The cross of Jesus was God's will for him. God's way of accomplishing a great purpose. Explain it as we will, the cross is the sign of God's displeasure with sin.

The cross of Jesus is the highest expression in time of the eternal love of God. No man can win salvation by his own effort, sin has a power over man that he cannot break.

The morning anthem was Hopkins' "Lift Up Your Hearts."

Evening worship was conducted by the minister, with sermon "The Test of Discipleship."

Islander Writes History Of Anglican Parish

A former Prince Edward Islander, the Rev. Dr. T. R. Millman, rector of the parish of Dunham in the Anglican diocese of Montreal, has written a brief history of that parish from the year 1796 to the present time.

The "Short History of the Parish of Dunham" gives interesting and informative sketches of those pioneer Anglican clergymen who guided the destinies of the Anglican Church in and about Dunham over the past one hundred and fifty years.

But the work is not confined to biographies of Anglican clergymen serving Dunham. The laity, too, receive their fair share of comment and praise from Dr. Millman, and because of his sense of new value many Canadian readers who did not know before, now know that the parents of Chester A. Arthur, one-time president of the United States, were William and Melvina Arthur, natives of the parish of Dunham.

Another interesting fact narrated by Dr. Millman in his history, is that Mr. Brown Chamberlain, proprietor and editor of the "Montreal Gazette" about the middle of the nineteenth century, was also a native of Dunham.

A review of the "Short History of the Parish of Dunham," written by Dr. John Irwin Cooper, assistant professor of history at McGill University, has recently appeared in the Montreal Gazette. In that review, Dr. Cooper pays a warm tribute not only to Dr. Millman's historical work but to the author as well.

Dr. J. A. MacMillan In Interesting Talk On Youth Problems

Last evening in the Holy Name Hall, Dr. J. A. MacMillan gave a timely and interesting address on "Youth Problems."

The speaker said the time had arrived to do something to help the youth of the City, explaining that the Knights of Columbus had already made a start in this direction by purchasing 100 acres of land at North Rustico and erecting a building 100 feet by 65 feet to be used as a recreation hall, chapel and kitchen.

The speaker asked the gathering to help out by sending their children to the camp of the Holy Name.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Leo McIsaac, seconded by Patrick Reid and supported by the large gathering present. The vote was conveyed to the speaker by the chairman, R.A. MacDonald.

Through the courtesy of the National Film Board the picture, "The Search Unending" was shown, which gave a vivid description of Imperial Oil methods of searching for oil. This was followed by the feature film, "Thy Will Be Done."

Mr. Leo McIsaac showed the films assisted by Messrs. Gerald Murtagh and T.W. Campbell. The program was sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

Wendell MacNutt Joins Local Flying Service

Paul's Flying Service announces that on Saturday, a Summerdale veteran, Wendell A. MacNutt, has entered the business in partnership with E. Paul Sharpe, of Charlottetown.

Mr. MacNutt or "Mac" as he is known to his friends is one of three brothers who served overseas in the R.C.A.F. His service career also included a year with the Fleet Air Arm of the R.C.N.

His total flying time amounts to 500 hours. When with the Fleet Air Arm, Mac was flying the famous Sea Kings, one of the fastest fighter planes in the world.

Following a period of a few months in Charlottetown, where he will study the operations, Mac will return to Summerside where he will assume the position of Chief instructor and manager of the Summerside branch.

MacDonald, the popular local instructor is promoted to Chief Flying Instructor in Charlottetown, and his many local pupils will be glad to hear of this.

Paul Sharpe will continue as instructor-in-chief and general manager, and looks forward to a successful spring and summer, when many new students are expected to enroll for the easy course of instruction in flying.

During the past ten months, over 60 pilots have flown at Paul's and over 35 have soloed. Nine pilots have passed Department of Transport tests for their private licenses and three pilots have obtained their instructor's endorsements.

The program was concluded with the National Anthem.

500 Children See 'Youth And The Police' At Capitol Theatre

About five hundred City school children witnessed a free program at the Capitol Theatre last Saturday morning. The programme, entitled, "Youth and the Police" was conducted by the local R.C.M.P. and the City Police.

Three films, two of them depicting the lumber and fishing industries of Canada and the other illustrating the Indian craft of canoe making, were shown.

The first film gave the children a graphic pictorial lesson in the manner in which the well-known and valuable lobster is taken from the sea by "traps."

The second picture which drew much applause from the children showed, step by step, how the Algonquin Indians have made their birch bark canoes by hand, Indian methods, heard for the first time in Charlottetown, on the screen, were listened to with eager attention by the audience.

"Tomorrow's Timber" showed the vastness of Canada's timber resources and the great contribution made to Canada's economic development by the lumber industry.

St. J. R. Zavitz, R.C.M.P., Charlottetown, gave a short address to the children in which he stressed the importance of the law as the children's friend and that none but evil-doers had anything to fear from the police.

St. J. R. Zavitz was introduced to the audience by Sgt. Lawrence McInnis of the Charlottetown City Police.

The regular usher staff of the theatre was assisted in the seating of the large audience by four members of the Prince Street School Junior Police. They were, Charles Huestis, Verne Ainsworth, Gerald MacKinnon, and William MacCannell.

The programme concluded with the National Anthem.

Bruins Defeat Leafs 5-3 After Tie Saturday

BOSTON, March 16—(AP)—Apparently irked by a penalty, the second of the season, little Bobby Bauer tallied twice while his Boston Bruins were sweeping through their ninth straight National Hockey League game without a setback by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3 tonight at the Boston Garden.

With nothing important at stake, for both Maple Leafs and Bruins had clinched playoff berth, the action started slowly and the packed crowd of 13,900 did not get warmed up until midway through the second period.

First Period. Toronto, Lynn (Kennedy) 15:18 Penalties—Bauer, Barliko, Ezinicki.

Second Period. Toronto, Meeker (Kennedy) 8:21 Boston, K. Smith (Marques) 12:44

Third Period. Boston, Bauer (Henderson) 1:22 Toronto, Poile 5:28 Boston, Bauer (Cowley) 6:24 Boston, Reardon (Marques, Crawford) 17:22

Penalties—Thomson, Cowley, Egan, Ezinicki.

SATURDAY'S GAME TORONTO, March 16—(CP)—After trailing their opponents for most of the game Boston Bruins broke out with two swift goals, 27 seconds apart in the last four minutes of play to earn a 5-5 draw with Toronto Maple Leafs here Saturday night in a National Hockey League match witnessed by a crowd of 13,607.

By the tie game the Leafs single point made them certain of finishing in second place in the final N.H.L. standings with the Bruins certain to wind up third.

Aubrey (Dit) Clapper, only player with 20 consecutive years active service in the National Hockey League and first living player to be named to hockey's international hall of fame, was honored at a ceremony at the start of the second period.

Harold (Baldy) Cotton, former N.H.L. player, presented the Boston coach with a sterling silver cocktail set on behalf of Maple Leaf Gardens and the Toronto club.

Summary Third Period. Toronto, Meeker (Poile) 9:00. Toronto, Klukay (N. Metz, Stewart) 17:38

Penalties: Henderson (major and minor), Ezinicki 2, Klukay, 17:38.

Sell-out Crowd At Halifax Tonight

HALIFAX, March 16—(CP)—When Halifax St. Mary's line 4 against Montreal Junior Canadiens tomorrow night they'll do so before a sell-out crowd of from 5,000 to 6,000 fans who are wagering even money on them to take the first game in their best-of-five junior playoff series.

A final bloc of 500 tickets got on sale tomorrow morning and officials say they'll be grabbed up like hot-cakes.

The Canadiens arrived here by train tonight.

Until yesterday, odds here were against the local squad 4-6 on both the opening game and the series. But speculators say that, because of Canadiens' tiring four-game series with Nationals in winning the Junior Amateur Hockey Association title, wagers on tomorrow night's contest have dropped 24 even money. But on the series, $4 will still get you $6—even in Halifax—that the metropolis boys will come out on top.

Red Wings Almost Sure Of Playoff Berth

CHICAGO, March 16—(AP)—Detroit Red Wings virtually clinched a Stanley Cup playoff spot tonight with a 10-6 victory over Chicago Black Hawks before 17,071 fans. The Wings, with two games yet to play, went 2-1-2 points ahead of the Rangers who lost to Montreal 4-3.
