CORNWALL-YORK POINT W. I.
The June meeting of Cornwall-York Point Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Douglas MacDonald, with the president, Mrs. Stanley Murray in the chair. Twenty-four members answered the roll call by passing in England food for a box to be packed for the adopted institute in England by Mrs. Aubrey McPhail and Mrs. Reggie MacEwen. The minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. Correspondence was read and discussed. Cornwall and York Point School and Sick committee gave their reports. It was voted that $10 be given to each school to buy prizes for the school children. The delegates appointed to attend the annual convention at Charlottetown are Mrs. Joseph Donahue and Mrs. Heber Horne. Substitutes are Mrs. Otto Newsome and Mrs. Gordon MacEwen. A discussion on handicrafts for the Provincial Exhibition took place but no definite arrangements were made. It was decided to have Victoria players come to Cornwall Hall June 23rd and Spring Park players June 23rd. It was moved and seconded that Mrs. Hazen Howard be appointed as a representative from the institute on the board of directors of the Cornwall Community Club. Miss King gave a very interesting report on the Musical Festival. Two minutes silence was observed in memory of our late member, Mrs. Frank Howard. Mrs. Stanley Murray, Mrs. Heber Horne and Mrs. Stanley Murchison were appointed to attend a meeting in New Haven School to make arrangements for the district convention. Plans were made to serve sandwiches and refreshments at the Charlottetown Exhibition Grounds July 4th during the Shorthorn Breeders Regional Prize Show. Collection for the evening $1.55. Mrs. Gordon MacEwen kindly invited the members to meet at her home July 5th for next meeting. Roll call to be answered by naming a Canadian City. A delicious lunch served by the hostess, assisted by Cornwall Ladies brought a pleasant evening to a close.

prosperous days, and mostly a girl has to choose between the poor man who is young enough for her to love and the old man who can give her the luxuries she wants.

MONEY CANNOT BUY HAPPINESS

And I contend that she has a far better chance for happiness with a poor young man than with a rich old one and that it is better to have love than it is to have imported Paris frocks. Anyway, happiness is a state of mind and it depends on one's attitude toward life, not on what one has. Money will not buy it nor will material things insure it. My advice to the most miserable people I have ever known were the richest and many of the happiest were the poorest.

In your case you have all the raw materials for happiness in your hands and you are willfully throwing them away. You have a good husband, a good home, enough to live on comfortably. If you would make the best of these they would fill your life so completely that you would not pine for unobtainable luxuries.

If you would honestly try to be a real helpmeet to your husband and to help him build up his fortune, if you would interest yourself in his work and try to be an inspiration to him, you would not get upon each other's nerves. You would be chums and companions who never talk out. Perhaps the reason your husband hasn't as good a position now as he had when you married is because you have taken the heart out of him by your discontent and repining over his not being able to give you all that a rich husband could have given you.

My advice to you is to brace up and do your part toward making a happy home. You will find your happiness on your own doorstep if you look hard enough for it.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 16 and in about six months I expect to become a mother. I have a stepmother who has always disliked me very much and who is turning my father against me and I dare not think what they will do when they find out. The boy in the case is willing to marry me, but I know that he no longer loves me and is only offering to do so from a sense of duty, and I love him so much that I will commit suicide rather than marry him and spoil his life, also. Can you give me a ray of hope quickly, or is death the only way out?

DESPERATE

ANSWER: The Salvation Army—God bless it—opens a door of refuge for unhappy girls in your plight. You can go to the nearest one and the angels of mercy who run it will take you in and see you through your trouble.

But I think you are quixotically self-sacrificing in refusing to marry the boy simply because he is willing to do so from a sense of duty. For he has an inescapable duty in the matter, and if he has a shred of honor in his whole composition he will be happier in doing a man's part and fulfilling his obligations to you and his child than he will be in turning sneak and coward and quitter and leaving you to bear the whole load of shame alone. The knowledge that he was yellow enough to do a thing like that would wreck a man's life more than any marriage could.

Besides, there is an even more imperative reason why you and this boy should marry than your own feelings in the matter. You both have an obligation to your unborn child greater than you have to each other. You have no right to let that come into the world nameless, with the brand of illegitimacy upon it. Save the poor, little unfortunate creature that, at least, Don't make it pay the price of your sin as long as it lives.

So, my dear child, I urge you with all the earnestness of which I am capable to marry this boy as soon as possible. After the baby is born, if you still feel that your husband does not love you and that you are sacrificing him to a duty marriage, it will be easy enough to get a divorce.

He will not have to live with you unless he wants to, but I hope that such devotion as yours, and perhaps the touch of baby hands, will revive his affection for you, and that your pathetic romance will have a happy ending.
