MacDonald Has Confidence

Interest is now concentrated on what schemes are likely to be proposed for the first step toward a final settlement of the outstanding questions between this country and Russia has been taken in the official recognition of the Soviet government by Britain. There has also been an exchange of parliamentary courtesies between the Prime Minister and Premier Poincaré and yet the Labor government is only a fortnight old. Members of this government are men and women who are said to be unfit to govern according to the loud proclamations of their political opponents. British history affords no parallel to a new and supposed dread government attaining office and such a short time not only stirring the imagination of the people but deservedly securing the confidence of the nation as a whole and becoming the object of admiration of foreign nations and governments. All this is a good omen beginning and the new government has at any rate been accorded fair play in its initial stage.

It is generally recognized that our relations with France in regard to a settlement of the awkward war issues form the most difficult task of the Prime Minister. In the international sphere Lloyd George, the late Bonar Law and more recently still Baldwin all came to grief in the efforts to disentangle the mixed threads of Central European affairs.

Premier MacDonald it is true has not yet succeeded where his predecessors failed but has certainly made a promising start.

PRESENTATION TO COMMISSIONER J. A. McDONALD

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome gold headed cane to Mr. Jas. A. MacDonald, the Dean of Water Commissioners, who is this term retiring from civic duties. The presentation was made on behalf of the Water and Sewers Department and staff by Commissioner John McKenna. Brief remarks followed by Commissioner J. A. Webster, His Worship the Mayor and Councillors, Hon. Dr. McMillan, Dr. Johnson and Mr. Jas. A. McMillan of the Water and Sewers Department.

Mr. MacDonald, who was very much touched by the kind sentiment which had inspired the gift, and by the words of appreciation accompanying it gave a genial address in reply. He referred to the great controversy which had taken place when the installation of the Water Works had been proposed and the opposition which the movement had encountered. Mr. MacDonald's name as a staunch supporter of the project is well remembered by citizens and in this way he has been connected with the system since its inauguration. As Commissioner he has served the city faithfully and well for twelve years. Commenting upon his lengthy experience in public office he referred warmly to the cordial relations which had existed between himself and his fellow-commissioners and staff.

Yesterday being the birthday of Coun. Ratray, who has the honor of having had the longest service on the Council Board, he was called upon by His Worship for a few remarks, which were received with applause.

Coun. Pierce and Coun. Connors, the retiring members of the Council, were also called upon. Appreciative remarks on behalf of the staff of the Water and Sewers Department were made to His Worship by Mr. Jas. A. MacMillan and on behalf of the Fire Department by Fire Chief Ronaghan.

A hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Jenkins and Miss Jenkins for an excellent refreshments provided during the evening was passed, to which Mrs. Jenkins fittingly replied.

The singing of God Save the King brought to a close a most enjoyable evening.

al had considered Bowen's alleged offence and condemned him to ten strokes of the whip, but it is added that he probably received "many more than that" for which Bowen is alleged to have been whipped. Bowen's remarks were made at a church meeting concerning the difficulty of living a Christian life amid military surroundings. The tale-bearer who carried the story of Bowen's remarks, it is said, made it appear that he was speaking directly of Stanley Barracks, and his own comrades. This Bowen denied. Bowen's remarks were made at a Baptist church meeting concerning the difficulty of living a Christian life amid military surroundings and with drinking and gambling going on about him.

Bowen's version is that he was speaking more of his experiences with the American army of occupation in the Rhine district after the war closed.

Colonel Gilman, O. C., at the barracks has probed the matter and mandated out the following sentences: "The only N. C. O. involved a young Lance Corporal, who knew of the affair, and tried to stop the beating, but did not report it to his superior promptly, is reduced to the ranks."

One man who admits wielding the whip on Bowen gets 28 days detention at hard labor and loses 28 days' pay $47.80.

Four men who admit being present at the court martial, drew 14 days' detention at hard labor and lose 14 days' pay, $23.80. Three other men are being investigated, and though they deny having an actual hand in the beating it is expected that enough evidence will be forthcoming to establish their guilt and they may be cast out of the army altogether.

Bowen is still in the hospital and it will be some days before his wounds are healed.

The Fraser Mitchell Case

that Government stopped his salary. Mitchell continued as Emigration Agent for P. E. I. until dismissed on September 29th. He took offices in the Haymarket and supplied himself with notepaper bearing the arms of the Government of P. E. I. The name paper Counters though he would hardly be entitled to use. No ambassador could have used finer notepaper than he did. He advertised a scheme for settling Ex-officers and others who applied in P. E. I. holding out to them that this land was Government land and that he was authorized by the Government of P. E. I. to sell the land. He informed people that the scheme for farming was a Government scheme and made other representations. Ex-officers and civilians thinking that it was a Government scheme thought it would be perfectly safe to invest.

Several parted with large sums of money. In addition to Captain Quin two other officers were defrauded. One went out to P. E. I. and gave evidence before a Government Commission appointed to investigate the scheme. He as a result returned to the country and was now available as a witness in the case.

The Magistrate, "What became of the money?"

Mr. Halford Knight: "A large part of it was sent to Canada to certain public men for the purpose of the scheme, and they have it."

Mr. Knight: "If they raise the question of what became of the money and shall ask for an order for this gentleman's banking account. There is no doubt on my evidence that the representation was that it was Government land."

Mr. Knight: "I have the passport for you. I desire to meet this in every way."

Captain Richard Benchmans Quin, giving evidence stated that he resided in Ireland. He had been a Captain in the Indian Army and left the army in August, 1922. From that time he had been looking out for employment. He received a circular from the defendant but did not keep it. A couple of weeks later he received a further circular. He wrote a letter to the defendant and said he would call on him. That was on July 20. He called at an address in Haymarket, but did not see him until the middle of September that he saw Mitchell. He then asked the latter for details of the scheme. Mitchell gave him the details stating that he was the accredited agent of the Government of Prince Edward Island. The scheme was for breeding silver foxes and other animals, which were settled on the land for this purpose which purpose was very lucrative. It was a Government scheme and he (Mitchell) was the agent of the Government.

Mitchell proposed to sell four acres of this land for $1,000. If he (witness) bought the land the Government would erect a bungalow at cost price $1150. Mitchell said it was the best land available in P. E. I., and that the cost of living on the island was exceedingly cheap. A plan was drawn out of the office at the various plots of land available. The land in question was near Charlottetown. On this information the witness thought over the matter and went back to Mitchell a couple of days later when he had a further talk with Bowen as to the matter. On another occasion he had luncheon with Mitchell when the latter said that the government of P. E. I. was trying to get men of the right type. He was carrying out the scheme as their agent.

On September 26 the witness paid the money by means of two cheques for $1150 and $1000 for the land and the house respectively. Mitchell gave him a receipt with the coat of arms of Prince Edward Island on the paper and signed "Andrew Fraser Mitchell" for the Government of Prince Edward Island.

Had he known that this was not a Government scheme or Government land or that Mitchell was not a Government agent for the purpose he (witness) would not have put any money into the scheme.

Cross examined, witness said he had retired with a sum of money from the Indian Government and was looking for an investment. When he came into contact with Mitchell on the second occasion he knew he was dealing with a representative of the Government of Prince Edward Island. He did not remember the defendant's authority to act on behalf of the Government of P. E. I. (Authority represented by a document bearing the official seal.)

Counsel handed witness another document, defendant's authority to act as Immigration Officer. Witness however, said that he did not remember seeing this. He was influenced by what the defendant said and was satisfied that he was dealing with an official of the Government. The land was certainly represented to him as being the land of the Government of P. E. I. (Witness has never heard that this was land provided by certain people, and not by the Government. There was mention of the name of Mr. Sinclair, a member of the Dominion Cabinet, and of the Premier of P. E. I. in connection with the scheme, but witness regarded this as natural, seeing that this was a Government scheme.)

Re-examined, witness said that he had never had the land or any title to the land. Later he saw his solicitors and subsequently took proceedings. He never got his money back, although his solicitors made enquiries. His never saw Mitchell again after his suspicions had been excited that the whole thing was "a frost."

The hearing was adjourned at this stage until the following Saturday, February 2nd.

"St. Elmo" Repeats Triumph in Form of Photo Drama

WILLIAM FOX MOTION PICTURE VERSION RETAINS ROMANCE AND POWER OF BOOK WITH ADDED CHARM

The protoplasm, "St. Elmo," a William Fox screen version of Augusta J. Evans' novel of that name, which opened last night at the Prince Edward Theatre for a two day run, is one of the most interesting romantic productions seen on the silver sheet for many a day. Perhaps one reason for this is that John Gilbert plays the impassioned title role with that sincerity and dynamic intensity characteristic of his work. Another reason, of course, is that it is the first time Augusta J. Evans' widely read novel has been screened.

The story—do you recall it?—has to do with the harsh change in St. Elmo's character when he finds the woman who has promised to marry him in the arms of his best friend, and of them plotting his own ruin. This is a tense moment. From this throbbing situation the story races with dramatic intrigue to a gripping climax.

The director, Jerome Storm, has handled the story with commendable delicacy and an eye for detail. John Gilbert excels himself as St. Elmo. His character delineation rings true at all times. He has invested his role with a sympathetic appeal and a romantic glamour that scores for him an individual triumph.

Barbara La Marr, as Agnes Hunt the girl who so nearly ruins his life, is splendid, and so is Essie Love as the girl who restores his faith and love. Others in the cast include Warren Baxter, Nigel De Bruller and Lydia Knott. If you enjoy a dramatic romance, don't miss this feature. Last showing today.

Ford as "Fiddler" at Dance Party

(Canadian Press)

SUDBURY, Mass., Feb. 11.—Apparently as eager as a boy for what he termed a "real old-fashioned New England party," Henry Ford with Mrs. Ford and a little party of friends, arrived at Wayside Inn Friday night. The old hostelry, made famous by Longfellow, has been purchased by Ford to preserve it as a New England shrine. A little after his arrival Ford was playing a fiddle, jolly with the girls and "calling off" for some of the old country dances, now all but forgotten, and while someone played an old-time air, while Mrs. Ford beat time, he danced a jig, firmly and with evident enjoyment.

The Inn radiated the atmosphere of older New England. Lights gleamed from the windows across snow-covered fields and the faint tinkle of sleigh bells added to the old-time touch. Within was a typical New England dinner and later, after Mr. Ford had fiddled and the party had danced, they played old games, "tucker" and "pass in the corner" and "drop the handkerchief."

Ladies! Darken Your Gray Hair

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Bridal Garters And Bouquets

(By Dominion News Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 10.—At a "fashionable" wedding the other day, an innovation was made by the bride. She threw her bouquet of lilies amongst the bridesmaids at the wedding reception, and the girl who caught it was, according to the superstition, supposed to be the next bride-to-be.

This is used at smart weddings in certain parts of South Africa, notably in Johannesburg, where, it seems, more pretty society girls get married, than in any other part of that "land of sunshine." There, however, the little ceremony (for such it is almost regarded to be), takes place just before the bride retires to change her gown before leaving for her wedding tour.

Your doctor advises internal cleanliness

HE will tell you that the first results of constipation—headache, sleepless nights, biliousness, backache, etc.—warn that the body is flooded with intestinal poisons. In time, these poisons may cause the breakdown of health and lead to serious disease. In constipation, say intestinal specialists, lies the primary cause of more than three-quarters of all illness including the gravest diseases of life.

Hence, doctors urge internal cleanliness—regular and thorough removal of food waste from the body.

Laxatives Aggravate Constipation. Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favor Lubrication. Medical science, through knowledge of the intestinal tract gained by X-ray observation, has found at last a lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage out of the body. Thus Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Not a Medicine. Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water it is harmless.

Get rid of constipation and avoid disease by adopting the habit of internal cleanliness. Take Nujol as regularly as you brush your teeth or wash your face. For sale by all druggists.
