NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—President Woodrow Wilson is to deliver the opening address at the fifth annual meeting of the National Conservation Congress, which will assemble in Washington Tuesday for a three days' session. The meeting this year is to be devoted principally to the consideration of forestry and water power subjects.

A conference of representative American manufacturers, wholesalers and importers is to meet in New York Friday to draft a bill to protect original commercial designs from piracy by providing for a Government bureau in which they may be registered for a small fee.

Other important gatherings of the week will include the annual meeting of the Atlantic Deep-sea Waterways Association and the annual convention of the National Wholesale Druggists' Association, both of which are to be held in Jacksonville, Fla.

The National Association of Shell-fish Commissioners has issued a request for nationwide observance of "shell-fish day" next Friday. On that day people in the various shell-fish producing States are expected to make a specialty of placing on their menus their favorite shell-fish, and the schools throughout the country have been asked to set before their pupils information as to the conservation and development of the shell-fish industry.

Other events of the week will include the opening of the grand opera season in New York, the National Apple Show and Fruit Products Congress in Spokane, the opening of the national live stock show and convention in Fort Worth, the start from Vancouver of the world-tour of baseball celebrities, and the annual Yale-Harvard football game at Cambridge, Mass.

Humiliated Woman

Would not attend Social Functions because of Her Hair.

There are many women in this world, handsome in features, perfect in form, graceful of movement and brilliant of mind, who keep in the background just because they have thin, colorless and lustreless hair. In Paris they understand things about the hair that we do not know in this country. It was a Parisian, Dr. Sanger, who discovered that thin hair and dandruff are caused by a microbe.

It is Parisian Sage that proves Dr. Sanger's theory to be correct, for it is rigidly guaranteed to kill the dandruff germ and cure dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is a delightfully pleasant hair dressing and invigorator; it is not sticky or greasy; it should be used freely in Spring and Summer as it keeps the scalp clean and cool and free from odors.

A high mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. J. C. McMillan, Cardigan. The pastor, Rev. Father D. P. Croken was assisted during the time of the devotion by Rev. Father Gallant, Sturgeon, and Rev. Dr. J. C. McMillan, Cardigan.—G.

...STEEL BRIDGE.—The staff of Messrs. McKinnon Holmes and Company finished their work on the Cardigan Bridge for this season, on Tuesday last. The bridge is practically completed, the two steel spans, of a length of eighty feet, have been erected on crossties piles in the same place as the old wooden bridge. One thing left unfinished was the concrete platform. The structure will not be planked but concreted and as the builders thought it was too late for concreting the work was left over until next spring. As a result, the temporary bridge, adjacent to the new structure, will have to be used until the time of completion.

EX-SENATOR DAVIS NINETY YEARS OLD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 15.—Although still a trifle weak from his recent illness, Henry Gassaway Davis, former United States Senator and in 1904 nominee for Vice President of the United States on the Democratic ticket, will celebrate tomorrow the 90th anniversary of his birthday with a fair prospect of being able to enjoy life for some years to come. His days of strenuous activity have passed, it is true, but the venerable senator is too active and energetic a man to allow himself to give up all work. He has retired from active political life and transferred the greater part of the work connected with the management of his numerous and important business interests to younger shoulders, but his mind is still active and clear and he still continues to superintend the various enterprises in which he is financially interested.

Henry Gassaway Davis was not born in the lap of wealth. He was born in Baltimore, November 16, 1823, as the son of poor parents. He was a boy in his teens when his father died, and he was forced to shift for himself and to help in supporting his mother. For a while he worked on a farm, but at the age of nineteen he obtained a position as a brakeman on a freight train on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. His work was so satisfactory that he was soon promoted to be freight conductor and afterwards passenger conductor. He was quick to realize the great possibilities of what was then Western Virginia. He foresaw its development and invested his savings in these rich lands. The outbreak of the Civil War found him a man of means. When the great conflict was at an end and West Virginia had become a separate commonwealth, Mr. Davis branched forth into still greater fields of effort. He became conspicuously identified with all the State's leading interests, in the production of coal, oil and timber, in railroad building, town building and a dozen or more enterprises of various kinds.

It was his mind that built the West Virginia Central and Pittsburgh Railroad. By opening up access to the coal and timber lands of the greatest value he sprang at once into an important position in West Virginia affairs. Public life finally brought him in contact with prominent men of wealth, and before he had left the United States Senate he had enlisted several of these men in great industrial enterprises. The town of Davis, in Tucker County, West Virginia, was named after him. He gave many practical proofs of his attachment for his Virginia, where he had lived at different times. He became the possessor of an enormous fortune and the most important man in West Virginia.

In the Democratic national convention of 1884 Senator Davis was one of the foremost candidates for Vice-President, and doubtless could have had the nomination, had he not refused it. He supported Thomas A. Hendricks, who was nominated, on the ticket with Cleveland and elected. In 1887 Mr. Davis was urged to accept the Democratic nomination for Governor, but declined. He was a delegate to seven of the national conventions of the Democratic party and in 1904 was nominated for Vice-President on the ticket with Judge Alton B. Parker. He was one of the United States delegates who formulated the scheme for bringing the republics of North, Central and South America together, which resulted in the Bureau of American Republics. He was also a delegate to the second international conference of American republics, held in the City of Mexico.

COUNTERFEIT FIFTY CENT PIECES AFLOAT

WESTVILLE, Nov. 14.—It would be well for those who haven't got more money than they can spare to take an extra look at their fifty cent pieces that come into their possession. Some of them are marked with a Newfoundland stamp it would be well to test them to see if they have the right gingle. There are counterfeit Newfoundland fifty cent pieces on the go and they are to all appearances exactly like the genuine ones. For the benefit of those who do not know it may be well to say that a genuine silver piece has a ring to it, while a counterfeit piece will fall with a thud like lead. This is a genuine test and nobody need fear who tries it when in doubt.

WINNIPEG, Man., November 14.—At the final meeting of the Presbyterian Synod held last night resolutions were passed urging the general assembly to action in the matter of Church union. It was pointed out by Rev. C. W. Gordon that religion in the west was being retarded by lack of union. The resolution also asked for a definite statement of the status of the churches already united.

Youth in Old Age

Possible With Proper Care.

A few generations back a man at 50 was considered old, gray-bearded, and waiting for death. Note the change today; at a meeting of the Medico-Legal society it was stated that a man of 50 ought to have seventy good years ahead of him and, thus at ninety he is in the fulness of maturity.

What if you have sixty, or even seventy birthdays—temperate habits, fresh air and exercise, with a simple diet and a sufficient amount of sleep will guard your health. If perchance, your circulation is poor, if you become run down—weak and no appetite—nothing in the world will tone up those tired, back-sliding organs—enrich the blood and create strength so quickly as our delicious cod liver and iron tonic Vinol.

Regain and Retain a beautiful head of hair—use Hays Hair Health. Restores natural color to Grey Hair. Removes dandruff—promotes a thick healthy growth. Is not a dye. Results guaranteed. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

McKee, and granddaughter of the late President Benjamin Harrison, and Mr. Kurt Reisinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Huga Reisinger, took place this afternoon in the Central Presbyterian Church. Owing to the recent death of Adolphus Busch, grandfather of the bridegroom, only relatives and intimate friends were invited to witness the ceremony. The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Lowry Gillett. Walter Reisinger attended his brother as best man.

FOR AVENGING HIS BLIND MOTHER

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Nov. 14.—"Jerry Justice" laid a hard hand on Thomas Baker today when he sent him to state prison for not less than fifteen years at hard labor because he could not see a man beat his blind mother until her face was wounded. Baker lived with Hudson Weber, his stepfather, and his mother at Burton's Landing. He was in the house on July 4 when Weber began to abuse his wife, who is sightless. She rose to leave the room, to be away from the abuse of her husband, when Weber struck her on the face with his clenched fist. She could not dodge the blow because she did not see it. As she reeled under the vicious blow her son saw that her face was injured.

Crazed with anger the young man got a shotgun, but found no cartridges. Running to the home of a neighbor, he borrowed two loaded shells, and when asked what he was going to do he replied:—"I'm going to kill a dog that has just bitten my poor old blind mother."

With tears in his eyes he ran back to his home, stepped in the doorway and discharged both barrels of the gun at his stepfather. They killed Weber almost instantly. Baker was dressing his mother's wound where her husband had struck her when the police arrived and arrested him.

When Baker was arraigned before Willard P. Voorhes, supreme court justice, today his counsel, Assemblyman Robert Peacock, entered a plea of not guilty. It was believed the circumstances would lead to the discharge of his client. But Justice Voorhes said that the young man should serve not less than fifteen years nor more than thirty years at hard labor.
