SETTLING
Chapter 83

The camp became gradually a larger and larger mixture of chaos and of order. An elderly man who was engineer and architect too, had planned the little city methodically with one long street that went up a gentle slope and ended at the mines where the mountain took a steeper twist upwards.

acting with a one-night-stand road company to crossing the jungle with a party of explorers, had picked up on his way a varied and useful stock of knowledge. Among other things he knew a little of "nursing and doctoring," as he called it, and until Donald arrived, had done wonders with liniment, peroxide, quinine and iodine.

They were forced to submit to a vast amount of good-natured chaffing, for they had invited it, but it was the sort of chaffing with which this amiable company would have victimized any pair that had recently met, and found each other's society suddenly preferable to that of the crowd.

You Must Fight Film
No whiter teeth without that

If you want whiter teeth, you must combat the film that clouds them. Millions do that now. Wherever you look you can see the results.

(By Dominion News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Prince of Wales was the guest at dinner of the Royal Society of Medicine last night, and in an address to the members, he said that on looking through the centenary history of the Society, his eye was caught by a most excellent bit of advice given to the Society in 1852, by a former president. Brodie urged all, and especially the young, to abstain from medical, political, and to keep clear of exciting and irritating discussions. From his point of view it was thoroughly sound, and he meant to follow it.

THERE'S A REASON

Why Imperial Fox Biscuits are being fed in the leading fox ranches on P. E. Island.

Why healthier foxes, larger litters, more valuable pelts are produced wherever Imperial Cod-Liver-Oil Fox Biscuits are regularly fed.

Why losses have been eliminated and more puppies raised to maturity when Imperial Fox Biscuits have been the principal diet.
