A new tailoring establishment will be opened in a few days in the store recently occupied by the late Lemuel Harris, Great George Street. It will be conducted by Lauchlin McDonald who for the past year has been in the employ of D. F. Pidgeon, North Sydney and previously was cutter for John T. McKeenzie and B. D. Perry for some time in the employ of the latter. Both these gentlemen are well known in the city and are experts in the tailoring business.

CROMWELL as a Statesman, was the subject of the second lecture on that illustrious Englishman by Rev. T. F. Fullerton in St. James Hall last night. Notwithstanding the disagreeable state of the weather there was a good attendance and it is needless to say that all were fully repaid in the treat that they had the pleasure of hearing. The home and foreign policies of the great leader of the Commonwealth was ably depicted and many of the interesting events of the time graphically described by the reverend gentleman. The lecture was illustrated throughout by stereopticon views.

The murder is reported in Jaurez, Mexico of Arthur Strong, son of the late Robert A. Strong of this city and brother of Mrs. George W. Gardner. The deceased was at one time in the employ of the late Dr. S. W. Dadd, and left here some twelve years ago. He was in the employ of the Wells Fargo Express Co., as express messenger between El Paso, Texas, and Zacaetas, Mexico, and frequently carried large sums of money. He laid off at El Paso and was last seen with a Mexican in Ciudad Jaurez, just across the Rio Grande River. Next day his body was found in a tumble down hut. After some time four negroes were arrested and are held for the crime. His money and wallet were gone but he had none of the Express Company's money on him when he was murdered.

In a letter received by Mr. Trainor, principal of the Shorthand and Typewriting Department of the Charlottetown Business College, The Guardian is pleased to learn that the four young ladies who took their examinations for the Phonographic Institute Diploma on the 5th inst., were all successful and the diplomas have been issued to them. Their names are as follows: Miss Katie Dover, city; Miss Irene McKay, Everett, Mass.; Misses Gertrude Bolger and Myrtle C. Finlayson, city. The Guardian not only congratulates these talented young ladies on their success, but also the Principal and Miss Trainor, his assistant, as well as the old reliable C. B. C. While all departments of the C. B. C. have been patronized this year, this department has been exceedingly popular, and there are now many who are about ready for their final examinations.

GOOD MEETINGS OF THE INSTITUTE

Of Lots 27 and 28 Held at Middleton

Interesting Discussion on the Dairy Cow—Address by Rev. Mr. Dawson—Appointment of Delegates.

The meeting of the Lots 27 and 28 Farmers' Institute at Middleton was held on Tuesday 15th inst. at 2 p. m. and was fairly well attended, those present taking an active part in the talk on the Dairy Cow.

An address was expected that afternoon from Rev. A. E. Burke, of Alberton, but he being unavoidably absent from the Island, the President, Mr. Craig, suggested the idea to continue the talk on the Dairy Cow, which was the subject under consideration at the last meeting of this Institute at Kinkora on the 8th inst., and at which meeting Walter Simpson, Esq., of Bay View, read a paper on the subject. He, Mr. Craig, thought that very much more might be brought out on this live topic of the day and invited those present to join in and make this meeting as interesting and instructive as possible. Quite a number of the farmers responded to the call and the talk was kept up till five o'clock. Many good points were made—some very interesting experiences were told—some figures were given to show that some herds of cows were more than paying for their keep. It was also shown that more vigorous weeding out of unprofitable milkers was needed, and more attention given to raising more forage crops for the time of drought, and fall, and early winter feeding. It was suggested by some that too much attention was lavished on breeds and pedigrees and not enough care to the real dairy cow as some good types of this animal had been produced by nearly all of the different breeds. The talk about these lines was well kept up by the farmers and this meeting was both interesting and instructive, many taking a very prominent part.

It was regretted that more of our young men who are the coming farmers of our country, did not join in with their opinions and ideas and show that they yet will make their mark in the agricultural affairs of their native province, and mean to stick right to the old farm.

Delegates were appointed to attend the meeting at Charlottetown on 30th inst. to confer with the Dominion Packing Co. on the differences that now exist in regard to the live hog business. J. W. Callbeck of Argusville Cove, and Chas. Craig of Middleton, were the men chosen, and it is presumed these men will give a good account of themselves on that day.

The evening meeting was opened at 7.30 with the president in the chair. Rev. Mr. Dawson of Tryon addressed the meeting in a good, sensible, masterly speech—showing that the farmers needed better education, more intelligence in the affairs of the day—more refinement in and about their homes and well posted in the current topics of the day, not omitting political affairs, and able to vote intelligently, so trying to do away with the boodlers and designing politicians. Good sense and sound logic was a characteristic feature of Rev. Mr. Dawson's address.

Quite a number of the farmers followed in the same strain on this subject of better education, especially along agricultural lines, and the speeches being interspersed with some good music made the meeting very interesting and pleasant. After a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Dawson for his kindness in so favoring this Institute, we had the National Anthem, and the meeting dispersed, appearing to have enjoyed a good time with appreciation, and expecting another Institute meeting at Tryon next Tuesday, 22nd inst., at 1.30 p. m. THE LATEST IMPROVEMENTS

Are all in Evidence at the Berlin Dental Parlors

The Great Advances made in Dentistry are Evident from a Visit to the Popular Parlors.

THE taking over of the Berlin Dental Parlors, by Dr. C. H. Beer, and the dissolving of the partnership recently existing between Drs. Beer and Ball, once more brings the Berlin Dental Parlors into prominence as regards business changes. And, en passant, a few words of commendation regarding the B. D. P. and the excellent standard of work they produce is in order as well. Dental work has undergone a great revolution during recent years, and if one wants to know just what an advance has been made along these lines, the quickest and easiest way to do so is to drop into the B. D. P. and have a chat with the courteous and affable proprietor, who will most willingly make you thoroughly posted on the matter. And then we cannot but compare the well equipped Parlors with the old dental offices of days, not so very long past either;—the results proving the truth that "comparisons are odious," for the old timers. In the Berlin Dental Parlors we find a "Harvard Special" operating, and a "Morrison Special" extracting chair; a Harvard Operating Cabinet, fitted with all the appurtenances for modern dentistry; a well appointed laboratory for the construction of crowns and bridge work, artificial teeth with plates etc., while our attention is directed to the "corrugated suction plate" which the B. D. P. make a specialty of. All the latest and best methods for producing either local or general anaesthesia, are used, and in the very near future Dr. Beer is going to install a plant for manufacturing vitrified air; the latest and best anaesthetic for dental operations, and the one in use in the largest dental offices in the United States. "Painless Dentistry," and the "best work" is the Berlin Dental Parlors watchword, and the combination is one that is sure to be productive of well satisfied patrons. Dr. C. H. Beer is the son of our respected townsman, Herbert Beer, and has but recently returned home after having been for seven years in the dental business with his uncle Dr. A. J. McKeeckie of Pittsburg, Pa. During that time he spent two years in the extracting of teeth, a branch of the profession, most important. We wish him long continued success in this his native town, and judging by his work which we have seen, and the freely expressed satisfaction of his already long list of patrons, our wish will be abundantly realized.
