...It pays to buy in this Province.

...Howard Martin, of Dundas, has just left, after a visit of several months to the old homestead after an absence of some thirteen years. Starting for the far North (for the Klondike in the big rush of 1898,) he worked years in Klondike mines and also at Cape Nome and was very successful in mining operations. He goes to New York to meet the Sup. of the Mines in Arizona, where a large company own noted Copper Mines. The Guardian notes with pleasure the success of Island boys — they hold their own anywhere. And Howard Martin has a host of friends that wishes him well. "Happy to meet, sorry to part, But hoping to meet again."—Com.

...The Methodist Parsonage, Mt. Stewart, was the scene of a most pleasing and interesting event on the afternoon of Oct. 12, when Miss Eliza Ellen McCallum, of Dunstaffnage, was united in marriage to James Frederick of Marshfield, by the Rev Ernest S. Weeks, B.A., B.D. The bride was er becomingly attired in a handsome uit of brown broadcloth, and wore picture hat of cream colored felt ith trimmings of velvet and feather ornaments of the same shade. She was attended by her sister, Miss Matilda McCallum, who wore a stylish suit of navy blue broadcloth with picture hat to match. The groom was supported by Maxwell McKinnon of Pownal. After the ceremony, the bridal party, accompanied by a number of their young friends, drove to the home of the bride's parents, Lauchlin and Mrs McCallum where a large number of friends awaited them. The happy couple with their guests then sat down to a table handsomely decorated and most bountifully spread. After supper the company were very pleasantly entertained by music played on the organ by Miss McKinnon of Pownal and Miss Florrie Scott of Marshfield. The large number of handsome and valuable gifts displayed testified to the esteem in which the bride and groom were held, and included, besides cheques, useful nd ornamental articles of silver, glass, china, linen, and furniture. On the following day Mr and Mrs Stewart drove to their future home in Marshfield, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends, for a long, happ and prosperous journey through life.

thing more than carrying out the doctrine of "Fraternity." Get busy. Help some of your friends.

Your friends need your support.

Now is the time to give them that support.

They want to be winners.

Votes will make them winners.

From this time on the contest will be lively; it is now anybody's race. The first may be last and the last may be first. All have an equal opportunity. Some may have a larger army of friends working for them than others. That is their good fortune. But after all it is a matter of hustle.

The race will be to the candidate who works.

There are no sure things in this contest. The cinch is for the one who makes up her mind that the trips and prizes are not to be won until the final vote is counted and that every day is the time for untiring hustle for votes.

No aspirant for a political office was ever more busily engaged in lining up his friends for a coming election than are the candidates in this great popularity contest.

Whether or not you or your friends desire to become candidates, complete information concerning the contest will be given upon your request.

The Contest Department of The Guardian will remain open each evening this week from seven to eight o'clock, in order to give the contestants an opportunity of calling in and discussing the rules and conditions of the contest.

OLD QUEBEC BRIDGE IRON AND STEEL SOLD.

QUEBEC, Oct. 26.—An important deal has just been consummated by which J. G. Kilt, of Ottawa, has acquired all the damaged iron and steel work of the demolished Quebec bridge.

Mr. Kilt, who has been in Quebec for a few days, brought the transaction to a close with the Koenig Company, which has a contract for removal of the scrap. The amount paid for the steel work is said to be more than $100,000, the whole amount already removed and that still to be removed from the river being purchased at so much a ton.

Mr. Kilt has already turned over his purchase at a large profit, it is said, and will begin shipping the metal to Montreal, Hamilton and Pennsylvania without delay.

The work of removing the debris of the bridge, which is one of the last chapters of the horrible catastrophe, is progressing favorably despite the great difficulty of removing the tangled mass from under the water.

Dynamite is being employed to disentangle the iron and the thunderous reports of the heavy blasts may be heard for a radius of miles about.
