had been, I never enjoyed better health than I am now doing, and am able again to do my housework. After our experience it is not possible for me to say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RECONSTRUCTION

One of the Public Service Institutions which is contributing greatly to keep our young men of brains and ability in Prince Edward Island, is the great Institution of Life Insurance, as represented by the Canada Life Assurance Company. It has been doing business in this Province for nearly half a century. Today under the management of Mr. W. K. Rogers, the Prince Edward Island Branch is building up an organization of young men representatives especially trained, such as any business might well be proud of. Since the first of February Mr. Keith Rogers has taken over the organization of the field representatives throughout the Province and recent appointments include: Mr. Vernon Ross, Montague, Mr. Leith H. Webster, Marie, Mr. Wendall W. Rogers, Alberton, Mr. Ralph Huestis, Malpeque, Mr. Wallace W. Walker, Charlottetown. Several other good territories are still open and anyone interested would do well to write or see Mr. Keith Rogers personally at Charlottetown. 5605.

RECONSTRUCTION

Of Lost Health-Tone and Exhausted Reserve Strength

Consequent upon the war, the dreadful epidemics, trying weather and changing seasons, is imperative. Never before were the blood-building, nerve-toning, appetite-making properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla so much needed as now.

This medicine, 1st creates an appetite, 2nd aids digestion, 3rd, perfects assimilation of all the food you eat so that your blood and body receive the benefit of 100 per cent of this nourishment. This rapidly adds to your strength and gradually restores your reserve strength, naturally bringing about normal conditions and permanent good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is America's greatest blood purifying medicine, with a record of greatest sales and greatest cures.

Hood's Pills are a fine family cathartic, gentle and effective, well adapted to help Hood's Sarsaparilla.

WANTED INVENTIONS

An interesting and encouraging thing about these fortune producing inventions is that most of them are of ordinary or minor value in themselves. If you have a notion that you must invent a big thing to make money, get rid of it at once. Many of the Patents that have made their inventors millionaires are those which contained very few entirely new ideas. The simplest ideas have earned fortunes for their patentees. The safety razor, the sanitary drinking cup, the hump hairpin, the demountable tire rim—any of these could have been invented by a man of average ability. In your every day life, at home, at your office, in your shop you handle any number of articles that are subject to improvement. If you can think of a way of improving some article or process already in use, or if you can invent a new useful device or process or article of manufacture, you are on the road to fortune. Dennison made a fortune from a single shipping tag. Prepare now to meet the demands of industry in All Fields for New Ideas and New Inventions. Before sending your invention to any attorney or manufacturer or disclosing your invention, write for our free blank form PROOF OF CONCEPTION in order to protect your invention and secure your rights.

WE ADVERTISE our Clients Inventions Free in INDUSTRIAL CANADA, which is the Official Magazine of the Canadian Manufacturers Association. It pays to have Shipman's Service. Ask for our new booklet "Patent Protection"

Send Model, Sketch and description of any new invention you have for Free Opinion as to Patentability. This Certificate of Patentability together with our blank form "Proof of Conception" will protect the inventor and serve as proof of the invention until the case can be filed in The Patent Office.
