FISHERIES CONFERENCE SESSION YESTERDAY

Interesting and Informative Addresses by Mr. W F. Tidmarsh and Dr. Knight. Resolutions Adopted.

The afternoon session of the Fisheries Conference yesterday was a joint meeting composed of packers buyers and fishery officers. This meeting was held in Prince of Wales Assembly Room in order to accommodate the large number in attendance.

The first paper was by Mr W. F. Tidmarsh and dealt with technical problems such as the discoloration of canned meat. He pointed out that this was known forty years ago and has been the cause of serious loss to canners and fishermen. Contrary to the fact a number of canners have been saying recently that the loss has been small and unimportant. Mr Tidmarsh explained that year after year the Portland Packing Company has suffered greater or less loss from this cause, in one year the loss amounting to $20,000. He had himself sent many cases to the harbor and dumped them into the sea. He estimated that about fifty cents a case was the loss each year for Prince Edward Island at which figure the loss would amount to $75,000 a year, and it was possible that the estimate in some years would run as high as $3.00 a case which would mean a total loss of $300,000, or including the estimated minimum loss, a total of $375,000. These losses, he claimed could be prevented by the government establishing a model canning factory placing it in charge of a man scientifically and practically trained. This school, he suggested, should be run the year round, for some time at least and it should be used for training superintendents operatos and fishery officers; that they should be paid a sufficient wage to defray their expenses while in attendance, the students doing all the work and receiving scientific instruction from the superintendent so that they would have a scientific and practical knowledge of their calling. The canned products from this government owned factory, he said should be marketed in the principal countries to which lobsters are now exported and their quality should be guaranteed by a label bearing the statement that the goods were packed and their quality guaranteed by the government of Canada. He believed such a school would be almost self-supporting from the first.

Lastly he bore willing testimony to the efforts of the government during the last five or six years to improve the lobster industry.

After this the meeting adopted a resolution in favor of the government starting such a school and ordering that a copy of the resolution be sent to the federal government and to the members.

Another resolution expressed the concurrence of the meeting in Mr Tidmarsh's testimony to the good work done by the government during the last few years.

Dr A. P. Knight, chairman of the Biological Board of Canada, next addressed the meeting, outlining the natural history of bacteria. He first stated that bacteria were plant and that just as big plants required soil, warmth, moisture, and light in order to grow, so bacteria had to have these same requisites, the only difference being that in lobster canneries the soil on which they grew was meat. The warmth of the factory and the mosture gave them two other conditions on which to grow and it was their growth on the meat which deteriorated the quality of the pack. It the pack were to be good therefore, the bacteria with which the meat came in contact had to be killed and killed in the shortest possible time, because just as farm crops take nourishment from the soil and diminish its fertility, ultimately rendering it poor soil, so the growth of bacteria on lobster meat destroys the fine flavor and colour of the meat and renders it unfit for human food. There are, he said, only two ways of killing bacteria and the canner must study these ways and apply them to achieving cleanliness and sterilization in his packing. The one way is by applying chemicals, such as salt, mineral acids, amonia, and etc., but any one could see that if these or any of them were applied to lobster meat it would be destroyed or rendered unfit for consumption. The second method, therefore is the one the canner must use, namely, killing the bacteria with boiling water or steam. Warm water is utterly usless for this purpose.

Dr Knight concluded his address by asking the buyers and fishery inspectors not to prescribe special canning methods because in the past when the Department as well as the fishery officers and the buyers issued different instructions to the canners it is manifestly impossible for canners to adopt uriform methods and therefore impossible to get uniformity of pack Instructions to canners should come only from the 'Fisheries Department and if there is no scientific officer in Ottawa competent to advise the government as to the best methods then the Minister of Fisheries should call to his aid the best Sanitarians in the country.

After the afternoon session the members of the conference had their photograph taken by Mr J. A. S. Bayer in front of the college. There was no session in the evening.

Coral Islands

TOKIO Sept 20.—The question as to whether a coral island begins at the bottom and grows up or starts at the top and grows down, is taking Professor William Herbert Hobbs, head of the department of geology of the University of Michigan, to a little island in the South Seas. Professor Hobbs arrived in Japan recently, adn after conferences with a number of prominent Japanese ad foreigners, eft for the Caroline Islands.

The controversy over the manner of the growth of coral islands was once settled, as was the question of the origin of man, by the distinguished scientist, Charles Darwin. Darwin's theory, unscientifically stated, is that ages ago the marine ployps which secrete the substance which forms coral began work about a mountain which rose fro mthe sea. As the mountain sank gradually into the sea the coral was built up, leving a string of voral islnds in the form of the atoll seen now in the South Seas. Recently Professor James T. Daley, of Harvard, controverted this accepted theory and contended that the coral-producing polyps began at the surface and worked down.

Professor Hobbs has come all the way from the United States in the hope of settling the question and finding the facts as to the origin of the peculiar islands. He believes as a result of long investigation that a little island in the Caroline group, called Ant Island, ave miles south of Ponpe, hods the secret.

NEW MEIGHEN CABINET SWORN IN YESTERDAY

Ontario has Eight Ministers; Quebec Four; Nova Scotia Two; New Brunswick One; B.C. 2; Alberta 2; Sask. and Man. One Each.

(Special to The Guardian.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—At the early hour of 8.30 this morning the new members of the reconstructed Meighen cabinet filed into the Governor General's office and were duly sworn i by His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy. With them went the Premier together with those of his former colleagues who have elected to remain. Apart from a few surprises on the slate probably the most notable feature of the ceremony was the presence for the first time in several years swearing in of several French Canadian ministers. No fewer than three portfolics have been captured by the province without including the portfolio of Marine and Fisheries still retained by C. C. Ballantyne. The position of Solicitor General has not yet been filled but the Premier intimated today that it also would go to Quebec. The three new Quebec ministers are Dr. L. P. Normand, Mayor of Three Rivers who becomes President of the Privy Council in place of J. A. Calder, retired Rodolph E. Monty, Barrister of Montreal who becomes Secretary of State and L. De G. Belley, Conservative member for Chicoutimi from 1892-96 and since practising barrister who succeeds P. E. Blondin as Postmaster General. Dr. Normand will oppose Hon. Jacques Bureau in Three Rivers. Mr. Monty will run in Hochelaga, but it is not decided yet where Mr. Belley will stand for election. Among the surprises in the new cabinet shake up is the retirement of C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice since 1911 and the succession to the position of R. B. Bennett, former M. P. for Calgary. It had been taken for granted that when Mr. Doherty declined nomination for the International Court of Justice he had decided to run again as minister. The Premier stated this morning that he would receive a position of some sort later.

The Prime Minister announced his new cabinet shortly after nine o'clock this morning as the members f the cabinet filed out of the Governor General's office where the swearing in had taken place. The cabinet as announced by Mr. Meighen was as follows:

Prime Minister and Secretary of the Exterior, Hon Arthur Meighen.

Railways and Canals, J. A. Stewart (new).

Trade and Commerce H. H. Stevens (new.)

Justice R. B. Bennett (new.)

Postmaster General L. G. Belley, K. C., (new.)

Secretary of State, Rodolphe Monty K. C. (new.)

Health, immigration and Colonization, Dr. P. V. Edwards (new.)

Soldiers Service Re-establishment Dr. P. J. Manion (new.)

Customs and Inland Revenue, J. B. Bazter (new.)

Public Works, F. B. McCurdy.

Finance, Sir Henry Drayton.

President of the Privy Council L G. Normand (new.)

Agriculture, Dr. Tolmie.

Labour, Senator Robertson.

Marine and Naval Affairs, C. C. Ballantyne,

Militia, Hugh Guthrie.

Interior, Sir John Lougheed.

Without portfolio, E. K. Spinney. Sir Edward Kemp, J. S. Wilson and Edward Bristol.

No appointment has been made of Soliciter General. It is believed Hector McInnis is slated for this position.

By provinces the ministers are divided as follows: Ontario 8; Quebec 4; Nova Scotia 2; New Brunswick 1; British Columbia 2; Alberta 2; Saskatchewan and Manitoba one each. Of the 18 portfolios no fewer than six go to Ontario, 4 to Quebec one to Nova Scotia, one to New Brunswick, two to British Columbia, two to Alberta, one to Manitoba and none at all to Saskatchewan, that province's representative, James Wilson, of Saskatoon being without portfolio.

The Mae Edwards Players At The Prince Edward Next Week

Miss Mae Edwards and her splendid company will open her annual engagement at the Prince Edward Theatre Monday evening, Sept. 26 and will be with us for one solid week, "FAIR WEEK," with the very latest offering of dramatic plays from Broadway. Miss Edwards for the coming season has been very fortunate in securing the big International Hit "The Awakening of "Deane Klyne" a play with a beautiful story of the present hour, dealing with the labor question, with a wonderful vein of comedy running throughout the play. Miss Edwards has surrounded herself with the best acting cast she has had in years, while the vaudeville end of the show is alone worth the price of admission. Last season on THE MAE EDWARDS JAZZ ORCHESTRA was a HIT everywhere, and naturally this season with "BILL" Otis at the wheel the orchestra has improved fully 50 per cent making the Mae Edwards Players the best dramatic show on the road without a doubt.

Seat Sale opens Friday morning at 10 a. m. at The Box Office.

Widespread Liquor Smuggling Along Coast

HALIFAX, Sept. 20—With the adjournment today on account of the accuseds' physical condition, of the case of William Meyer, charged with having in his possession liquor for sale, and also of the cases against Richard Burbidge and Joseph Roberts, facing similar charges there were no developments of importance tonight in the situation arising out of the seizure Friday night of $40,000 worth of liquor on Dobbree's wharf, Dartmouth.

Rumors persist that Friday's seizure laid bare part of a widespread liquor smuggling system, with ramifications along the southern Nova Scotia coast and from Cape Breton to Northern New Brunswick. The base of supply is alleged to be St. Pierre, Miquelon. These rumors also suggest that men "higher up" in Halifax and Dartmouth will be revealed as having been concerned in the alleged attempt to smuggle $40,000 worth of liquor into these two ports.

The customs guard was tonight taken off the steamer Mary Smith which left Dobbree's Wharf when the custom's officers made the seizure of the liquor, returning today.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet liner Chignecto remains under detention by the Customs Department following the finding of liquor in the quarters of the colored crew on Monday night. The local customs ave named a fine of $400 against the steamer for carrying liquor not on her manifest but final decision in the case awaits word from the department at Ottawa, to which a report has been sent.

WEST PRINCE FARMERS TO CONTEST ELECTION

Meeting Held at O'Leary Yesterday Decides to Hold Convention to Nominate Farmer Candidate.

At a meeting of United Farmers of Prince County, held yesterday at O'Leary, a resolution was carried, after much heated discussion to the effect that a farmer candidate be nominated to contest the forthcoming federal election.

Mr. Horace Wright, President of the United Farmers of P.E. Island, occupied the chair.

There was a large attendance and many arguments for and against the advisability of placing a candidate in the field were put forward. Messrs. Murray Gordon Hugh Bryan and others opposed the proposed nomination but the majority of opinion went the other way.

Heated words were exchanged between Mr. Gordon and Mr. Stanford Phillips, president of the United Farmers for the O'Leary district, who denounced the action of the Liberal party machine at Summerside in extending the nomination to Hon. McKenzie King over the heads of local men.

Mr. Geo. Eills and others expressed themselves strongly along the same line.

The action of the Summerside Liberal faction was denounced as high-handed and unwarrantable and an insult to the intelligence of the farmers of Prince County.

It was decided to hold a convention at Charlottetown about the first of next month for the nomination of a candidate.
