THE ICE RACES ON SATURDAY

Dongola and Patola Proved the Winners in Good Contests.

Saturday's ice races conducted by the Charlottetown Driving Club were great contests. Owing to the fact that weather conditions made racing necessary the afternoon was not large. The first race was for a banner. For-All was course the banner contest. It had two starters, Dongola owned by Mr. T. C. Edgett, and Angus Dillard, owned by Mr. Well McNeil, King Oksa did not start.

In the first heat Angus won by half a length after a great race. After that it was all Dongola he winning by from one to two lengths in every heat and apparently having some left. Mr. Edgett is receiving congratulations on the performance of his splendid horse in lowering the colors of the hitherto invincible "Angus".

The second race was a rattling good one. New heat winners turning up very unexpectedly. Every heat was a race in its own sense of the word. Patola won the first with Don going the pushing. Then Signature grabbed two heats and it apparently looked as though there was nothing to it to hand him the money, when Oma who had been getting straightened out decided to win heat number four from Patola also "come to life". The fifth and final was a hummer like a team until one hundred yards from the wire when the former fell back and the two others raced under the wire neck and neck. It took the judges sometime to hand out their decision which went to Patola owned by Mr. David White, North River who is a splendid sportsman. Mr. White is also the owner of Dingola 2.05 1/2, the sire of the two winners Dongola and Patola. The officials were as follows:

Starter—F. W. Hughes Judges R. J. Steele, F. Wood and E. F. Acorn.

REBUFFED

A Dutch pastor makes it a point to welcome any stranger cordially, and one evening after the completion of the service he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable homes, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand.

He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. Finally he said that if she would be at home some evening during the week he would call.

"Thank you," she murmured bashfully, "but I have a furlum."

Nut Sandwich Bread.

Mix one cupful of warm whea flour (left from breakfast) one-fourth cupful of salt, and one tablespoon of butter. When the mixture is lukewarm, add one-fourth of a yeast-cake, broken in pieces and dissolved in one-fourth cupful of lukewarm water and bread flour once sifted, to knead. Cover, and let rise overnight. In the morning cut down and toss on a slightly floured board; then knead, during the process incorporating two-thirds cupful each of English walnuts, minced, cut in small pieces, and dates stoned and cut in pieces. Shape in a loaf, put in a buttered breadpan, cover, and again let rise. Bake in a moderate oven fifty minutes.

Cocconut Cream Pie.

Soak one-half cupful of shredded cocconut in one-fourth cupful of cold milk one-half an hour. Heat by double boiler and add one-half teaspoonful of corn-starch diluted with one tablespoonful of cold water, and cook fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, and afterward occasionally. Scald one-half cupful of milk and add one egg-yolk (slightly beaten) mixed with one-fourth cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt. Cook in double boiler fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, and afterward occasionally. Add one tablespoonful of butter cocconut mixture, and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla; then cut, and fold in the white of one egg beaten until stiff.

Put between layer cake baked in Washington pie tins lemon filling, and sprinkle top with powdered or confectioners' sugar. For the filling thoroughly mix one cupful of sugar, two and one-half tablespoonsful of flour, the grated rind of two lemons, one egg slightly beaten. Melt one teaspoonful of butter in a small saucepan, turn in mixture, and cook, stirring constantly, until the boiling-point is reached. Great care must be taken that the mixture does not adhere to bottom or sides of pan. Cool slightly before adding.

Mrs. Gooderham Resigns from I.O.D.E.

TORONTO, March 19.—Mrs. A. Gooderham of the city announced on Saturday that she had resigned from the National Executive and from the War Memorial Committee of the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire. Mrs. Gooderham was president of the I.O.D.E. At the last annual meeting charges in connection with the administration of the order, made against her by Lady Kingsmill, were aired and supposed to have been set at rest. But Mrs. Gooderham has been re-alarmed by the charges which she cannot continue to hold responsible. She has forwarded a statement which she has forwarded to the secretaries of the various chapters of the I.O.D.E., in which she denies Lady Kingsmill's charges. She says she is content to leave it to the members of the Order "whether the administration of the affairs of the Order under my presidency were not open, fair and calculated to ensure harmony."

One of the criticisms, or charges made by Lady Kingsmill, was in connection with a resolution passed at an executive meeting where by absent councillors should be kept informed of the business transacted from the minutes. Mrs. Gooderham, when she was asked that such information to absent members did not include discussions on questions dealt with by the executive. She claims that Lady Kingsmill misrepresented her position with regard to the plan for a national memorial.

Mrs. Gooderham says she is a life member of the I.O.D.E. and is still a member of the Royal Grenadiers and St. George Chapters.

NO RETURN OF THE TROUBLE SINCE TAKING "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years. I consulted specialists; took medicine; used lotions; but nothing did me good.

Then I began to use "Fruit-a-tives" and 15 days the pain was easier and Rheumatism much better. Gradually, "Fruit-a-tives" overcame my Rheumatism; and now, for five years, I have had no return of the trouble. I cordially recommend this fruit medicine to all sufferers."

thousands of miles away? This would be a distinctly disagreeable possibility—a kind of Marian war such as Mr. Wells imagined—in which we might fare very badly.

Old-fashioned astronomers think that it would be wiser to leave the man alone. We have just closed one war with Germany and we do not want an earth war with the lunar beings.

British scientists are interested in the scheme. The Astronomer Royal, Sir Frank Dyson, said he had read the plan but had formed no opinion concerning it. "It is a purely speculative matter," he said.

Professor A. Fowler, head of the Astro-Physics Department of South Kensington, said: "I see no reason why a rocket that would reach the moon could not be made. It could be done, given a sufficiently great charge. Professor Goddard's belief is not an impossible one."

The only people frankly sceptical were rocket experts. A number of the firm of C. T. Brock & Company said he would believe in a rocket that could go to the moon when he had sent it to the moon.

The "biggest rocket I have ever heard of weighs 1 pound and can rise to about 3,000 feet. It would be possible to make one to go a little higher, but not to the moon."

CONTRARIWISE.

A reader who wants to know "what's the good of proverbs?" sets a bit of a poser. His contention is that nearly every proverb has its proverbial contradiction, and that both cannot be right. Against "Too many cooks spoil the broth," there is "Many hands make light work." If you quote, "Look before you leap," someone will retort, "Care killed a cat." "Familiarity breeds contempt" may be capped with, "Out of sight, out of mind." But after all, there are a few proverbs which stand alone, and are not flatly contradicted by others.

"Take care of the pence, and the pounds will take care of themselves."

"Never count your chickens before they are hatched."

"To forget a wrong is the best revenge."

"A new broom sweeps clean."

"Half a loaf is better than no bread."

"The nearer the bone, the sweeter the meat."

ALL FAT PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW THIS

The world owes a debt of gratitude to the author of the now famous Marmola Prescription, and is this harmless for the reduction of body fat to tablet form. Marmola Prescription Tablets can now be obtained at all drug stores, or by writing direct to Marmola Co., 861 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., and their reasonable price ($1.00 a box) quite enough to leave no excuse for neglecting violent exercise for the reduction of the overfat body to

THE HIGH COST OF BEING WELL DRESSED

Many a woman who spends large sums on dress, never looks well in her clothes because she does not take fastidious care of them at all times.

There are two girls of my acquaintance who have equal incomes upon which to dress—not extravagant incomes, but enough to provide for a good suit every season and for a few dresses thrown in and hats and shoes to match. One of these girls always wears a dress that is well cared for of the contents of the rag-bag, and is a pathetic contrast to her sister who takes care of her clothes while the other one does not.

This does not mean that the first occupies all of her time fussing over her clothes, but she has acquired the good habit of taking care of them. She has acquired one habit we should all acquire—"the hanging habit."

Have plenty of hangers at hand and use them freely. Never throw a garment down in an untidy heap. Who does not know the man who wears his suit twice as long as the next one, and yet looks better all the time? The difference is in slight habits of care which seem trivial indeed, but are important in the long run.

Many people, particularly men, imagine that it is all a question of having frequent pressing done. On the contrary, it is partly a matter of avoiding pressing. There is hardly anything that spoils the appearance of wool so soon as too much pressing. The heat of the iron steals the life of the fabric. A certain amount of grit is inevitably pressed in to wear on the fine fibres; the impact of the heavy utensil mats the hairs together and a tendency to that dread thing, a shiny surface, necessarily increases with each successive pressing. Sponging to counteract this helps to wear off the nap. Of course, some pressing is necessary, imperative in fact. And, of course, there is pressing and pressing—some methods are far better than others.

But one great point in the handling of woolen clothing is to avoid constant pressing. Hangers for coats, dresses and skirts should be plentiful and should be used every time a garment is removed. Once the habit, and it is harder to fling the garment down in a mound of wrinkles than to hang it up properly. A great thing in acquiring this habit is to have enough hangers. Many people neglect this, and the annoyance of never having quite enough is sufficient to account for many lapses.

Doctor Urges An Operation

INSTEAD I TOOK LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND AND WAS CURED

Baltimore, Md.—"Nearly four years I suffered from organic troubles, nervousness and headaches and every month would have to go to bed most of the time. Treatments would relieve me for a time but my doctor was always urging me to have an operation. My sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before consulting to an operation. I took five bottles of it and it has completely cured me and my work is a pleasure. I tell all my friends who have any trouble of this kind what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—NELLIE S. BRITTINGHAM, 609 Calverton Rd., Baltimore Md. It is only natural for any woman to dread the thought of an operation. So many women have been restored to health by this famous remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after an operation has been advised that it will pay any woman who suffers from such ailments to consider trying it before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

Says Ouija Board A Spirit Boishevik

WINNIPEG, March 19.—The ouija board is "the Boishevik of spirit world," and no reasonable person who is in the presence of that device or any other used by spiritualists mediums, may be the means of "making a plaything of the author of our being" or "permitting us to communicate with the spirits of the departed."

This view of spiritualism was given by Rev. S. J. McDonnell, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, in an interview with the Star correspondent.

Reposing faith in seances, incantations, table rappings, ouija boards and such other alleged manifestations incident to the ritual of spiritualists.

"There are spirits which may communicate with the living there is no denying," Father McDonnell said, "but if they are not spirits of evil why don't they impart information which will benefit mankind?"

"The single instance has anything been suggested by spirits which has helped solve the great industrial problems, prevented war or provided means to make the world better."

"There were spirits of good, enjoying communion with the Supreme Being, how could they be at the beck and call of anyone wishing to communicate with the dead? Can it be supposed that those who are in the presence of God can be summoned at the fancy of a person who wishes only to ask some unimportant question? The assumption is too illogical to be credited."

"Spiritualism does not inspire the maker of peace, Father McDonnell asserted. It supplies information which appeals only to the unwary and confuses their thoughts in regard to the hereafter. He said that a rocket to hit the moon is to be seriously carried out.

The rocket will have to be aimed at some point in space because of the rapid motion of the moon. This is not an insuperable objection, as a ship in rapid movement, is fired by a torpedo, which allows for the speed of the target. But with the rocket the mysterious influences to be encountered in what is vaguely called "space" are so many that the chances are all against a hit.

There is another question to be considered. Professor Pickering, the eminent American astronomer, has just stated a great stir in the United States by declaring that his telescopic observations of the moon suggest it may be inhabited by living creatures. If they are intelligent beings—as his statements lead us to suppose—what would be their feelings when their globe was struck by some tons of detonating material as when by an obvious reasoning process, they concluded that the missile had come from the earth?

What if they were to retaliate by firing from the moon gigantic rockets which upon impact here set up a flash of such tremendous nature that it would be visible hundreds of

GERMAN PERFDY.

MRS. THOMAS STEWART.

The death occurred in the P. E. Island Hospital on Saturday night of Katherine, widow of the late Thomas Stewart of New Argyle, aged 72 years. The late Mrs. Stewart entered the hospital about two weeks ago and succumbed after a second operation on Saturday. She will be greatly missed in her home, where she cheerfully attended her husband in his declining years in which his eyesight failed, and helped her devoted son John in the management of the farm. A good christian wife and mother, she has gone to her rest, to join her husband who preceded her only a few short months. Besides her son John, who daily attended his mother's bedside, she leaves to mourn one daughter, Mary, Mrs. Louis A. Beavals of Montreal and two step-sons, John of Boston and Kenneth of Washington, two brothers, Donald and Lauchlan MacKinnon of New Argyle, and one sister, Annie in Boston, also survive.

The remains were taken to her home in New Argyle last evening by her son and brother Donald. Funeral Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

HITTING THE MAN IN THE MOON RISKY

The London Daily Mail says—Some difficulties that will have to be overcome if the plan of Professor Goddard, of Clark College, Worcester, Massachusetts, of launching a rocket to hit the moon is to be seriously carried out.

The rocket will have to be aimed at some point in space because of the rapid motion of the moon. This is not an insuperable objection, as a ship in rapid movement, is fired by a torpedo, which allows for the speed of the target. Dongola and Patola Proved the Winners in Good Contests.

Saturday's ice races conducted by the Charlottetown Driving Club were great contests. Owing to the fact that weather conditions made racing necessary the afternoon was not large. The first race was for a banner. For-All was course the banner contest. It had two starters, Dongola owned by Mr. T. C. Edgett, and Angus Dillard, owned by Mr. Well McNeil, King Oksa did not start.

In the first heat Angus won by half a length after a great race. After that it was all Dongola he winning by from one to two lengths in every heat and apparently having some left. Mr. Edgett is receiving congratulations on the performance of his splendid horse in lowering the colors of the hitherto invincible "Angus".

The second race was a rattling good one. New heat winners turning up very unexpectedly. Every heat was a race in its own sense of the word. Patola won the first with Don going the pushing. Then Signature grabbed two heats and it apparently looked as though there was nothing to it to hand him the money, when Oma who had been getting straightened out decided to win heat number four from Patola also "come to life". The fifth and final was a hummer like a team until one hundred yards from the wire when the former fell back and the two others raced under the wire neck and neck. It took the judges sometime to hand out their decision which went to Patola owned by Mr. David White, North River who is a splendid sportsman. Mr. White is also the owner of Dingola 2.05 1/2, the sire of the two winners Dongola and Patola. The officials were as follows:

Starter—F. W. Hughes Judges R. J. Steele, F. Wood and E. F. Acorn.

Timers Mr. Hiltz and Jas McEachern.

REBUFFED

A Dutch pastor makes it a point to welcome any stranger cordially, and one evening after the completion of the service he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable homes, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand.

He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. Finally he said that if she would be at home some evening during the week he would call.

"Thank you," she murmured bashfully, "but I have a furlum."

Nut Sandwich Bread.

Mix one cupful of warm whea flour (left from breakfast) one-fourth cupful of salt, and one tablespoon of butter. When the mixture is lukewarm, add one-fourth of a yeast-cake, broken in pieces and dissolved in one-fourth cupful of lukewarm water and bread flour once sifted, to knead. Cover, and let rise overnight. In the morning cut down and toss on a slightly floured board; then knead, during the process incorporating two-thirds cupful each of English walnuts, minced, cut in small pieces, and dates stoned and cut in pieces. Shape in a loaf, put in a buttered breadpan, cover, and again let rise. Bake in a moderate oven fifty minutes.

Cocconut Cream Pie.

Soak one-half cupful of shredded cocconut in one-fourth cupful of cold milk one-half an hour. Heat by double boiler and add one-half teaspoonful of corn-starch diluted with one tablespoonful of cold water, and cook fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, and afterward occasionally. Scald one-half cupful of milk and add one egg-yolk (slightly beaten) mixed with one-fourth cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, and one-eighth teaspoonful of salt. Cook in double boiler fifteen minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, and afterward occasionally. Add one tablespoonful of butter cocconut mixture, and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla; then cut, and fold in the white of one egg beaten until stiff.

Put between layer cake baked in Washington pie tins lemon filling, and sprinkle top with powdered or confectioners' sugar. For the filling thoroughly mix one cupful of sugar, two and one-half tablespoonsful of flour, the grated rind of two lemons, one egg slightly beaten. Melt one teaspoonful of butter in a small saucepan, turn in mixture, and cook, stirring constantly, until the boiling-point is reached. Great care must be taken that the
