SLEEP WAS STRANGER TO E. E. BRADSHAW

Toronto Man Was Near Nervous Breakdown When He Took Tanlac.

Edison E. Bradshaw, painting and decorating contractor, 159 Bleeker St., Toronto, Ontario, Canada, is another grateful beneficiary of the Tanlac treatment. In telling his experience recently Mr. Bradshaw says:

E. E. BRADSHAW

"Before I took Tanlac I was suffering seriously from nervous prostration. I was so nervous I could seldom sleep, the slightest exertion made my heart palpitate, and my breathing difficult. Burning pains in my stomach tortured me for hours at a time, dizzy spells disturbed me, and my blood seemed out of order.

"With my second bottle of Tanlac I began to feel relief all round. With the seventh bottle my stomach is all right again, my heart action is normal, my nerves are steady, and, in fact, I feel like a brand new man."

Tanlac Vegetable Pills recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.

AMERICAN FOX MAGNATE.—Mr. E. M. Robinson, Spokane, Wash.ington, and his son are at present in the city purchasing foxes. They are accompanied by the well-known fox man, Mr. John A. Lea of Summerside. Mr. Robinson has been tremendously successful in the fox industry, and since first engaging in it some four years ago, has become owner of three large ranches in the United States. He is a keen and discriminating buyer and is satisfied to accept only the best, in order to maintain the prestige of his now famous ranches.

Externally or internally, it is good. When applied externally by brisk rubbing, Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil opens the pores and penetrates the tissue, touching the seat of the trouble and immediately affording relief. Administered internally, it will still the irritation in the throat which induces coughing and will relieve affections of the bronchial tubes and respiratory organs. Try it and be convinced.

For the Young Schoolgirl
A shirt of Roman striped flannel and a little coat blouse of blue velvet make a most attractive school frock.

One Word.
"There is one word that we quickly learn in five languages," said an American Red Cross nurse who served in a French army hospital. "It is the word that comes most often to the lips of sick or wounded soldiers when suffering or delirium wrings utterance from them. It is mutter, mere, moeder, madre and mother."

...Asthma cannot last when the greatest of all asthma specifics is used. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy assuredly deserves this exalted title. It has to its credit thousands of cases which other preparations had failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the patient to a condition of blessed relief. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

GRAND VISITATION—Owing to the very disagreeable weather Monday night there was not a very large attendance of members present at Victoria Lodge, A. F. & M., on the occasion of Grand Lodge visitation. However, an interesting meeting was held, presided over by District Deputy Grand Master, Dr. Martin of Eldon, in the absence of Grand Master W. C. Lawson. After the meeting, the members repaired to an adjacent room where a bountiful repast was prepared by the ladies of the Eastern Star. After thanking the ladies for the splendid repast, Bro. Dr. Martin announced that a short musical program would be carried out. This consisted of vocal selections by Mrs. J. Stewart, R. L. McKee, T. W. Bentley, Kensington, and others. Altogether a most enjoyable and profitable evening was spent by all.

WEDDING BELLS.—St. Dunstan's Cathedral, Charlottetown, was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday morning, November 4th, when in the presence of a number of friends, Mr. John L. Garnum and Miss Mary MacNab were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The wedding ceremony was performed about 6.45 o'clock, Rev. Father Rooney of the Cathedral officiating. The bride looked beautiful dressed in a navy blue crepe de chine dress with a picture hat to match. She was attended by Miss Evelyn Mullin who also looked charming in blue. Mr. Henry Hughes accorded the honors of best man. After the ceremony the bridal party assembled at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. McMillan's, Dorchester Street, where a dainty dejeuner was served. The happy couple then left on the Borden train amid showers of confetti and good wishes en route to Montreal and Ottawa on a honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside at 40 Olebar St., City. The many presents which the bride received on the eve of her marriage show forth most conspicuously the high esteem in which she was held by the friends in the circle of her acquaintance. The Guardian heartily congratulates our worthy friend, Mr. Garnum and his estimable partner and trust that their journey through life may always be bright, happy and prosperous.—(Patriot please copy.)

You Never Can Tell
This is the story as it was told to us. One evening of last week a prominent citizen, and a pillar in the church was hiking homeward about six p.m. at peace with himself and the world. It had been a hard day at the office, but he smiled and nodded cheerily as he passed acquaintances on his homeward way. From underneath his right arm protruded, before and behind, a long, rakish, suspicious-looking parcel, a parcel that would not have caused even a cursory glance in the days that knew not of Volstead or Pussfoot Johnston, but now almost every fellow he passed turned and cast a lingering look after him, wondering if their eyes had played them a trick or something.

In due time he reached home, but not before some of the women-folk in neighboring homes took a peek at the parcel from behind curtained windows, and they too wondered. That evening he and the good wife were somewhat taken aback at the unusual number of callers, of both sexes, but they rose to the occasion and did their level best to make things pleasant for everybody. The guests had a pretty good time, albeit the men-folk had a far-away look and their conversation ran much to reminiscences of the "good old days".

The evening wore on, lunch was served, and after cake and sandwiches had been passed round, the missus brought in the long, rakish-looking parcel. The silence was positively painful! Tearing off the cover she placed the crispy contents on a plate, then taking a plate of cheese in her left hand, she served each guest in turn. So the mystery was solved at last! The suspicious looking parcel turned out to be a package of HAMILTON'S new thin Zephyr Pilot.

UNIVERSITY OF KING'S COLLEGE
Charlottetown is shortly to have a visit from the Rev. Mr. Moore the new President of the University of King's College, Halifax, which is an institution founded by Act of Parliament in 1788, and which received from King George the third a Royal Charter constituting it a University in 1802. Thus for 136 years the University has been in existence. It is the oldest University in the Overseas Empire.

The present generation of Anglicans have not given their wholehearted support to their Maritime College, as they might have been expected to do. They have not carried the torch for higher education in these Provinces which has been handed them by their fathers. Now however under the leadership of the Chief Pastor of this Diocese the Church people are determined to place the old College (now associated with Dalhousie University) on a proper financial footing, and with this in view a campaign to raise $400,000 will be shortly undertaken.

A ROMANCE OF MEN AND WOMEN WHO LAID THE FOUNDATION OF A GREAT NATION

MARION DAVIES in Little Old New York
A charming romance of the thrilling days when America was young—
Adapted by Luther Reed from the stage play by Edith Johnson Young
Directed by Sidney Olcott
Settings by Joseph Urban
A Cosmopolitan Production distributed by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan

- Those were the days—
—when people traveled by stage-coach
—when John Jacob Astor was a fur dealer
—when Cornelius Vanderbilt ran a ferry-boat
—when Robert Fulton amid jeers launched the first steam-boat
—when Lorenzo Delmonico ran a lunch wagon.

TAKE your Mother, Sister, Sweetheart, Wife to see this delightful pictureplay. They'll love every minute of it.

Maybe you've seen a funnier episode on the screen than the prize-fight in "Little Old New York" but we doubt it. It's the most side-splitting bit ever filmed.

Fire breaks out in the middle of the boxing-bout. At least, the fire bell is rung and then come thrills.

The first trip of Robert Fulton's folly "The Clermont" is a great moment in the film. The inventor of the steamboat proved to the world the kind of stuff young America was made of.

Marion Davies is positively ravishing as the heroine of this sweet love story. Her performance stands out among the screen characterizations that you want to treasure forever.
