Potato Shippers

Want Rates Cut

ST. JOHN, Sept. 8—Desiring immediate action, the Associated Potato Shippers of New Brunswick, who met at Florenceville Tuesday will send a delegation before the next meeting of the Provincial government, which may be held at Fredericton the latter part of next week, in an attempt to have them take some steps to ensure lower freight rates on potato shipments from New Brunswick, it was announced by J. E. Porter, of Perth, secretary of the organization.

Invitations to have representatives present at the meeting with the government will be extended to potato growers and shippers in various parts of the province and also to Prince Edward Island men interested in the industry. Mr. Porter said. As great cooperation as possible between the governments of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island and those in the two provinces interested in the potato industry is desired.

(Special to The Guardian) WILHELMSTAD Curacao, Sept. 6.—Several men were killed and wounded and extensive damage was done in a terrific blast at the Shell oil company's vacuum plant here.

Name Of Kaiser

Echo of War

The former Kaiser sued the Morganpost for libel after the public prosecutor had refused to start proceedings when the paper accused Wilhelm of having permitted the Krupp arms factory to furnish inferior munitions in the war because he had financial interest in the plant.

Paul Bloch, one of Wilhelm's attorneys, first referred to him as 'Our Kaiser.' Oberst. said Bloch had at the earmarks of the former Prussian officer of reserve, when the Morganpost's lawyers objected. Attorney Friedrich Everling, Bloch's colleague supported the proposal accord their client his present title.

Another clash occurred when the judge tried to persuade the parties to settle the issue out of court.

'Our Kaiser has been slandered, and nothing but complete recantation will satisfy us,' Bloch thundered. 'We want to see those much heralded proofs.'

Mendel's attorneys said settlement was out of the question. On the contrary, they said, they would establish the verity unless the suit was thrown out of court.

Legality of Power

Even then the decks were not cleared for action. The Morganpost's attorneys next questioned the legality of Bloch's power of attorney. This had been signed 'Wilhelm I. R., meaning 'Wilhelm Emperor R.x.'

The newspaper's lawyers pointed out that the Prussian courts, with but two minor exceptions, have insisted on the signature, 'Wilhelm, the two exceptions had since been pronounced errors by legal experts. Long arguments on legal procedure ensued. The court observed that should Bloch's power of attorney be denied, the whole case must be thrown out.

Believed 18 Foot Python Stolen By New Kind Thieves

TORONTO, Ont. Sept. 7—A new era of thievery has dawned if the suspicions of the proprietors of the exhibition jungleground show are correct, for they now declare that some one has stolen their 18-foot python.

What over the most eccentric and original of felons would wait with such a thing as eighteen feet of wriggling, writhing snake, was not clear until it was explained that the owners did not suspect professional thieves, but rather suspected some one who saw in the great serpent an opportunity of using it in a side-show.

The fact that a search of every square foot of the big Coliseum where the show was located, failed to reveal the missing python, led to the only other possible conclusion—that Mrs. Python had not wriggled off, but had been spirited away, the experts said. They could not see how it could have left the building under its own power, since crowds who filled the buildings as long as the doors were open would have been sure to witness its departure.

In spite of the theft theory, however, the hunt for the absent exhibit, has not been entirely abandoned.

STILL MISSING

The 16 foot python which disappeared from his cage in the Coliseum at the Canadian National Exhibition last Monday, is still missing according to H. E. Rogers, keeper of the 'Jungleground.' Local curio dealers in this line claim that the snake went into hiding within 150 feet of the cage from which it escaped, but Mr. Rogers is of a different opinion. His opinion is that he will never know what happened to the snake. Mr. Rogers's men have beaten every floor in the Coliseum hoping to find the python under the boards or in some corner. Mr. Rogers said to-day that the animal can live for a month without anything to eat and at the end of that time he will be barely hungry.

Thin Them Out

Sowing from 6 to 9 pounds per acre of the best grade mangel seed and thinning the plants out to nine inches apart gives the highest yield per acre according to Field Husbandry expert, of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. These deductions were arrived at after a series of studies in planting and thinning carried out over a period of five years.

TWO DISASTERS

It was really two disasters that beat the city prostrate Wednesday afternoon. For first one arc of the whirling hurricane crashed across the city and then after an interval, the other half of the circle ripped across town in the opposite direction and completed the havoc begun by the first blow.

The famous cathedral which has stood against the hand of man and the hand of time for 400 years, and is a jewel of architecture, was among the buildings that escaped destruction.

'The storm is a snob,' says a newspaper. Quite; he has his nose in the air.

Georgetown Horse Races

The big racing event at the Georgetown Exhibition, Sept. 10th, will ring down the curtain on the most successful racing season P. E. Island has ever experienced. Two sensational 210 pacers will perform, namely, Lucky Lindy and Jacqueline.

There is quite a number of astute breeders and trainers in Kings County. Their perseverance must inevitably have borne good fruit.

The track at Georgetown is beautifully situated, and Secretary McLaren has worked hard to make it attractive to both owners and patrons, therefore all the Island race fans will give him a good hand.

His Honor Lieut. Governor Heartz will open the Exhibition and races.

Found Murdered In Lonely Cabin

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 7—Provincial Police are investigating what is believed to be the double murder of Mr. and Mrs. Babchuck, Polish settlers, in their lonely cabin on the North Pine River, north of Fort St. John in the Peace River district.

The victims had been shot to death, according to meagre reports from Provincial Constable Devlin at Fort St. John, who told of finding the two bodies. Further investigation by Sergeant Greenwood in charge of the district followed and led to the belief that the crime was committed three weeks ago. The bodies remained undiscovered until early this week Provincial Police officials here are awaiting further information.

the living, and so list the horror of pestilence be added to the city's sorry burden of misfortune, an attempt at burying the dead was abandoned in favor of mass incineration.

And yet, despite the terrific loss in life and property—the damage within the city limits was roughly estimated at $20,000,000—hope flamed strongly in the survivor's hearts and was strengthened by reports that relief ships were on the way with food and medical supplies, doctors and nurses.

Food, because of its insufficiency, was being strictly rationed and President Loenidas Trujillo himself worked in wreckage-heaped streets seeing that the most needy were first served and most carefully protected.

As is always the case in the aftermath of disaster, whether the catastrophe be due to fire or flood, wind or earthquake, there were, during the first paralyzed period after the hurricane, some instances of looting but, today the city was under martial law and the relief work went forward in the chaotic city with perfect order.

WORK PRISONERS

Because others could not be spared and in order to utilize every available agency in at least preparing for the gigantic reconstruction program that will have to be put into effect to rebuild the city, prisoners were set to work today clearing the debris from the streets.

Their task will take them weeks and maybe months, for it is a colossal undertaking just to clear the ground for the Santo Domingo that is to be. Masonry and timbers lie everywhere in tangled heaps, mounds or wreckage from which bodies were still being recovered today. The city looks as though all its man-made structures had been scooped up in giant hands, crumpled to worthlessness and tossed back upon the ground.

ASKS QUICK AID

Declaring that the situation was disastrous and that 90 percent of the city was destroyed, President Trujillo appealed by cable today for quick assistance from all friendly nations.

The continuance of life—that is the biggest chance which farmers and everybody alike must face, and only by life insurance can we offset its uncertainty.

Lamb Prices And Marketing Problems

The problem of marketing sheep and lambs in the Maritime Provinces, as in other parts of Canada, this season has developed into an acute one. The slump in prices came much earlier than has been the case during the past few years. Not only that, but the low level to which packer's quotations have fallen, are even absurd when compared with late fall prices as paid during back years.

This condition seems to be universal and not only have the members of various co-operative associations throughout the Maritimes suffered but, in fact, those who have placed their lamb product on the market through all other agencies as well. It is quite possible that there may be a case where a certain individual received more per pound for his few lambs than did another who sold to some other buyer or through a Live Stock Shipping Association, but it is also true that in practically every case the unfortunate buyer of such lambs had to grin and bear his loss when the slump came.

To attempt to give any explanation as to the cause of the present depression in lamb prices would be futile, as there are many reasons contributing to this condition of the markets. It would almost seem as if it were a repetition of the inevitable knock which every phase of agricultural production is heir to in the course of a certain cycle of time, and in each case covering an approximate period of years. In the event of such reasoning being correct, there is no agency which can prevent its taking effect nor its blighting influence from being felt. It may be possible that, in some cases, the co-operative system is being credited with having failed to live up to its pretensions of usefulness as an agency in the marketing game. In fact, some murmurings to this effect have been put into circulation. In reply to such an idea, permit us to say that no responsible co-operative marketing association ever laid claim to being able to successfully prop up a falling market and maintain it at a figure out of line with the remainder of the world. It can't be done. No individual can do it, and no organization can do it. No, not even the combined influence of the Packing House of Canada without the certainty of becoming hopelessly involved financially. There is one claim we will make, however, and that is, to the effect that if it had not been for the steady influence of co-operative marketing, with the measure of control it had over the volume of weekly supply, its practical assurance as to the quality of product being offered, etc., the markets would have crashed to a much lower level, and at a considerably earlier date in the season than has been the case. We have no hesitation in stating that if it had not been for the influence and efforts of Canadian Live Stock Marketing Associations and Co-operative concerns, the situation would have become so desperate that it would have amounted to a calamity long before this date. There was never a year in the history of co-operative marketing when the lamb producers of the country needed the services of their co-operative more than they did this season, and never before did it render their membership greater good. During the remainder of the season, farmers should endeavor to market their lambs in an ordinary fashion. Club Secretaries should be advised for a sufficient length of time previous to loading date as to what each farmer is contributing to his carload. Each Secretary then would be in a position to advise his co-operative salesman as to what was moving and thus give him an opportunity to send each load to the market that offered the most favourable inducement.

Another point that should be borne in mind is this—How impossible it is to get anything of a price for sheep other than that grading top quality. There are three qualities of sheep arriving in many cars—Tops, Mediums, and a class we are compelled to classify as S. & B.'s, meaning skin and bones. This latter class should not be sent at all. We can only get about a cent a pound for them and they are worth that for fox-feed or fertilizer at home. All sheep should be graded by the Secretary or someone who knows how at Loading Point and marked on the weight ticket in the class to which it belongs. It does not do any good to put such an animal in a higher class than its status warrants. In fact, it only complicates matters. They will not sell for any more money and it only creates confusion in the office when returns are being made out and very often the wrong party is unjustly made to suffer.
