

Woman's Realm -- Social and Personal -- Fashions -- Literature

WAR LEFT HIM TO SUFFER TERRIBLY

Until He Found Happy Relief in "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Many a battle-scarred veteran of the Great War has found succor from pain and suffering in "Fruit-a-tives." This famous medicine, made from fruit juices combined with the finest medicinal ingredients, has helped them to adjust themselves to modern conditions and to correct those faults of digestion and elimination which resulted from their terrible war experiences.

"Ever since leaving the army," writes Mr. E. E. Newman of Iona Station, Ont., "I suffered terribly from Constipation. After spending a lot of money on remedies, I took four boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and I can sincerely say they gave me permanent relief." Other Great War veterans have taken "Fruit-a-tives" for Rheumatism, Kidney Trouble, Indigestion and Dyspepsia, Nervousness and Sleeplessness with equally gratifying results. Try them. 25c. and 50c. a box—at dealers everywhere.

Little Willie: "Mamma, is papa going to heaven when he dies?"
 Mother: "Why, son, who put such an absurd idea into your head?"

For The Cook

Raisin and Orange Marmalade

Wash four oranges and put them through the food chopper. Wash four pounds of rhabarb and cut in small pieces. Combine these fruits and to them add three cupsful raisins, the juice of two lemons and six cupsful sugar. Cook slowly until thick and then pour into sterile jelly glasses.

A Morning Smile

Rev. David J. Thomas of Cardiff, in a speech at Sheffield, England, illustrated that the Welshman is not as punctuously careful about detail as the man from the north.

"The only man who ever asked me for a receipt for his marriage fee," he said, "was a Scotsman—but I told him it was resting on his arm. It is an adhesive one, and so long as you behave yourself you won't lose it."

Commercial wireless telephone service will be opened between the Hawaiian Islands.

Is There a Lasting Love? Dorothy Dix Finds People Misinterpret Their Symptoms

What Most People Mean by Love is Only a Feeble Imitation, but Perhaps it is the Best of Which They are Capable; Not Every One is Endowed With a Gift for Loving Any More Than a Singing Voice.

I have received an interesting letter from a man who writes: "Most of you advice of problems of the heart and home is predicted on the assumption that there is such a thing as permanent love between one man and one woman. This is a lovely sentiment that originated with the poets, but why continue the fiction that there is such a thing as lasting love?"

"Isn't it true that every time a person falls in love he imagines that it is the first time love was ever real, and is profoundly certain that it will last forever? Those are the twin characteristics of the love-maniac. Every man and woman usually passes through a series of these attacks, and when one of them comes on at a time when there is sufficient manly to culminate in marriage.

"Then in a year or two the couple recover and they note with surprise and consternation that they are legally married. Nature has played her trick and the law has sealed it, so there they are, and they might get along fairly well except that presently they experience another attack and fall for some one else.

"And what's the harm? As far as I can see this old notion about there being anything wrong in a man's being unfaithful to his wife, or a woman untrue to her husband, was cut from the same piece of cloth as long skirts were made of."

To which I might retort that, after all, there is something to be said for long skirts, physically and morally. They may be a bit bunglesome and cramp the style of those who long to be free and untrammelled in their movements, but they are warmer and made of better material and lasted longer than the half yard of chiffon out of which knee-length skirts are made.

But, brother, one can be too cynical as well as too trusting. It is just as foolish to have no faith in the higher nature of our fellow creatures as it is to be a silly Pollyanna going around proclaiming that everybody is an angel in an angelic world. Furthermore, when you say there can be no permanent love between a man and a woman you are just as far from the truth as you would be if you contended that every case of calf love is the grand passion.

In the face of the divorce statistics I will not dispute your assertion that most people, who think they are in love diagnose their symptoms incorrectly and mistake a slight rise in temperature as an indication that they have chronic inflammation of the heart.

But that isn't love. It is merely sex attraction and when that is over they do, indeed, wake up from their little dream of romance and wonder what ever made them think they cared for each other, and why they ever married. And then, if they acknowledge no law above their own inclinations, they begin looking about for fresh partners who can impart a new thrill to it with whom to play the love game.

Perhaps these little passing loves, this flash of tinsel in a tinpan that flares up for a minute and then dies down into a pinch of ashes, are all of which the great majority of people are capable. Perhaps most men and women are too small of heart and brain, too selfish, too self-centered, too lacking in loyalty, too incapable of self-abnegation ever to experience a great love. Not every one is endowed by Nature with a gift for loving any more than he or she is with a talent for writing, or painting, or with a tenor voice.

But for all of that, there are great lovers, men and women whose hearts cleave to each other and whose affection is as enduring as the eternal rocks. I know many couples like this, who have been married thirty, forty, fifty—one couple has been married over sixty—years, and they are far more devoted to each other, far more necessary to each other's happiness today than they were on their wedding day.

And why shouldn't this be the case? The cord that binds a man and woman together is woven of many strands. True, through it must run the red thread of passion, but if that is the only thing that holds them together, it will break. The tie that binds them so inextricably together that they are literally one, is made up of the memories that they have shared together, of the battles they have fought out shoulder to shoulder, of the cradles they have bent over and the coffins they have wept over together.

It is made up of a knowledge of a devotion that has never wavered, of a million sacrifices that have been made, of a million hardships endured, of the certainty that in the world there is one human being who will never forsake you, no matter what happens, and on whose love you can rely as you can on the love of God. No temporary love where you love one woman or man today, and another tomorrow, can have this quality.

These passing loves may have their own kick and thrill, but they do not bring the happiness that this permanent love does. Look around among your acquaintances. Who are the contented ones? Those who got married and stayed married, or those who are always figuring in the divorce courts and swapping partners?

Look at the ravaged face of the woman who has had many lovers and who has nothing left after she has got too old to attract men. Then look at the serene countenance of the woman whose heart has never wavered away from the husband of her youth. Whom do you envy? Lothario, who isn't so gay when he is 70, sitting lonely in his room trying to recall the names of the many women he has loved, or Darby with his faithful old Joan at his side?

Oh, yes, brother, there is such a thing as a lasting love between men and women. For there is a love of the soul as well as a love of the flesh. There is a love that can make a perfect companionship between a man and a woman so that they never weary of each other's society. There is a love that takes no note of time or the fading of beauty. There is a love that makes poverty sweet and robs sacrifices of their bitterness.

There is the love that makes a woman wait with open arms outside of a prison gate to take back a criminal and hide his shame from even his own eyes. There is a love that makes a man waste an invalid wife for twenty years and see all of his earnings go to pay doctors' bills.

Let us thank God for it and wish there were more of it.
DOROTHY DIX.

"KEY HOMES"

A project of woman's clubs in the United States is the establishing of "Key Homes," which will be, in each community, a house of knowledge, service and inspiration, for home-making men and woman. It will be the best type of moderate priced house, furnished in the best taste, equipped scientifically, and a center of information about health; child psychology; home economics, including budgeting, food problems and clothing; home recreation and home education.

The "Key Homes" will offer counsel and services for homemakers without price, obligation or advertising, and will carry its help out from the center to the more needy home dwellers who would not come to them.

So severe was the cold in Sweden last winter that at times the Baltic ferry was tied up for two or three

Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

Q. What should women always remember when giving gifts to men?
 A. That the gifts should be men's gifts, and not the things that women would like the men to have.

Q. After dancing with a woman whom he is not escorting, what should a man do?
 A. Take her to her friends, or to her next partner.

Q. What does good service require at the table?
 A. It requires the removal of each plate as soon as the fork is laid upon it.

LAKE VERDE SCHOOL

Lake Verde School standing for the month of March:

Grade IX—1, Farnell Wood; 2, Maurice Redmond; 3, Edna Redmond; 4, Clarence Redmond; 5, Leonard Hughes; Teresa Cairns; 7, Margaret Cairns.

Grade VIII—1, Charles Boylan; 2, Imelda Hughes; 3, Kathleen Wood; 4, Mary Redmond; 5, Willie Wood; 6, Margaret Redmond.

Grade V (Sr.)—1, Laura Hughes and Helen Acorn (equal); 2, Ivan Redmond; 3, Plus Redmond; 4, Allan Hughes.

Grade V (Jr.)—1, Matthew Redmond; 2, Felix Redmond.

Grade III—1, Ira Redmond; 2, Basil Redmond; 3, Joseph Shea.

Grade II (Sr.)—1, Esther Redmond; 2, Laevonia Shea.

Grade II (Jr.)—1, Allan Callahan; 2, Marion Boylan;

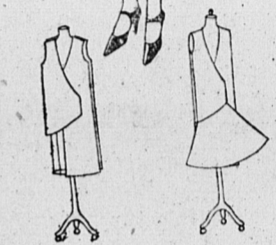

Grade I—1, Mary Callahan; 2, Doris Russel; 3, Ernie Shea.

Perfect attendance—Teresa Cairns, Margaret Cairns, Edna Redmond, Clarence Redmond, Charlie Boylan, Imelda Hughes, Laura Hughes, Helen Acorn, Allan Hughes, Matthew Redmond, Marion Boylan.
 Teacher—Agnes Kelly.

A Fashion Hint

GRACEFUL WRAP AROUND

It's graceful, modish and slender in fashionable wrap around silhouette, quite the newest idea of Paris. It's one-piece too! This makes it most interesting for home seamstress, because it takes so little time to make. The surplus vest adds a bit of contrast in white silk pique to floral

Household Hints

By Roberta Lee

Glass
 To give glass a frosted appearance, cover it with a mixture composed of six ounces magnesium sulphate, two ounces dextrin, and twenty ounces of water.

Bed Springs
 To remove the dust and dirt from bed springs, place the springs in the sun and turn the hose on them. The sun will dry them within a very short time.

Soup
 If soup is too salty, add a slice of a raw potato. Boil for a short time and it will take away the salty flavor.

print in silk crepe in vivid red tones sketched in Style No. 494. Pattern can be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Note in miniature diagrams one-piece back; two front sections with circular flounce joined to right front. In the 36-inch size, 3 1/2 yards of 40-inch material with 1/2 yard of 40-inch contrasting, is all that is needed. It will also make up splendidly in featherweight woolen, georgette crepe, printed cotton foulard, and plain silk crepe with suede finish. Price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred.) Wrap coin carefully.

We suggest that when you send for this pattern, you enclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our Spring Fashion Magazine. It's just filled with delightful styles, including smart ensembles, and cute designs for the kiddies.

"Don't you think it's about time the baby learned to say 'papa'?"
 "Oh, no, I hadn't intended telling him who you are until he becomes a little stronger."—Claw.

Feature films made in Europe last year totaled $18, the cost of production being more than $24,000,000.

Daily Arguments

AUNT HET

BY ROBERT QUILLEN

"The worst thing about getting big an' heavy is that you keep right on wantin' to cuddle up in somebody's lap an' be petted."

POOR PA

BY CLAUDE CALLAN

"Since Ma's brother William lost his fortune, she's moved his picture from that prominent place on the wall an' put it with my picture."

Crops produced in North Manchuria last year weighed 12,200,000 tons, an increase of 1,165,000 tons over 1927.

"How does she keep her hands so LOVELY?"

"—the most beautiful hands, yet she does all her own work—"
 "As I looked up from pouring tea, I realized with a thrill they were talking about me! I felt such a happy glow of pride . . . for my hands USED to be my despair!"
 "Now I find it easy to have soft, pretty hands, in spite of dishes to do three times a day. I discovered that by using Lux for all my dishwashing, my hands never became rough or red or chapped-looking. With Lux, they were even WHITER and softer after washing dishes than before!"

The instant, magical suds are SOOTHING to even the most sensitive skin.* Lux is made by a marvelous special process—made whiter and thinner and purer than anything else. There is no trace of harmful alkali in Lux, nothing to dry up, to coarsen the skin, as there is in ordinary soaps—whether flakes, chips or cakes.

And Lux costs so LITTLE! In one of the big packages there is enough Lux for 6 weeks' dishes! So little to pay for beautiful hands!

*Many beauty parlors use Lux suds in manicuring the nails to soften and whiten the fingers

... a Breakfast fit for a Queen!

BRIGHT morning sunshine, glinting on polished silver—snowy-white linen—hot, crunchy toast and rich golden Orange Marmalade—there's a breakfast that starts the day RIGHT!

For those who prefer a clear, jellied Orange Marmalade, dotted with shreds of piquant peel from plump, Seville Oranges (the finest Oranges in the world for marmalade making)—there's nothing so satisfying

SHIRRIFF'S SHREDDED ORANGE MARMALADE

Shirriff's SHREDDED ORANGE MARMALADE

The MacLean Company, Ltd
 Sole Distributors for SHIRRIFF'S LIMITED in Prince Edward Island