OWN MEDICINE FOR CROOKS

The out-crooking of the crooks is one of the story developments which makes Monogram's "Gun Smoke," now at the Empire Theatre, one of the best westerns of the year.

Faced by an imaginatively unscrupulous gang of outlaws, Johnny Mack Brown and Raymond Hatton, as undercover U. S. marshals, finally resort to exposing the criminals with some of their own devices. One of the most absorbing devices of fiction, it leads to surprises and laughs in the current movie.

Jennifer Holt, daughter of Jack Holt and sister of Tim Holt, adds to the film's interest by the skill she displays in all the "western" acts, from shooting to riding and ropin'.

Nurses Graduation

Do you know what it means to become a nurse? Four months of intensive study—a probation period—during which time a new life is gradually opened to a young girl who often has never seen sickness or suffering.

If successful in her examinations and still eager to become a nurse, she and her cap and bib are granted admission to the nursing school, where she serves, and under the supervision of capable instructors and supervisors for a period of three years.

During this time she works constantly with individuals who are afflicted with many different ailments, and she must learn to deal with each one as their needs arise. She must develop patience, kindness, sympathy and understanding, as well as a knowledge of the nursing care of each major or minor illness.

When her reward comes, when she graduates from the Hospital School of Nursing that has prepared her for the most eventful day of her life.

Eleven nurses from the P. E. I. Hospital School of Nursing will receive their diplomas on Tuesday, May 15th in Heart Memorial Hall. A fine program has been arranged. Come and help make this a happy occasion for them.

The following nurses will graduate:

Alice Elaine Gorrell
 Margaret Grace Webster

To Speed Release Of Casualty Lists

OTTAWA, May 8 — (CP) — Defence Headquarters announced today that beginning tomorrow it proposed to lengthen daily lists of battle casualties from approximately 150 names each to 800 to 1,000 and that these would be issued as rapidly as possible until all outstanding casualties have been officially announced.

At the same time the Department advised newspapers that they may publish at anytime tomorrow or thereafter five lists already mailed to papers under the army's wartime system of issuing lists in advance for release on specific date. From now on, lists will be issued for publication on receipt of the news.

The end of the war in Europe caught the army's casualties branch with a backlog of 4,000 to 5,000 casualty names. Next-of-kin of these casualties have been notified and the backlog results from the security rule that a casualty must not be made public until 30 days after the action in which the soldier was involved. With the war in Europe over, this rule no longer applies.

Most Expensive Party In Long History Of Halifax

HALIFAX, May 8 — (CP) — This has been the biggest, loudest and most expensive party Halifax has ever seen—in fact, few cities have ever seen its equal.

"Victory celebrations" that began last Monday night and burst into full flame today have left the downtown business section virtually ruined, smashed and looted by hundreds of drunken servicemen and civilians.

They ransacked the liquor stores, smashed into a brewery, and then started out on the biggest collective drunk this city ever has seen.

Men and women by the scores reeled through the streets, carrying cases of beer, cases of whiskey or rum, or else walked with hands full of bottles.

The parks were turned into virtual beer gardens today, as couples and groups sprawled on the grass with a case of whiskey—an entire year's ration—beside them.

Liquor was dished-out around the four well-known saloons reeled up to you with arms full of bottles, offering to sell it for $1. or $2. a quart, or else giving it away outright with a sudden generous impulse.

At the ransacked liquor stores and beerery, men and women fought madly to get in, even children were in on it, two or three of them seizing a case of beer and rushing off with it.
