EFFICIENT SYSTEM SAVES HOLMAN BUILDING

Considerable Damage Done By Fire, Water

Blaze Discovered By Mr. J. LeRoy Holman And Watchman After Automatic Alarm Sounded Warning.

The sprinkler system of R. T. Holman's Ltd., Summerside proved its worth yesterday when it saved the establishment from probable destruction when fire broke out on the third floor. Mr. J. LeRoy Holman and the watchman were the only persons in the store about 5 p. m. the time the conflagration started and their first warning was the sounding of the automatic alarm.

The fire was located on the third floor in a part of the building used for storing old records and office files. The fire was being checked by the water from the sprinklers so

Mob Tears Down Ring

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 20—An infuriated mob tore down the ring in Fluminense Stadium today when refused rain-checks after Carner's heavyweight match with Ervin Klausner had been postponed because of rain.

About 20,000 spectators had gathered in the stadium to see the former heavyweight champion box Klausner. A sudden downpour forced postponement of the fight until Tuesday night.

Through a misunderstanding, it was explained, officials declined to issue rainchecks to the customers. Enraged, the spectators poured out of their seats and tore down the ring.

Naval fusiliers answered a riot call and prevented further damage after a vigorous battle in which clubs and stones played a prominent part.

Londos Signs To Meet Lewis

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) CHICAGO, Jan. 20—Ed "Strangler" Lewis is going to make another attempt to retain the world's heavyweight wrestling championship.

A return match between Lewis and Jim Londos, titleholder, was closed here today for St. Louis, Jan. 31, with Ed White, manager of Londos, accepting terms on behalf of the champion. They will wrestle one fall to a finish.

Lewis and Londos met the last time in Chicago, last September, with the contest drawing 35,000 spectators with receipts of $104,000. Londos pinned Lewis in 47 minutes.

Doyle, according to Manager Friedman, has won 36 of his 37 professional fights by knockouts. In the other bout, the Irishman fouled Jack Peterson, British heavyweight champion, and was disqualified.

Braves Ousted From Wigwam

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) NEW YORK, Jan. 19—Club owners of the National League went into extra innings tonight in an effort to solve the financial problems of Boston Braves, beset by racing dogs, but without any evidence in sight of what that solution might be.

With a pause only for lunch, the magnates and league President Ford Frick worried at the situation from 10 a. m. into the evening dusk, and the only definite word that came from the consulting chambers was reaffirmation of the league's stand that baseball and dog racing do not mix.

Near Riot In Draw Game

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Jan. 20—A grand free-for-all in which nearly 30 players took part marked the 2-2 tie game between Royals and Canadiens in the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association series here today.

In the second fixture Lafontaine defeated Verdun 6-3.

The fight broke out in the second period of the Royals-Canadiens affair and with the exception of the goaltenders every member of the full roster of 15 players on each side took a hand. The battle started when Hugh Farquharson and Robert Robert got into an argument on the way to the penalty bench. Before the referees, George Mallinson and Eusebe Daignault, could step in, players from both sides rushed into action. Gloves and sticks were tossed aside and for three minutes the "battle raged. By the time the officials had squelched one rumpus another broke out. Finally order was restored after six policemen had been called on for help and four players were banished. Farquharson and Robert each got a 10 minute penalty. Two husky policemen were stationed behind the penalty box after that to see the players kept the peace.

Cricket Club Committee To Resign

(C. P. Cable By Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Jan. 18—The committee of the Nottinghamshire Cricket Club today decided to resign as a body at the annual meeting in March, following a no-confidence vote passed at a mass meeting of members of the club. The members attacked the committee because it encroached sending an apology to Australian cricket authorities for so-called "body-line" bowling in the 1934 test matches. The committee said it was willing to carry on the business of the club until a new committee was appointed.

Among those resigning is Sir Julien Cahn, president-elect. Sir Julien has sponsored many cricket tours including one to Canada, the United States and Bermuda in 1933.

St. John To Have Speed Skating Championships

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MONTREAL, Jan. 18—Champion Alain Vencher, Hon. Secretary of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, announced today he has issued to the National A. A. A. member of the New Brunswick Amateur Skating Association the official sanction for the holding of the North American indoor speed skating championships for men and women for 1935, which will be held at Saint John, 20 and 21. This sanction has been approved by President William E. Roughton, of day announced 14 nations had entered for the 1935 international tennis competition including China, which has not played since 1928. The deadline is Jan. 31 with the draw scheduled for the next day.

Two challengers of other years, Japan and Canada, are missing. Canada announced it is out of the play this year because of the early dates for the North American zone competition which does not allow its team to get in condition. Japan, under considerable criticism last year for "drafting" the late Jiro Satoh for its team, also apparently had decided not to compete. Satoh committed suicide while enroute to Europe for the 1934 play.

Henderson, his former assistant Miss Grace Pittingrew and Arthur B. Farmer, Toronto handwriting expert, were examined by Peter White, government counsel, and cross-examined by W. N. Tilley, counsel for Logan, and W. G. Puzley, acting for Hatfield.

Major Reiwph testified on a conversation he had with defendant Logan at the time of submission of the reparation claim. He had told Senator Logan of receipt of a letter from the office of the Canadian High Commissioner in London that the British board of trade "regarded" the loss of the vessel as due to marine peril. The Senator had replied members of the "Cyprium Queen" crew had made affidavits the schooner had been torpedoed. He then, continued witness, had told the Senator these affidavits would be evidence in the rebuttal to the letter from London.

Cites Records

Records of the British board of trade on lost vessels were based on information from the Canadian Department of Marine and sometimes other sources, witness asserted. There were claims which had been rejected by reparation commissioners and afterwards awarded, Major Reiwph replied. Claims on account of the loss of the vessel Okokio, originally on the submission she had been shipwrecked off the coast of Nova Scotia, had been three rejected and later paid. Claims of some 500 Armenians, who became naturalized in this country, had been rejected by the commissioner, but later $300,000 had been paid to them on authority of an order-in-council. Sums appropriated by parliament had been placed in a custodian of alien enemy property fund and reparation claims paid out of this fund.

The 73 year old J. S. Henderson testified he had no recollection of writing his name with the pen between the first and second fingers. Samples of his writing in this manner and with the pen between the thumb and first finger were obtained by defence counsel as bearing on the evidence of the handwriting authorities, who have been heard. Miss Pittingrew said she had never seen Henderson writing his signature with the pen between the first and second fingers.

Examination of Mr. Farmer was on the shadings in the photographic enlargements of exhibits on the Henderson writing.

RED CLOVER

(Charlottetown Experimental Farm News Letter.)

The exceptionally poor clover crop of last year has drawn the attention of many farmers to the conditions affecting hay yields in this province. As our farms become older and, in many cases, poorer, it is becoming increasingly difficult to produce good crops of clover. Whether or not this may be caused by the exhaustion of some necessary element or elements in the soil, or through the lack of varieties or strains suitable to our soil and climate, has not yet been determined.

At the Experimental Station, Charlottetown, experiments are being conducted to determine, if possible, a method of growing clover on farms of average or below average fertility and one which can be used by farmers in average or below average circumstances financially. Very heavy applications of manure are producing good crops of early red clover without the addition of either commercial fertilizer or limestone, but this method is neither practical nor economical. On plots which received twenty tons of manure for potatoes the red clover has always been better than on those where ten tons of manure and 750 pounds of 4-8-8 commercial fertilizer was used, but the latter application was superior to 1600 pounds of a 4-8-8 commercial fertilizer alone. Half of another block of plots received 18 1/2 pounds of limestone per acre and the whole area was manured at the rate of 20 tons per acre for turnips. The limed section later produced a good crop of clover, but the unlimed section provided little but oxeye daisy.

In another experiment involving 84 plots laid out as a three year rotation of potatoes, barley and clover, limestone was applied at rates varying from 500 to 3000 pounds per acre. In addition the plots received 1200 pounds of a 4-8-8 commercial fertilizer for potatoes. The results of three years indicate that, on this type of soil and rate of this mixture and quantity, of fertilizer at least 1500 pounds of limestone must be applied before there is an appreciable difference between the limed and unlimed plots as a rule there was a general increase in red clover from 1800 pounds to 3700 pounds. On plots which received 1500 pounds of limestone and over, the young plants were stronger in the fall and wintered better than on plots which received less than 1500 pounds.

Raw, poor land which had not received manure or fertilizer for many years, and from which five inches of top soil had been removed, produced a fair stand of early red clover after an application of wood ashes and burned concrete. Following the lead given by results with wood ashes an experiment is being laid out in which various combinations of commercial fertilizers are being used alone, and with varying amounts of limestone. Various varieties and strains of red clover have been tested. Among the early red clovers Canadian grown seed has given much better results than seed produced in Southern latitudes.

Late red has been more winter hardy than early red, and among the late reds, a strain originated in Alberta has given the most promising return. At present seed of this strain is not available in commercial quantities.

Bout Is Postponed

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 20—A heavy downpour today forced postponement of the heavyweight match between Primo Carnera, former world's boxing champion, and Ervin Klausner of Esthonia. Weather permitting, the bout will be held Tuesday night.

HABIT

Habit is the magistrate of our lives; and therefore, we should see that we have good habits—Lord Bacon.

The law of habit, when enlisted on the side of righteousness, not only strengthens and makes sure our resistance to vice, but facilitates the most arduous performances of virtue. The man whose thoughts, with the purposes and designs to which they lead, are at the bidding of conscience, will by frequent repetition, at length describe the same rack. Even as in physical education, things laboriously learned at first, come to be done at last without the feeling of an effort.—Dr. Chalmers.
