L. won by Ottawa 2 to 0 against the Canadiens here last night, Leo Dandurand, managing director of the Canadian hockey club, announced the suspension of Sprague Cleghorn and Billy Couture, for the balance of the season and made the following statement:

"I lay the trouble that we had at the Arena last night at the door of the judge of play, Marsh.

"There is nothing in the rule book to prevent ragging, nothing at all. The Ottawa players stood right inside the blue line and permitted our players to rag and trade no attempt to get at them.

"When when Sprague Cleghorn called Marsh's attention to it, he said he did not like ragging. It was not allowed in the O. H. A. What our players are kicking at and what makes them mad is that the last time Marsh came to Montreal he went back to Toronto and wrote in his paper that there had been missiles thrown and I was responsible for it in Ottawa for the last two years they have been throwing lemons, pipes and rubber boots and nothing has been said.

"While here he struck a spectator and threw the official's bell at a spectator in Toronto. The players knowing of this naturally lost their heads.

"To show that I do not approve of rough play I have suspended Sprague Cleghorn and fined him two hundred dollars and he will not participate in next Friday's game. I have also suspended Couture and fined him the same amount, and another judge of play will have to be found or I won't go to Ottawa."
