United Kingdom Athletes Attain A High Ranking In The World Of Sport

(One of a year-end series on developments in sports during 1936.)
(By H. H. Gordon, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Outstanding performances in various branches of competitive sports during 1936 found the United Kingdom occupying a high place among the nations of the world. Success in tennis, cricket, rugby and polo put Britain its highest ranking for some time.

Led by that world-famous tennis star, Fred J. Perry, the Mother Country retained the Davis Cup for the fourth successive year. After dismal showings against Australia, South Africa and the West Indies in recent years, a rejuvenated cricket team defeated India in a series of three tests in England and as the year ends shows every indication of wresting "The Ashes" from the Aussies.

New Zealand's famous All-Blacks, leading exponents of the English game, had their colors lowered by both England and Wales in the year while Hungary's players went down to a 6-2 defeat in the international soccer game with London in London this month. In the season Scotland defeated Germany 2-0 at Glasgow and the England's victory over the Danes in 1935.

For the most part recruited in Canada, England, representatives of the Dominion in the international hockey championship.

All Padham, English professional, added to the run of success by capturing the British open golf championship which went to Great Britain for the third successive year. Hector Thomson, a Scot, took the amateur title and Pam Barton got home with flying colors in the women's open. Miss Barton also won the United States open to become the year's greatest woman player.

On the other side of the picture, England's disappointing showing in most of the events at the Olympics in Berlin stands out. British women lost the Wightman Tennis Cup to the United States four games to three and the British going team was overwhelmed by the United States for the Walker Cup.

Will Miss Fred Perry

How to fill Fred Perry's place in amateur tennis is a major problem following decision of the greatest exponent of the court game to turn professional. Not only did Perry play the leading role in England's Davis Cup victories, culminating in the smashing of Australia's team three matches to two in the final. He won the Wimbledon singles championship for England, defeating the German, Gottfried von Cramm, who the champion now ranks as the world's leading tennis player. He also won the United States single.

Britain won the remaining titles in the All-England championships with the exception of the women's singles which went to Helen Jacobs, Californian girl whose persistence finally won well-deserved success. Perry played with Dorothy Round to capture the mixed doubles.

When the Mother Country defeated India in the cricket test series in England last summer its showing did not inspire confidence for the gruelling series in Australia during the winter. Cricket selectors were faced with a big problem as the Aussie won four of the five tests in South Africa early in the year, the other being drawn.

Led by Gilbert Allen, Australian-born captain of Middlesex, a team in which tested internationals were blended with the best of the country's youthful stars, has played the Antipodeans to a standstill in the first two tests this month. Only one more victory in the remaining three tests is necessary for England to recapture the cricket crown and the mythical "Ashes."

In its third tour of the Old Country the New Zealand rugby team failed to show the strength of its previous seasons. Internationally, it saw the famous All-Blacks lose to England and Wales in startling reversals and they also had their colors lowered by the powerful Swansea team in a club fixture.

Canada's national winter game has taken England by storm. New hockey rinks were built at various places for the present season, notable additions being those in London, Southampton and Manchester. The leading teams, particularly those in the Empire capital, draw tremendous crowds. The vast majority of players are Canadians, a number of them English-born, and there is little doubt that England now sees the finest brand of amateur hockey in the world.

Getliffe Gives Bruins Win Over Leafs

TORONTO, Dec. 27—(CP)—Boston Bruins are a game up on Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in their National Hockey League feud. Art Ross' team came from behind to win 2-1 before 14,945 persons in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night. Getliffe, former Charlotte town boy, with less than four minutes to play gave Bruins their winning margin. Young Turk Broda came far out of the leaf net to intercept the uncovered Getliffe but the Bruin shot the puck over the goalie's shoulder as Broda went down.

Bill Thoms put Leafs one up in the second minute of the game but Boston tied the score in the second period while Jack Shill was serving a minor penalty for tripping Eddie Shore. Leroy Goldsworthy took a Bruin power play and flipped it in to the net from just outside the crease.

Getliffe made a perfect play for the winning score, splitting the Leafs' defence and heading in on Broda alone. It's doubtful the Toronto netminder made the right moving in coming as far out as he did but he was on a spot and had to make his own decision. Broda tried to smother Getliffe's shot by sliding into his stick but the Bruin swung the puck clear and lifted it over the goalie.

Of the three Boston lines the one made up of Getliffe, Charlie Sands and Bill Cowley, one time Halifax Wolverines, looked best. Thoms scored out for the Leafs as he has for the past few games and Harvey Jackson was also flying.

Canadiens Increase Lead Defeating Red Wings 5-2; Rangers Blank Chihawks 1-0

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) DETROIT, Dec. 27—With the veterans again leading the way, Montreal Canadiens increased their National Hockey League sectional leadership to seven points tonight by handing a 5-2 defeat to the champion Detroit Red Wings.

Accurate passing and shooting, combined with close back-checking, by the Flying Frenchmen, hounded the Red Wings their worst defeat of the N. H. L. season to date.

Detroit took the lead late in the first period on Gordon Pettinger's goal only to have ageing Aurel Joliat tie it up five minutes later on a pass from another oldster, Johnny Gagnon.

In the second period, Canadiens threatened to turn the game into a rout, outskating the champions by a wide margin.

Gagnon fired an amazingly accurate goal from a sharp angle at left, backhanding it into a corner of the Detroit net before goalie Norm Smith saw it.

Two minutes later, Georges Mantha added another on a solo dash, skirting Eddie Goodfellow to get in on Smith.

Before the period ended, Modere Bruneteau cut the lead to one goal on a pass from Pettinger.

Red Wings' desperate attempt to catch up in the third backfired on them. First Joliat, then Joire Desjardets took advantage of fast breaks down center ice to beat Smith.

The victory, which saw the veteran Montrealers completely bottle up the high-scoring Detroit first line, made it two out of three from Wings for the Habitués.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(CP)—New York Rangers tossed another defeat at the luckless Chicago Black Hawks tonight, 1-0, and forged into a one-point lead over Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League's United States section.

A goal which came in the midst of a feverish second period enabled Rangers to defeat Hawks. Little Mac Colville was the hero. He scored the lone counter of the hectic contest while two Rangers and one Black Hawk reposed in the penalty box.

Colville's sparkling effort came shortly after Andy Blair of Chicago and Joe Cooper of the New York Rangers had been given major sentences for fighting near the Hawk net.

Mike Karakas, brilliant Chicago net man, received the first sentence of the local season to a netminder for tripping a Ranger player during the second chapter. Tommy Cook guarded the Hawk cage while Karakas was off and kept the Rangers from scoring.

More than 11,000 fans saw the contest, which opened fast, reached its peak in the first 10 minutes, then slowed down somewhat with the Rangers fighting hard in the last chapter to defend their slender lead from the hard-driving Hawks who were minus their ace pivot, Doc Romnes, and wingman Lou Trudell, out through injuries.

Schmeling Is City Hockey League Meeting Enters 20th Hockey Season

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—The Ring, boxing publication, nominated Max Schmeling as the world's no. 1 fighter today in announcing its annual ranking for 1936.

Ignoring the fact the heavy-eight-championship still is held by Jimmy Braddock, the magazine ranked Schmeling no. 1 among the heavyweights and pointed to his spectacular 12-round knockout of Joe Louis as the outstanding pugilistic achievement of the year.

Braddock was not even given the no. 2 spot. Pointing out that the rankings were based, for the most part, on what the boxers accomplished during the year and that the champion was idle, Braddock was ranked no. 3 behind Schmeling and Loui.

Louis, who ranked no. 1 in the Ring's sections a year ago, was given the call over Braddock, because of the knockout victories the negro scored over Al Ettore, Jack Sharkey, Jorge Brescia and Eddie Simms after his astonishing setback at Schmeling's hands.

Otherwise the magazine generally strung along with recognized champions in making its no. 1 selections in the other divisions. Johnny Henry Lewis, the Phoenix, Ariz., negro was rated at the top among light heavyweights; Fred die Steele, Tacoma, Wash., puncher, among middleweights; Barney Ross of Chicago, among welterweights; Lou Ambers of Herkimer, N. Y., among lightweights; Pety Sarron of Birmingham, Ala., among featherweights, and Sixto Escobar of Puerto Rico, among bantamweights.

He was one of, if not the first, amateur players to use a head guard. His skull was fractured three years ago when he was checked into the boards. His injury was shortly after one of Eddie Shore's checks in a game between Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins.

Breaks Record In Defeating Cunningham

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27—Archibald San Romani of Kansas State teachers beat Glenn Cunningham of New York University, to the tape over a rain-soaked track here today to win the featured mile race of the Sugar Bowl track meet.

San Romani was clocked in four minutes, 14 seconds, more than seven seconds off Cunningham's world record. Don Lash of Indiana finished third.

Cunningham made his move at the start of the last lap and came into the stretch about 10 yards behind San Romani. He staged a desperate finish but hit the tape just behind the Kansas State teachers flyer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27—(AP)—White Jesse Owens, world's fastest human, outfoots a race horse as a publicity gag. Joe Louis can lounge lazily in his easy chair with the satisfaction that he beat the year's fastest stable of horses in 1936.

Joe beat them to the cash register. Even though he lost to Max Schmeling in his most important fight, Joe was far and away the biggest money winner of the year.

The Brown Bomber piled up $281,930.00 as his cut for fighting six men, most of them second raters. William Woodward's great stable of horses, among them Gravitille and Omaha, topped the turf world in winnings with $221,125—but ran second to slow-footed Joe.

Woodward's classy thoroughbreds ran miles and miles in England and the United States. Joe shuffled through 23 rounds.

Joe's return was $11,277 for each round of fighting, or $3,759 a minute for committing legalized assault.

Of course, all that money isn't clear profit. Joe, it is understood, gives his managers one-third. Expenses come out, too, but Joe's training camps have been profitable. Exhibition money, however, isn't counted in his total.

Louis picks up considerable loose change with sideline stuff but to his credit he refuses to advertise anything unless he believes in the product. So far, he has refused to lend his name to cigar and cigarette advertising because he doesn't smoke.
