CHARLOTTETOWN AND QUEEN'S COUNTY

It pays to buy in this province.

All should attend the skate in the Arena this evening. Music by the 4th Regiment band.

John Haley, Waterside, left on the special to Georgetown last night. He is going to Moosejaw, Sask., where he intends to locate.

H. Craswell, Treasurer of the P.E. Island Orphanage, Mt. Herbert, acknowledges with thanks the following sum $100.00 as a donation from L.O.L. No. 1366, Clyde River, proceeds of social.

The death occurred at Vernon River Bridge, on Sunday, the 2nd. inst, of Thomas Enman, at the advanced age of four score years and six. The late Mr. Enman was a life-long resident of Vernon River, where he followed, and successfully, his occupation as a farmer. His wife predeceased him several years, ago and there are left to mourn a family of two daughters and one son. The former are Mrs. James K. McGougan, of Malpeque, and Mrs George, F. Roberts, of Dorchester, Mass, and the latter, Osbert Enman, on the homestead. To the bereaved the Guardian extends its respectful sympathy.

The following additional particulars have been received of the death of Harry Prowse, son of the late Joseph Prowse of York which occurred in Carbon, Alberta, some time ago. Mr. Prowse had been ill since last January with anemia and his death at the age of forty-nine years is deeply lamented by a large circle of relatives and friends. Besides a loving wife and four children, two sons and two daughters, the youngest being only eight months old, there are left to mourn four brothers, two in this Province, one in Sydney and one in Saskatoon and two sisters in this City, who have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends. The late Mr. Prowse before his removal west was a first class blacksmith and carried on business in York.

Quite a serious accident occurred on the mail special yesterday forenoon coming from Georgetown to the city. When the train was running to Mt. Stewart, about a mile east of that place, baggage car No. 57, jumped the track and after proceeding a short distance was thrown upon its side alongside the track, badly damaged. The rest of the train remained upon the track. As soon as the station was notified a wrecking train was sent to the spot taking another truck for the damaged baggage car, which was completely unfit for further service. Nobody was injured and the passengers later reached Mt Stewart where they were transferred to the extra passenger cars taken out by the wrecking train and brought into the city together with the mails. Conductor Hibbett, who was in charge of the train at the time cannot account for the accident. The track is only slightly damaged, a few sleepers being broken.

Flag Day will be April 15th.

At the Arena Alleys tonight, the 4th Regiment will play the newspaper team. The game will start at 7.15 sharp.

Artemas R. Casford, Brackley Pt, and Harry R. Moore, Milton, were passengers on the mail special last night, en route to Regina.

The body of the late Norman McLeod, a tailor belonging to Montague who died recently in Newcastle, was forwarded to this Province on the Minto yesterday.

Louis McLeod, city, and his father, G. S. McLeod, Hunter River, were among the passengers to Georgetown on the mail special last night, en route to Quebec where the former has secured a position in a bank.

The city lodges of Oddfellows intend paying a fraternal visit to the members of Prince Edward Lodge of Summerside, on Thursday evening, the 13th inst. A special train will leave the city at 3.30 p. m. to convey the visitors to Summerside.

Notwithstanding the bad weather of last evening, the People's Theatre played to appreciative houses, and the photo plays were excellent. The Neighboring Kingdoms and Tag Day at Silver Gulch were the new subjects for the evening, each being splendid in its way. Tag Day was a western story, and it lacked none of the thrilling situations which these stories show so well. Comedy was supplied by His Wife's Sweethearts—and the various situations of the poor husband were irresistably funny. Emery F. White sang "Just tell me" and "Love's old Sweet Song." The first, a light, sweet ballad, catchy in rythm was replaced with Kathleen Mavoureen for the second show, at the request of many patrons, and both were superbly rendered. In "Love's Old Sweet Song," the singers' grand voice was shown in its rich completeness—and every word was heard, sweet and resonant, the beauty of the song and its magnificent rendition appealing to all who listened. Mr. White's singing is something that will long be remembered, and marks an epoch in the history of the most popular amusement place in the city.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE ASSEMBLY YESTERDAY

people know that cold storage has been a benefit and has given them better prices for their lambs and mutton, also their eggs. He read a statement from one farmer who had stored some $600 worth of eggs and cleared $100 on the transaction. As to education, he did not believe our school system had gone to seed altogether as had been stated. The Superintendent's report showed that good work is being done, the standards being raised, and in some respects better results obtained than ever before. He hoped for still further improvement. He believed a great mistake was made when the Conservatives repealed the assessment act. Before that there were few deficits, and since then there had been a long succession of deficits. The government were most desirous to improve the educational system, but had not the money to do it, unless the people would put their hands in their pockets and help to pay the teachers' salaries. The Opposition discouraged the people from doing this and contended there should be no taxation. And yet it was a hopeful sympton to find the country districts increasing the supplements He believed that when any improvement in education shall come it will be from a Liberal government. (Cheer.)

MR. MCKINNON referred to a statement of a member of the government that we had nearly a million dollars to our credit "placed there by the Liberal government." A mere schoolboy must know better than that. Another member had said the roads were in better condition than ever before. This was absurdly intrue. Another member on that side congratulated the Premier on his favorable financial statement. Surely it could not be very favorable when, after all the new and heavy taxes, there is still an admitted deficit of $31,000. Mr. Crosby had said the people would endorse the government. He (Mr. McKinnon) thought the government feared rather than trusted the people. Else why did they always bring on the provincial just after the federal election? As to the readjustment of farm lands, he recalled that when the land taxes were first laid on the Opposition had claimed the system was faulty and would not work equitably. That proved to be the case. Year after year the Opposition had contended for an honest valuation. It was charged that the Opposition were opposed to a revaluation. That was not true. They had contended that the lands should be properly valued under the old act. The government took another course, appionted a lot of new officials and expended $3,000 to get but $8,000, where the Premier had said they should get $20,000. And still the taxes are not equalized. It was admitted that some are overrated and others not yet paying what they ought to. Another matter was that the Opposition contended that if the land tax were to be adjusted, the income tax should at the same time be made reasonably equal and just. It was more unequal, especially in its administration, than the land tax. He proceeded to review cold storage. A lot more money was spent in Charlottetown and less in the country, and the whole cry of the government was that the people must put their hands in their pockets and pay more. How much of the new land taxes went for education? Not one dollar. The people by petition, had said they were willing to pay more but when they did pay more the schools got no benefit. He charged that the Premier as a leader was a man who could not lead.

HON. Mr. McMILLAN began with some reference to the election in Second Queens which he claimed was a victory for the government against the most desperate efforts of the Opposition. They ask why the government does not collect our claims at Ottawa. Yet the Conservatives were in power here and at Ottawa for 15 years and they did not get a dollar in payment of claims. He believed that when the government again appealed to the country they would be endorsed. There was no comparison between what the two parties had received from the Dominion. As to the roads they were often in bad order in a wet fall. He thought we should get more money from Ottawa when the north territory is handed over to Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. He called attention to the first-rate condition of the public buildings. Soon we shall have a new jail and new bridges. The Experimental Farm ought to be a boon to agriculture. He defended the outlay on Government House, which was now a creditable place. Those who attended the dinner last night were proud of it. He held that the country was abundantly satisfied with cold storage. After another election he thought the government would still be doing business at the old stand. (Cheer.)

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House resumed its sitting at 3.42.

HON. MR. CUMMISKEY and the Premier tabled additional returns.

MR. DOBIE resumed the debate on the amendment to the motion to go into committee of supply. He claimed that the Opposition represented more than half the people of the Province, and it was their duty to take a fair share in the discussions. The Premier had said the revenue of the Province was not sufficient to provide for the public services. That meant that money must be borrowed and the people must pay an added burden of interest. The Opposition were unwilling to go on in this way. They believed that money had been improperly expended and wasted. They believed that if proper effort had been made to collect our claims the added burdens of last year need not have been laid on. There were rich men who were not paying income tax, or were paying far less than the law called for. The Opposition had been almost refused information as to the income tax, who were paying and who were not, until they insisted and got the information at their own cost for themselves and the people. The farmers had not been fairly dealt with in this matter. Another point was that money was expended by the Government every year which had not been voted according to law. It had cost a great sum to make the readjustment of valuations. The expenditure on Government House was very large and should not have been made without a vote of the House. The prices paid for shingles and room paper were extravagant and ought not to have been paid. The Government were wasting the substance of the people. He was glad that some immigrants of a good class were coming to the country, but he did not think the funds of the Province should be used to pay what was properly chargeable to the Dominion. We were not required to board these people at first class hotels. The settlers wanted here should be of some means and able to pay their own way. He objected to the charge for literature circulated in England and other expenses. Some people in this country felt very strongly on this subject. Coming to transportation he claimed that this Province had been neglected as compared with every other part of Canada. A reasonable and proper motion on this subject had been voted down by the Government majority last year. He contended that the Opposition had not opposed cold storage but had called for more complete cold storage at Georgetown, Summerside and on the cars and steamers. The cold storage in Charlottetown had been practically filled by Davis and Fraser to the exclusion of other patrons, as he had been informed. The farmers did not get the accommodation they required. The Opposition by their amendment last year sought to protect the public interest, but were voted down. He was informed that the rates were high. Our transportation rates were unsatisfactory. There were no roads more used than the western roads and none were in worse order. He cited the road from Wellington to Miscouche as in a most unfit condition. The people who had to use this and other roads suffered and complained loudly. There were ferries and wharves not in as good condition as they were fifty years ago. The Grand River ferry would be a good paying ferry if put in order. As it is very few use it. People were forced to take a long round-about course. He claimed that the bridges in the west were as bad as the roads. He complained that other bridges were neglected while $10,000 a year was paid for the carriage way across the Hillsboro at Charlottetown, this year to be increased by many thousands more for new planking. The Government did not want to hear the truth and were as ready as the old Family Compact in Nova Scotia to raise the cry of libel. But the friends of the people would yet triumph here as Jos. Howe had triumphed there. (Cheers.)

MR. COX followed. He said he wished to be fair, but could not think the Opposition contentions were correct. If it could be made to appear that debt is a million dollars, he would admit it, but it had not been and could not be proved. It was not good to be in debt. He claimed that the Conservative party were responsible for $549,000 of the debt. For this there were no assets, he said. He admitted that the Liberals were responsible for part of the debt, but they had assets to show for it. Steamer Hillsboro, $15,000, P. W. College $36,000, the Infirmary, the Hospital for the Insane, the Summerside Jail, concrete culverts, walks and steel bridges were among the assets which he claimed represented a value of $259,625. This left only some $68,000 not accounted for by assets. Then the Government had got from the Dominion $100,000 more in subsidy. He was ready to give the Opposition due credit if they could show any good live assets for their share of the debt. They said the Government had no right to go into debt. How else could the money for necessary works and buildings be obtained? He had no liking for debt, but he thought it fair and good finance to borrow the money on debentures and pay it back by a sinking fund in 30 years. He hoped yet we should get our claims from Ottawa and then be able to sweep away the taxes. He thought the jail site bargain was all right. He thought the Georgetown jail might be closed and the few prisoners from King's County, where the people are very good, could be brought here by rail. The Opposition found fault, but would not tell how they could do better. They must tell the people what they would do or the people won't let them in. (Laughter). He held that cold storage is a splendid thing. The Government had done their part in providing it. He would like to see cold storage in Georgetown for the fishermen. He said, in reply to Mr. Mathieson, that he thought the Opposition resolution of last year was a good thing, although he had voted against it because no company would take it up. As to P. W. College, it was a good thing and must be kept up. It would cost much more to send our young people to Sackville, Halifax or Windsor. As to the appointments of Judges and Senators this Government had no power, and had probably done what they could to have the vacancies filled. On Government House the Conservatives had spent about a hundred dollars a year—$908 to $834—more than the Liberals. Now they were complaining. He thought it small politics to object to the mileage of members of the Government. He was prepared to do away with passes for all members of the House except in session time. After many humorous sallies which kept the House in good humor and frequent laughter, he concluded the Government of the day was about as good as we could get.

MR. KENNEDY, Kensington, followed contending that many items of account had been carried over from 1908 and 1909, although such transactions had been denied by the Premier. He claimed that this was done to conceal the payments from the Opposition and the country. The shingles for Government House were stated in the return submitted to the House to be 85,000 at $6 per thousand. If that included nailing on the shingles, it was not so stated in the return. There were 300 yards carpeting, some of it at $1.50 per yard. Paper and hardware were at equally extravagant prices. It was a lame excuse to say that the accounts had not been received. Accounts were kept back two or three years and then paid without checking and without taking receipts. He repeated his charges against the Storage Company briefly in conclusion.

HON. MR. CUMMISKEY congratulated himself that fewer charges than in former years had been made against his department. He had furnished full explanations as to how the money was expended. Not a dollar had been misappropriated, or was not accounted for so far as he knew. He told the well known story—"Off again, on again, gone again, Finnegan," and applied it to the member for Kensington, at which story the Opposition resolutely refused to laugh. The Commissioner proceeded to explain at some length about accounts that were not presented within the year. He said this old straw had been threshed over from year to year till it was rotten. Coming to the roads he contrasted the present system with that in vogue in Conservative days. He claimed the old statute labor cost about twice as much in labor and money as the present system and did not produce so good results. The road machine did more work in one day than a hundred men in the old days. Thus money was saved and the country got good roads. They used the same machines as were used in Ontario where they had similar soil. He (the Commissioner) had visited the United States and they used the same machines there. He also passed through New Brunswick and while they had better soil for roads they were not so good as in this Province. Nor were the Nova Scotia roads so good, although the taxes were far higher than here. He quoted the Nova Scotia statute fixing the road tax at not less than 30 cents nor more than 50 cents on the hundred dollars value of property.

Mr. Cummiskey had the floor at recess.

EVENING SESSION.

HON. MR. CUMMISKEY resumed his speech at 8.40, reciting how the department directed and controlled the road business, and told of his visit to Ontario to get information about road-making, and how he got moulds for the making of concrete culverts, so many of which had since been placed in the roads. He was very sorry they had not five times as many. They had stood the test remarkably well and effected a great saving. They also made an even road-bed, and kept their place when the frost was going out. He claimed credit to the Government for these

"Bronchitis"

This is an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air tubes in the lungs.

The disease begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness, and there is a dry, harsh, croupy cough.

After a few days mucous begins to be raised. This is at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color and is occasionally streaked with blood.

Cure the first symptoms of Bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and thus prevent it becoming chronic and perhaps turning to Consumption.

Mrs. D. J. McCormack, Cleveland, N.S., writes: "My little boy, two years old, caught a bad cold which developed into Bronchitis. He was so choked up he could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I decided to try a bottle, and with such good result I got another which completely cured him, without having a doctor. I cannot say too much in its praise and would not be without it in the house as I consider it a sure cure for Colds and Bronchitis.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.
