

IMPORTANT READING MATTER SELECTED FROM THIS WEEK'S NEWS FOR THE GUARDIAN'S SATURDAY SUBSCRIBERS

WEDNESDAY.

Wm. Campbell, son of D. J. Campbell of Heatherdale, met with a painful accident yesterday. While engaged sawing wood his hand came in contact with the saw, badly injuring four of his fingers. Dr. McIntyre dressed the wound and hopes that the hand will not be maimed any.

That well known horse, Longboat, formerly owned by Hammond Kelly, Southport has been matched for a race with a local flyer in Sydney where Longboat is now owned. A purse of $200 awaits the winner. Mr. Kelly left on Monday night for Sydney where he will handle the reins over Longboat in the race.

The Guardian regrets to learn that Miss Edith McSween, daughter of Angus McSween, Summerside, is seriously ill in the hospital at Bridgeport. She was taken ill about a week ago and the latest accounts regarding her condition were not encouraging. Her brother, F. W., who is studying dentistry in T. W. College, Boston, is at present with her.

At a meeting of Onward Farmers' Institute held at Georgetown on Feb. 9th inst., John D. Morrison, who represented this Institute at the Turo Agricultural College during the short course, gave an account of his trip. Mr. Morrison gave an outline of the different features of the course, dwelling particularly on the courteous way in which the students were treated by Principal Cumming and staff, on the excellence of the College live stock and on the valuable information to be gained in every branch of agriculture as taught at the College. Mr. Morrison thinks that every farmer should avail himself of the opportunities afforded by the short course, as the benefit derived therefrom would more than repay the expenses. The circular letter from Davis & Fraser re buying hogs was read and discussed at some length. It was thought the packers should classify in buying, paying top prices only for such hogs as are properly fed and finished. In this way there would be an inducement for farmers to raise the pork that will command the highest prices.

The many friends of James E. Connick-Kensington, will learn with deep regret of his death on Wednesday morning, Feb. 8th, at 7.30 a. m., at the early age of thirty-eight years. The deceased, who was suffering from a lingering illness for the past two years, was well known and respected by everybody throughout the community in which he resided on account of his integrity, honesty and sobriety. Being a skillful carpenter by trade, many beautiful residences and public buildings in Kensington and the surrounding country, stand as a lasting memorial of his perfection in his chosen work. He was a member of the C. M. B. A., the members of which society all mourn the loss of their loving brother. During his last illness he was attended by his pastor, Rev. Mgr. Gillis, Indian River, and fortified by the rites of the Catholic Church he passed away fully resigned to God's holy will. The funeral Mass was sung by Rev. Mgr. Gillis in the Kensington Chapel. Rev. Dr. Monaghan, Misouche, preached a short sermon appropriate for the occasion. The funeral left for Indian River, where the deceased was interred at ten o'clock, followed by a very large number of sleighs. The services in the church and at the grave were conducted by

Rev. J. J. McDonald, Kinkora, assisted by Mgr. Gillis. The pall-bearers were: Dr. F. Jardine, Dr. W. McDonald, McKenzie, J. Proft, I. Donahoe and E. Pendergast. The deceased was married to Miss Annie Flood of Kelly's Cross, who, with the loss of a good husband and a kind father. His mother, Mrs. John Connick, now of Sydney, two brothers and three sisters also survive him. To all his friends and relatives the Guardian extends sincere sympathy in their sad bereavement. May his soul rest in peace.—Com. (Summerside papers please copy.)

To the Editor of The Guardian: Dear Sir:—There are not a few persons who appreciate your valuable paper, among other things, for its weekly sermons. The following little nor Shakespearian, but it is eminently practical, and I am sure that it also will be appreciated both by preachers and by all true worshippers. It is entitled Hints on Public Worship:

"Bear with me while I say the crime is great Of those who practice coming in too late; As if God's service were by far too long, And none rejoiced to praise Him in a song.

Shall the doors rattle, hats and bonnets move To show how you the service disappear? Disturbing those who come to serve the Lord, And even while they listen to His word.

If you complain you have too far to come, Set out a little sooner from your home; But those who live hard by have no excuse Except in idleness, or sleep, or use.

A little less indulgence in the bed— A little more contrivance in the head— A little more devotion in the mind— Would quite prevent your being so behind.

Oh what a pleasing sight it would afford, If all were waiting for to praise the Lord, Each seat were occupied, and all the throng Ready to join in one harmonious song.

My brethren, this might mostly be the case If we were lively in the Christian race. Then every hindrance would be laid aside, To see and hear of Jesus crucified." (Anon.)

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for your courtesy in giving these lines space in your admirable paper. The lines themselves are anonymous, but this letter is not, and I have no wish to subscribe other than my own name.

At this time of the year farm butter-makers encounter difficulties in butter-making not experienced during the summer season. One of these is the failure of the cream to churn in a reasonable length of time. The chief cause of slow churning is too low a temperature. Cream, as a rule, must be churned at a higher temperature in winter than in summer. This is so because the butter fat is hard in winter. Dry feeds and cows far advanced in lactation (strippers) produce a relative hard butter-fat, and the harder the butter-fat the higher the churning temperature must be. Cream which will churn nicely at 55 degrees F. in summer may have to be churned at 69 degrees F. in winter. Too many have the mistaken idea that cream may be churned at the same temperature the year round, or that the same churning temperature may be employed upon different farms. A farmer who milks Holstein-Friesian cows may find 50 degrees F. a satisfactory churning temperature, whereas the producer of Jersey cream may find it necessary to churn his cream at 60 degrees F. The butter-fat in Holstein cream is softer than that in Jersey cream and hence must be churned at a low temperature. It is perfectly possible, however, to obtain a satisfactory churning at 60 degrees one day and experience trouble at the same temperature the next. If the cream is cooled from 65 to 60 degrees just before churning one day and warmed up from 55 to 60 degrees the next, the former cream will churn in much less time than the latter, though both were placed in the churn at the same temperature. The reason for this is that the butter-fat cools and warms up much more slowly than the other parts of the cream, and hence when the cream is cooled suddenly five degrees the temperature of the butter-fat itself may have been reduced only one or two degrees. Similarly, when cream is warmed up five degrees the butter-fat itself may have warmed up only slightly. Cream should be held at the churning temperature at least half an hour before churning in order to be sure that the butter-fat has the same temperature as the rest of the cream.

Always use a reliable thermometer. We have passed the day when the finger will be depended on to tell the temperature of the cream. Another trouble in churning results from too sweet cream. Cream should be held at a temperature of about 70 degrees F., until it becomes distinctly sour. Well soured cream will pour from a dipper like thick syrup, will taste sour and will smell sour. The actual per cent. of acid at churning should be between five and six-tenths as determined by tests especially made for this purpose. Sour cream will make better butter and more butter, and will churn more easily than sweet or partially soured cream. Sweet cream, especially if thin or at a low temperature, will cause endless trouble in churning. With such cream there is more or less foaming and, if very thin, the butter will not gather.

With a five gallon churn, cream testing 25 per cent. will give the best results in churning, while 30 per cent. will give best results with churns of ten or fifteen gallons capacity. Never fill a churn quite full. The best churning is obtained when the cream is one-third full.

To Bros. Rufus and Garfield Stevenson, Fredericton.—Dear Brothers: The heartfelt sympathy of the members of Refuge Division is extended to you on this sad occasion. You have been called upon to part with your dearest earthly friend who at the time was but in the midst of life though now silent in death. The loss a home sustains when a kind and loving mother's chair becomes forever vacant, cannot be imagined. Years elapse and their memories fade away; but the kind word of sympathy, the councils of right and the familiar form can never be forgotten.

You can only commend you to the Father's love, the only certain anchor of life. That you may still have an unshaken faith in the goodness of God who doeth all things well, is the sincere prayer of your brothers and sisters of Refuge Division. Signed on behalf of members Refuge Division, No. 201, S. O. T.; B. H. Rackham, Minnie Weeks, Eva Stevenson.

To Sister Mrs. J. W. McLennan, Kamsack, Sask.—Dear Sister: Since it has pleased Almighty God in His kind providence to remove from this life your dearly beloved mother, we on behalf of the members of Refuge Division, Fredericton, wish to convey to you our heartfelt sympathy on this sad occasion. Kind words are unavailing to alleviate the pangs of a sad heart, but there is one who understands your grief and can sympathize with you, and to Him who was a man of sorrow and acquainted with grief, we would commend you in this your hour of sadness, and pray God that we shall all meet in that haven of rest where sorrow is never known and where love and harmony reign forever. Signed on behalf of Refuge Division, B. H. Rackham.

R. B. McKinley, North River, sold last week to W. S. Newsome, city his Crown Right sily which secured first prize last Fall at the Charlottetown Exhibition. Mr McKinley has sold two "O'Leary's" to the same buyer this fall and he says "the price puts no damper on Newsome if you have the right kind of goods."

Last night there was held in the Forrester House, Pownal, the first of what will hereafter be an annual event, when the members of Strathcona Farmers' Institute held a banquet at which their most hospitably entertained a large number of guests. There were present about sixty people, of whom a large share were ladies. Among the number were members of similar institutes located nearby.

After the assemblage had done sufficient justice to the viands on the festive board, so efficiently and tastily prepared by George and Mrs. Carver, a toast list was called. Ernest Lund, Bethel, capably fulfilling the duties of toastmaster and presiding at the table.

TOAST LIST. The King—God Save the King. The Land we Live In—J. A. Moore. Our Institute—P. Brodie. The Ladies—Ludlow Jenkins and Charles Rankin. The Medical Profession—Dr. Dewar. Our Visitors—Wm. Gibson, Marshfield and John Gill, York. At the conclusion of the following program was rendered in a manner which reflected credit on all participating.

PROGRAM. Sneech—Benj. Jenkins. Reading—J. A. Moore. "O'Leary's Goat." Violin Selection—H. O'Neill. Solo—Mrs. Lincoln Wood. Instrumental Solo—Wm. Jones. Stump Speech—Spurgeon Jenkins. Recitation—J. A. Moore. "Canadian Born." God Save the King.

The evening was thoroughly enjoyable and the enterprise of Strathcona Institute in this respect has afforded for other Institutes an example to emulate which will result in strengthening the ties which bind the community in general with the organization and be a means for much good in many other ways.

THURSDAY. —His many friends will regret to hear of the illness of A. R. Crosby who has been confined to his room at the Queen Hotel, Summerside with a bad attack of la grippe since Sunday last. He is however improving and hopes to be able to resume his work in about a week's time.—S.

RAGING HEADACHE STOPPED AT ONCE

When He Took "Fruit-a-lives"

SHANLY, ONT., Sept. 23rd, 1910. "You certainly have the Greatest discovered Headache Cure in the world. Before 'Fruit-a-lives' came before the public, I suffered tortures from Headaches caused by Stomach Disorders. "One of your travellers called on me when I had one of my raging headaches and had my head almost raw from external applications. "I hated to see any person coming into the store (much less a commercial traveller) and I told him very curtly that I had a headache but he insisted on my trying 'Fruit-a-lives'.

"I did so, with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to preserve me in my present good health. I am 65 years old yesterday and have been a general housekeeper at the above address for twenty-five years."

W. M. PITT As Mr. Pitt says "Fruit-a-lives" is the greatest headache cure in the world. Dealers everywhere have "Fruit-a-lives" at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

W. T. Ritch, of Ottawa, and W. A. Dryden of Brooklyn, Ont., federal commissioners appointed to inquire into the sheep raising industry in Canada and other countries, who were in this province recently, have been through N. B. and N. S. By reason of their wide experience both these commissioners are thoroughly competent to conduct the inquiry in which they are now engaged. Mr. Dryden is a son of Hon. John Dryden and is known as one of the foremost pure bred sheep and short horn cattle in Ontario. Mr. Ritch has had wide experience, having spent practically all his life in the business in one capacity or another. He was twenty years in Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, and has visited the Argentine Republic, which is a notable sheep ranching country.

Many friends, and indeed the whole community, will regret to learn that Mrs. Donald Parquharson, city, passed away yesterday morning at five o'clock. She had been ill for years; even before the death of her lamented husband, the Hon. Donald Parquharson, she was unwell, and her end was therefore anticipated. Born in this city, the daughter of the late George Moore, of the Bank of Prince Edward Island, she had reached the age of sixty-seven years, the greatest part of her life being happy and uneventful. She was of an even temper, kindly, lovable and sympathetic, and she leaves many warm friends, besides her three children, Charles Parquharson, now residing at High River, Alberta, Miss Etta Parquharson, also of High River at the present time, and Miss Fennie Parquharson, at home. Numerous other relatives in the city and elsewhere include her close friends, Mr. S. Moore, Theophilus Moore of the Inland Revenue Department and George Moore of the firm of Moore & McLeod, and her sister, Mrs. Henry Mutch of Southport.

The death occurred in Montague on Tuesday of Victoria Jean, the dearly beloved daughter of Clarence and Mrs. White, aged twelve months. The funeral took place yesterday at Lower Montague.—M.

George Gamble, of Union Corner, died very suddenly on Feb. 4th. He was in his usual health up till a few hours of his death. The funeral took place on the 7th of Feb. and was well attended. Rev Mr Leard, Methodist minister officiating. His remains were buried in the Methodist burying grounds at Union Corner, the pall bearers being, James Ball, William Ball, B. C. Allen, Charles Muttart, George Trenholm and Antwine Gallant.

The marriage took place at Calgary, Alta., on Jan. 11, 1911, of Miss Lizzie A. Bruce, formerly of Brooklyn, P. E. I., to Orlo Edward Simpson, of Calgary. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Esher, pastor of Grace Presbyterian Church. Miss Christina Bruce acted as bridesmaid, while Neil M. Bruce supported the groom, niece and nephew of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in blue pongee silk and only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Excelsior Institute held their annual supper at Little York on Feb. 8th. A large number attended and an interesting program was carried out. Prize essays were read by Y. C. Clark and the prizes awarded as follows: 1st, Bertha S. McRae, Central Royalty; 2nd, Ellen Sullen, Central Royalty; 3rd, Josy Howard, York; 4th, Ida Howard, York; 5th, Lettie M. Boswell, Marshfield; 6th, Y. Russell Howard, York. The prizes will be presented at the Institute meeting in York Hall on Saturday evening, the 18th. Ladies are especially invited, as the members expect to be favored with addresses from Miss Dutcher and Miss McLeod, of Charlottetown. (Patriot and Examiner please copy.)

W. T. Ritch, of Ottawa, and W. A. Dryden of Brooklyn, Ont., federal commissioners appointed to inquire into the sheep raising industry in Canada and other countries, who were in this province recently, have been through N. B. and N. S. By reason of their wide experience both these commissioners are thoroughly competent to conduct the inquiry in which they are now engaged.

Sir:—The item has been read with interest of a certain blacksmith in this Province shoeing eighteen (18) horses in one day. I do not know whether the item appeared as written, but I wish to inform our village smiths of what is done in this line in the city. On January 23rd and 24th, J. A. Henderson turned out (144) one hundred and forty-four horses—twelve dozen or one gross. Mr. Henderson employs two helpers, but he fitted nearly every horse himself. I believe this a Provincial record and will stand for some time. HORSE OWNER.

The funeral of the late William Laird, New Glasgow, took place yesterday at noon. There was a very large attendance at the funeral evidencing the great respect and esteem in which the deceased was regarded in the community. There were also several members of the Legislature from other sections of the province in attendance. The funeral was from his late residence to the New Glasgow Presbyterian Church and Cemetery. At the funeral services the Rev. John Stealing gave an excellent address on "Practical life in Church and State" from the words: "He served His Generation." The following were the pall-bearers: Lieutenant Governor Rogers, Hon. J. H. Cummins, Hon. John McMillan, James Bullman, Charles Stevenson and Geo. Brown.

A very sudden death occurred at Brookfield on Monday, the 16th ult., the result of paralysis of the heart, the victim being J. Alexander McLean in the 56th year of his age. He was a son of the late Charles McLean of West River and for the past twenty-seven years resided at Bar Harbor, Maine. He came to this Province last December to spend the winter with his friends, and died at the residence of his sister, Mrs. John Drummond. He was a member of the Oddfellows, Red Men and other societies and was a prominent citizen of Bar Harbor. He leaves to mourn besides a large circle of friends, one brother, Angus, of West River, and four sisters, Mrs. John Drummond, of Brookfield, Mrs. A. A. of Provint, of Hanley, Sask., and Isabella, of Brookfield. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Watson of Winsloe. The remains were laid to rest in Brookfield Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Alex. McNeill, Angus Cameron, Daniel McDonald, W. Murray, W. D. Shaw and Duncan McNeven.

WOMEN MAY AVOID OPERATIONS

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will prove how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement.

Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not get on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has positively restored the health of thousands of women. Why don't you try it?

Most Satisfactory—"We have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for years, as a spring medicine, and have always found it very beneficial. We have tried different remedies but find Hood's the most satisfactory." Miss Doratha McDonald, 10 Buckingham Ave., Montreal, Que.

The death occurred at Rustico on Feb. 11, 1911, of Katie Alice, oldest daughter of John and Mrs. McQuarrie in the sixteenth year of her age. The deceased leaves to mourn a sorrowing father and mother, three brothers and two sisters.

A precious one from us is gone A voice we loved is still. A place made vacant in our home Which never can be filled.

Special to The Guardian. HOULTON, Me., Feb. 15.—To be turned out of warm beds and compelled to get out of doors in their night clothing with the thermometer 25 below zero, was the fate of the guests at the Lafayette Hotel here this morning at 1 a.m., when the hotel was burned to the ground. So quickly did the flames spread that two men were compelled to jump from the third story windows, but they landed in good sized snow banks—and were only slightly injured.

"Oats are the most Nutritious of all Cereals"—Robert Hutchinson, M.D. Author, Food and Dietetics. If you've been eating fad breakfast foods in the belief they were more nutritious than oatmeal, it's time you knew the truth. In his great book, "Food and Dietetics," Robert Hutchinson, M.D., Edin., M.R.C.P., says "Oats may be regarded as the most nutritious of all cereals. They are rich in nitrogenous matter and mineral substances. Of the total nitrogenous matter 94 per cent. is in the form of proteid, and therefore available for tissue-building." Now that you know the facts you will take an added enjoyment from your bowl of oatmeal each morning. You will serve it to your children regularly. Of all brands of oats you'll like Tillson's Oats the best. Because Tillson's consists of selected grains of oats and is Pan-Dried, its flavor is most delicious. Open a package and see our New flake, which makes Tillson's even better than before. Pan-Dried: A Food—Not a Fad Cooks in 15 Minutes Two sizes, 10c. and 25c.
