The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Don't Overlook the Importance Of Birthday Pictures

Don't delay taking the new baby's picture and then watch him grow through monthly snapshots thereafter.

In these modern times the father is lucky if he is permitted to see his newly-born heir for several days after Sir Stork has delivered his package, unless it is through the heavy glass of a well guarded window or door in the hospital. After a few days, however, when nurses and doctors decide he is not a common carrier of germs that might attack the baby and retard its growth, he should by all means exercise his authority as a father and demand permission to "shoot" the baby—with a camera, of course.

Every month is usually considered a birthday in a baby's life until he is a year old. Thereafter, regular yearly birthdays are in order. At least a picture a month should be made of the new boarder and after the first twelve months you had better keep your camera loaded with film at all times for you can never tell when your baby is going to take his first cautious, faltering step—and what an event in your life—not his. It apparently means nothing to the baby. He simply steps out in a matter-of-fact, but careful manner, and you get all excited, let out a couple of whoops, gasp, laugh and scare the infant so thoroughly that he falls down and has to do it all over again.

The chances are that you will not be prepared for that first step, or if you would happen to be holding the camera in your hand you may, in your excitement, even turn it in the wrong direction and get an out-of-focus picture of your own mid-section. But don't miss this moment of moments the next time. Have your camera and yourself ready for action.

There never seems to be enough of these baby pictures to go around for there are grandmothers, aunts, cousins and friends in distant cities who are always looking forward to receiving a snapshot of the newly-arrived commander of the "infantry."

Before you can realize where the days, months and years have gone your child is starting to school. The baby has grown up and before you have a chance to wonder how he will "turn out" you are wondering what time he will come home to "turn in."

There's always the "first time" for everything and this applies to thousands of events in a baby's life. There is the first time he discovers he has teeth, and immediately decides in his own little mind that they are something good to eat. His first smile, and then that great moment when he reaches out with his chubby little arms and says, "Blah," which is at once interpreted by the parents to mean "Daddie," or "Mommie," sometimes depending on who is "head" of the household.

So make this "Baby Picture Preparedness Week" and load your camera ready for action. You don't have to wait "until you see the whites of their eyes," as a certain military man once said, but "shoot" the minute they perform one of their fascinating, amusing little baby "tricks."

"The Party's Over" With Ann Sothern—Stuart Erwin At The Capitol

The domestic squabbles of a typical American family are sympathetically and humorously aired in Columbia's "The Party's Over," the new screen attraction at the Capitol Theatre which made its debut last night before an audience that howled with glee and sighed in sympathetic understanding of the hero's plight.

Stuart Erwin and Ann Sothern are featured in the picture with an excellent cast. Cast as the exploited and down-trodden breadwinner of the Blakely family, Stu Erwin turns in a performance that excels in comedy and dramatic interpretation. Miss Sothern is seen in a straight dramatic role which she handles with fine intelligence and charm.

The comedy of the story arises from the situation of a family of parasites who are a millstone around the neck of one son, who meekly submits to their impositions. Through all this turmoil a pretty romance between Erwin and Sothern develops, culminating in Erwin's decision to cut loose and go to Paris for an art career that was his life's ambition.

"The Party's Over" is a picture that will delight every theatregoer. The careful and understanding direction of Walter Lang proves that he has human comedy as well as drama at his finger tips.

"Gay Divorcee" With Fred Astaire—Ginger Rogers At Prince Edward

Highlighted by the inspired dancing of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, and also by the apparent capabilities of this man Astaire to play romantic symphonies on the hearts of feminine fans in a new and whimsical manner, RKO-Radio's sumptuous musical comedy, "The Gay Divorcee," is the brightest spot this week on Entertainment Lane, opening yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre.

It is, really and truly, one of the first really comedies to issue from Hollywood boasting a genuinely complete and laughable romantic story, so completely funny that it cannot be described in detail without detracting from its punch.

It is one of those complex embroglios that gives all disappointed lovers an opportunity to laugh at film lovers whose plight is far, far worse than their own.

Miss Rogers, after falling in love with Astaire, a victim of his imitable dancing, his songs and his whimsicalities, decides to get rid of a current boy-friend so that she can accept Astaire's impetuous wooing. She arranges to hire a "professional flirt," with whom to stage a false "affaire d'amour." She hopes this will make her incumbent boyfriend so jealous that he will release her from his obligations.

Alack—and a laugh and more laughs. Poor Astaire comes wandering in under such circumstances that Miss Rogers believes that HE is the professional flirt!

In this complication they ride high, wide and handsome to a hilarious, miraculous climax.

Rivalling the astonishing verve of Astaire's performance is the brilliant work of Miss Rogers, Alice Brady, Edward Everett Horton and Erik Rhodes.

There is music by five great composers, ensembles of beautiful girls, that sublime new ballroom dance, "The Continental," demonstrated by Astaire and Miss Rogers; fifty daring Adagio dancing couples and many other novelties too numerous to mention.

Anniversary At Cherry Valley

Services in connection with the 33rd Anniversary of the founding of Obris, Church (Angloan) were held on Thursday, the 4th Inst.

At 7.30 A. M. there was a Celebration of the Holy Communion, the Rev. J. T. Payne, Rector of Georgetown and Cherry Valley, being the celebrant. At 10.30 the Sacrament of Confirmation was administered by The Right Reverend J. Hackenley, Lord Bishop of Nova Scotia, which Diocese includes Prince Edward Island, when four candidates received the laying on of hands.

The special Anniversary service was held in the evening at 7 o'clock when the Church was crowded. At this service the Rector officiated and was assisted by the Rev. Canon Malone of St. Peter's Cathedral, Charlottetown, who read the State prayers and by the Rev. E. R. G. Bridgewater, Rector of Crapaud, who read the lessons.

The soloist was Mrs. Frances Wood MacBae who accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Mutch, sang very beautifully—"The King of Love my Shepherd is".

The remaining musical part of the service was in charge of Miss Lillian Irving, organist of the Church.

The sermon was delivered by His Lordship Hackenley who in his eloquent and appealing style brought to the large congregation a message most appropriate for the occasion.

Pror'tment amongst the congregation were the Rev. W. J. Weir and the Rev. D. Elliot, United Church pastors at Vernon and Pownal respectively.

Several members of neighbouring Churches were present and were heartily welcomed.

The Canada Year Book 1934-1935

The publication of the 1934-35 edition of the Canada Year Book is announced by the General Statistics Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thoroughly up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion. This new edition has been thoroughly revised throughout and includes in all its chapters the latest information available up to the date of going to press.

The 1934-35 Canada Year Book extends to over 1,250 pages, dealing with every phase of the national life and more especially with those susceptible of statistical measurement. Attention may be specially directed to the statistical summary of the progress of Canada included in the introductory matter and giving a picture in figures of the remarkable progress which the country has made since the first census of the Dominion was taken in 1871, sixty-four years ago.

Attention may be called to some of the special features of the present volume. There is included in Chapter I a brief description of Standard Time and Time Zones in Canada, which is of special interest to those who travel either in the flesh or by radio. There will be found in Chapter III a discussion of the Representation Act of 1933 and a special table showing the populations as in 1931 of each of the new electoral districts which will return representatives to Parliament at the approaching general

Suffered With Frightfully Irritating Pimples. Healed by Cuticura.

"I suffered with eczema that took the form of pimples, which, when scratched, broke out into scaly blotches. My legs and ankles were covered, and the pimples were frightfully irritating, itching and burning continually. Scratching caused inflammation, and I had to keep my ankles and legs bound. I could only walk during intervals.

"I tried many lotions with little success. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using for two months I was healed." (Signed) Miss J. Odgaard, Valbrang, Saskatchewan.
