TURKEY STOLEN—A thief who apparently likes to pick and choose what he eats stole a turkey from near a screened window at the rear of a local restaurant, some time Saturday night. About closing time it was discovered that the screen had been partly cut from the window and that the bird, dressed for yesterday's dinner, was missing.

RENEWING FRIENDSHIPS

John Himmen, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Himmen and Mrs. Annie F. Peer, of Lancaster and Sterling, Mass., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Fretwell, Hillsboro Street. Mrs. John Himmen is a native of this province, a daughter of the late William and Mary Lund. It is forty seven years since Mrs. Himmen visited this province and naturally she notices many improvements and changes. She was born at St. Peter's Island and remembers quite well when there were only three houses on the little island. On Thursday, with a party of friends she visited the school at Rice's Point, which she attended as a girl, the view from the window bringing back happy memories. She and her party who motored to the Island are having a most enjoyable holiday visiting out of town sections and are most agreeably surprised with the beauty of the Garden Province.

B. I. S. SOCIAL—The regular Saturday night dance sponsored by the B. I. S., was very largely attended, the music being furnished by the capitolian orchestra, the new method of down draft ventilating proved very successful throughout the evening. A change in the programme for the mid week's entertainment has been made and will be announced in the press Tuesday.

WELL KNOWN HERE—Hon. Dr. Murray MacLaren, minister of pensions and national health, and his daughter, Miss Margaret MacLaren, escaped injury Friday afternoon when their motor car went into a ditch a few miles from Shediac. The car did not overturn, and was undamaged. The accident occurred when the MacLaren chauffeur was forced to swerve suddenly to avoid striking a car which turned out as the MacLaren car was about to pass.

NEW ANNAN 2.23 AND 2.26 CLASSES—In view of the prospective extra large entry list in the proposed 2.26 Trot and Pace (mixed), it was thought advisable to split the class and supplement the purse, making a 2.23 straight trot (purse $200.00), and a 2.26 straight pace (purse $200.00). This change ought to give all the slow (?) class trotters and pacers in the province a good chance. Not more than eleven starters will be accepted in each class. The first eleven paid up entries will qualify to start.

POLICE COURT—At the Police Court yesterday morning, William Power, charged with being unlawfully at large while under sentence of imprisonment, was sentenced to six months in jail. The driver of a car which had been involved in an accident at the corner of Elm Avenue and Gerald Street, was remanded in custody till Monday. Two men, charged with having stolen goods in their possession had sentence suspended. A case for breach of the sanitary by-law was adjourned.

PROFITABLE BOY'S CAMP—A combined boy's camp under the auspices of the Maritime Council of Religious Education and the Y. M. C. A., was held at Canoe Cove last week and part of the week preceding, and broke up Saturday last. Between seventy-five and eighty boys were under canvas, and enjoyed a most profitable outing. Recreation and instruction periods were combined in a well balanced programme, with Rev. E. Aitken, St. Peter's, as dean.

NUPTIAL RECEPTION—At their beautiful home in Stratgarney Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. Fitz Alan Stewart held their first post nuptial reception. The event took the form of a delightful garden party, attended by many friends from city and country. Mrs. Stewart, who wore an attractive hand embroidered Roumanian gown of white was assisted in receiving by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cameron. The bride's parents, Hon. W. M. Lea and Mrs. Lea also joined in welcoming the visitors. Mrs. Keith Boswell ushered the guests to the tea tables which were set on the lawn and from three to six there was a constant stream of callers. Mrs. Windsor, Miss Eleanor Green and Mrs. Heath Crosby poured tea, assisted by Mrs. John MacManus and Miss Merjorie Callbeck. The ladies serving were Mrs. Hibbert Howatt, Mrs. H. R. Stewart, Mrs. Barry Tait, Miss Ruth Rattenbury and Miss Edith Lea. The Stratgarney residence, surrounded by five hundred acres of land, including large groves, commands a magnificent view of the surrounding country dressed in its glorious summer verdure. The weather was ideal for the reception, which was one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

Trinity United Church

Yesterday was the centennial of what is known as "The Oxford Movement." This must not be confused with the Oxford group movement about which much has been heard recently and has been the subject of many talks by Rev. Mr. Brown in the Wednesday evening services. The group movement has its devotees not only in the Anglican Church but in all the evangelical churches. It is deeply spiritual and aims to promote the abundant life. The Oxford movement, on the other hand was the start within the Church of England of the Anglo-Catholic movement which has been in definite repudiation of the Reformation and its principles, in Canada the movement has made little headway. Dyson Hague says the majority of the Anglican people in Canada "believe that the Church of England is Catholic, Apostolic, Reformed, Protestant and on that four-fold rock it stands and will stand."

It was a great pleasure to have with us the preacher of the day, Rev. C. W. Kierstead, Ph. D., who was ordained in this Church 22 years ago and later held a pastorate at Little York and many from that charge were present at the evening service to greet their former Minister. There was a very good congregation in the morning when Rev. Dr. Kierstead delivered a very fine sermon from the text I. John 5-4. "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith." Many are asking today, "What is the way out? but the question should be, What is the way up? Faith is realizing the ideal. It is the ability to discover the impossible.

In the evening Dr. Kierstead took as his subject the challenge of youth, his text being 2 Timothy 1-12. "I know whom I have believed." Mr. James Calder sang in splendid voice a solo "A song of heaven and homeland."

St. Peter's Cathedral

The Oxford Centenary was duly celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday at 8 a. m., the Rev. Canon Malone celebrated the Eucharist being assisted by Rev. C. A. Simpson.

The 11 o'clock solemn sung Eucharist was preceded by the hymn "Christ is made the sure Foundation" being sung in procession.

work in your office has been carried on most efficiently by the accountant and staff.

On motion of Mr. Alex Hamilton, New Perth, seconded by Mr. W. N. Jenkins, Bedouque, it was adopted. The secretary, Mr. J. W. Boulter, then presented his report. Mr. S. G. Peppin's report showed that the acreage under inspection this year was 2,400 less than last year, that the amount of certified seed shipped from the 1932 crop was slightly more than 600,000 bushels. Of this amount the Association had shipped more than half. The shipments of seed were only about one-half those of 1931 crop. Mr. Peppin dealt with diseases of potatoes, the need of spraying and other important features of the industry, a fuller report of which will appear later.

fall season, any great quantity of seed. For this reason, your Association handled less potatoes than in other years.

The price of tablestock early in the season, was very low. The reports from Ontario and Quebec, seemed to justify higher prices, and we were loathe to urge our people to ship for tablestock, when we hoped the market price would be higher, or if they could be carried over, there would be a market for seed purposes. The price of tablestock advanced with the season, and towards the last of November, was exceptionally high, even higher than the market warranted, based almost entirely on speculation, because of potatoes being placed in storage. Almost immediately, there was a reaction in the market, which did not recover until early spring, after all potatoes in storage were cleaned up. Throughout the entire winter, the market was drabby. At times it was difficult to make sales at all, the brokers always quoting that there were thousands of sacks in storage in Toronto and Montreal.

We are glad to be able to report, that your Association did not place any potatoes in storage at either of these points. We never speculate. Our potatoes held in storage, were at Halifax, and were placed there by those who did not have the accommodation to take care of them and who paid the storage thereon. All seed stored, was marketed the last part of February, along with a considerable quantity shipped direct from the province.

Fall Shipments

The Association shipped seed to New Jersey in the fall, and made a second shipment in December. On this December shipment, the idea in the minds of many, was that the price would become higher, and we found it difficult to secure all the potatoes we required to fill our order, and were obliged to buy some few cars from others than our members.

Spring Shipments

We were able, in our different sales through the spring, to clean up all the seed Cobblers which offered. Throughout the entire year, we paid for the potatoes on the basis of the current price at time of shipment. This was not the way payments were made in former years, but it has been so satisfactory to our people, as well as to our management, that we are loathe to again adopt the old method of pooling, which occasionally resulted in disappointment. This is a matter your Board of Directors will give careful consideration to, and in all probability, if conditions warrant, will follow the same method this coming year.

Taken altogether, the handling of the potatoes, the distribution of the fertilizer, and the spray materials, were conducted without any particular anxiety, and notwithstanding the scarcity of money, our collections on the distributions, have been better than in previous years. The distributor's ledger, shows outstanding accounts scarcely over half as great as a year ago, which means that we not only were successful in having the accounts paid on this year's business, but made good collections on last year's accounts.

Bliss Seed

The one exception which still worries us, was the sale of the Bliss seed sent to Cuba in the fall of 1932. Some twenty-five of our members were very grievously affected by this sale.

When the first cargo was assembled, we felt it was sold at a price which would make good returns to our members. The second cargo was assembled, and before it was ready to sail, we were having unfavourable reports from the first steamer, as the Bliss seed could not be disposed of, because of lack of funds on the part of the buyers.

Our seed, unfortunately, was a little too late arriving on the market. Seed of the Bliss variety should reach Cuba the last of September, or during the very early part of October. Our second steamer did not sail until October 31st or later. The first planting was completed. Consequently, the bank was obliged to allow the seed to go out on time drafts.

The bank has used every means to make collections, nevertheless, we have not yet received sufficient money to pay our out-of-pocket expenses; and the item which you notice in the financial statement, under foreign ledger, is made up of money due from Cuba, and which is coming in by degrees. On the last day of June, we received some $600.00. One large dealer has agreed to pay $100.00 a week, and thus we are with $12,000 or $15,000 outstanding, for which our members, who supplied the seed, must wait until payment is made, for settlement.

To clear your mind of the idea that any dealer made money out of this transaction, we wish to advise you that all sales were made with sight draft attached to documents. These drafts were payable to the Bank of Nova Scotia, in Havana, and the Bank has been most energetic in handling the whole situation. Anyone who wishes corroboration of the statement, may secure it from the Bank of Nova Scotia of this city, with whom the Havana Branch communicates on every occasion payments are made or deferred on drafts when due.

With these two shipments of Bliss, a quantity of tablestock and certified Cobblers, were included. These were disposed of and paid for on arrival.

It certainly was a heavy blow to the growers of Bliss seed, some having as much as 5,000 and 6,000 bushels in their shipments; and we cannot but admire the way they have accepted this loss, so far at least as their attitude towards the Association is concerned. We wish to assure them that we are doing everything possible to make these collections. This has been the one fly in the ointment during our year's operations.

Optimism Expressed

With regard to the future, we do not pretend to be able to forecast. We wish, however, to give you the benefit of the situation as it is today, and we confidently expect this situation to become brighter than it is even now.

Your Secretary made a trip South the last part of June. The people of Virginia did not buy any Island seed last year. The reason was, they could buy seed from Maine at a price which did not give us cost in Virginia. One larger grower, who formerly used annually from 20,000 to 25,000 sacks of Island seed, tried hard to buy a cargo from us, but we could not cut down the difference which existed, as we were able to sell in New Jersey at much better advantage, where planting is later in the season, and the Maine seed potatoes were becoming scarce.

Virginia

The growers of Virginia are receiving a good price for their potatoes. The majority were sold at prices running from $4.00 to $5.00 a barrel. This, they said, was as good to them as $7.00 and $8.00 a few years ago, when expenses were higher, and they were spending money more freely. The crop throughout almost the entire section, was light.

Motoring through the potato sections of the State of New Jersey, I noted that the tops did not warrant a heavy yield, and with the dry, hot weather which followed, there is every indication that the yield through New Jersey will not be up to normal. This makes it possible to clean up the entire crop as fast as they can place them on the market. Harvesting begins in that state around the 20th of this month.

The shortage of old potatoes will make a demand by markets north of New York. These will consume most of the potatoes from Long Island, which come on the market about the same time as the potatoes in New Jersey.

Summing up the situation, it means to the potato dealer in New York and other points, this: that when Maine is ready to start marketing her crop, which is slightly later than other years, she will have a pretty clear market, and thus any probability of a congestion is not likely to exist.

U. S. Crop

Coupled with this, we have the latest report for the United States, that the estimated yield the first of July, is 306,000,000 bushels, against 377,000,000 bushels a year ago. This is practically a 15 per cent reduction.

From the best information we could get, the acreage in the State of Maine, was estimated at 15 per cent below that of last year. All these things, encourage us to believe that, even though the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec should have a better crop of potatoes than they had last year, this making a less market in Canada, there will be a demand for our potatoes in the United States, not only for seed, but for tablestock, at remunerative prices.

Island Seed Desired

As for seed, there is a keen desire on the part of the growers in Virginia to again have an opportunity of using our potatoes. The variety used is largely Cobblers, and with the very small acreage under certification, only about 8,000 acres, we would urge our people to use the utmost care, to protect the crop, not only to insure certification, but also loss against Blight, which is a most destructive factor, and which results in a dead loss.

We are glad to be able to tell you that we have the same strong organization ready to do business with us, that we built up years ago. Every one of the dealers with whom we do business in New Jersey and South, are enthusiastic that this year will again see our Island seed used in large quantities. I talked with each of them. Those who did use our seed last year did not have one complaint to register. They were unanimous in stating that never before had they received prettier seed. This would be accounted for, partly from the fact that it was freshly graded, and received just prior to time of planting. The stand was almost perfect.

High Reputation

It is a pleasure to be able to report these conditions to you, and to know that our seed still holds the high reputation established some years ago, through the most rigid oversight, and which we could not have reached, without the co-operation of the Federal Division of Botany. It is a wonderful thing, that we are still enjoying, during these years of financial stress experienced by all governments, the same careful inspection, without expense to the individual grower. We would also like to mention our appreciation of the interest taken by the Chief Inspector, Mr. Peppin, and his staff, who strive to accommodate the growers and shippers on every occasion.

These factors make it easier for your Association to put a good product on the market; and with the anticipation of good prices for the coming season, we must strive, first to grow a crop that will give the right quality for grading, and when grading, to adhere to the regulations as laid down for certification.

Prospects Good

We have seldom been more enthusiastic over the prospects of a good market. Dealers are already wiring for quotations on steamer cargoes, for later fall shipments. This leads us to one conclusion,—that they too anticipate a shortage of good seed.

We feel it is not out of place here to give a word of caution. High priced potatoes this year are likely to induce larger acreages of potatoes next year, which may or may not be a wise procedure. From a careful study of the conditions affecting farming in this province, over a number of years, we cannot but conclude that it is in the farmer's own interest to stress the growing of livestock, rather than any particular field crop.

Balanced Production Urged

There is a tremendous market for livestock and livestock products, right at our door. The price paid during the past year for hogs, may seem low. After all, if you analyze the prices paid for different farm products, it reveals that a farmer would make more money by feeding it to the hogs than by prevailed during the past year.

In addition to receiving the higher price by feeding the crop, it also reduces his fertilizer bill. It is surely evident to all of us, that we are not producing in this province either in livestock or field crops anywhere near the possible maximum. Our hog production is from 40,000 to 50,000 per annum. We could produce 70,000 or 80,000 just as easily.

The Maritime Provinces do not produce much over 10 percent of their meat requirements. The balance is brought in from other provinces. We have been advised on good authority, that 20 carloads of livestock and livestock products come to the Maritime Provinces every week of the year. This is an astounding revelation. Could we in the Maritimes, take care of a larger percentage of our requirements, it would leave a greater quantity available for export to Great Britain, where there is fast developing a market for much greater quantities than we in Canada can guarantee to supply; and one thing necessary to maintain such a market, is a guarantee of supply.

You may ask, "what has this to do with potatoes?" We think it has a lot to do. Looking upon potatoes as a cash crop, we think of the other crops as being grown to be manufactured on the farm into products of greater value. Should it happen that the price for potatoes is exceptionally low, we can then market our crop through our livestock, to better advantage than in any other form of marketing.

We, therefore, believe we are acting in the interests of our members, when we point out these circumstances and urge balanced production in all lines of farming most suitable to our province.

Co-operation Stressed

In conclusion, I should like to impress strongly upon you, the necessity for the farmers to link themselves together in co-operative schemes. We do not preach the principles of co-operation as much as we should. We have been satisfied to go along, with the idea that co-operation is a good thing, and yet, we do not become quite active in participating in its enlargement. This is a year for us to become boosters, and to be ready at all times to give every support within our power to the movement,—to enlist those whom we think would be valuable members in our ranks.

The following quotation, from the presidential address of Dr. Banerji, Professor of Economics, Calcutta University, delivered at the Bengal Co-operative Conference, is, we believe, applicable to ourselves:—

"Self-help and self-reliance—these are the basic principles of co-operation. God helps those who help themselves. It is through co-operation, rather than isolated individual effort, that society progresses. Those who are acquainted with the social sciences, are aware that the one-time bias in favour of individual action, has now changed in favour of corporate action. . . . The co-operative way is the way of both individual and co-operative effort. Individual effort finds in co-operation, unlimited scope; co-operative effort finds in it the only means of success. Co-operation offers the best channel in which diverse currents of thought are unified in one life-giving stream. The path of co-operation is the path of union—social, religious and political. If Hindus and Mahomedans, and Christians, Indians and Englishmen, all and sundry, are to be united together,—then the hope of such union lies along this path. It is my firm belief, that those who are engaged in co-operative work, are engaged in a very noble task. If we work together beautifully, without selfishness, then we shall deserve God's blessing."
