A DANE'S VIEW.

A strong attempt has been made by Boer sympathisers in various parts of the world to show that the war in South Africa has been and is being conducted by the British with harshness and cruelty. Testimony to the contrary is sometimes suspected of partiality, if not of partisanship. Those who are sincerely desirous to learn the actual facts will therefore be pleased to read some extracts from a letter, recently printed in a Copenhagen newspaper and written by a Dane who has been for years a resident of the Transvaal.

The writer of the letter, it may be explained, has not only been for many years a resident in Kruger's late Republic, but he there married a Boer wife who brought him as a dowry the farm which he cultivated. He was much respected by the Boer people and held several local offices such as were only entrusted to those in whom they had full confidence. When the war broke out this Dane took his place in the Boer ranks and fought in several battles against the British. At length he was granted leave of absence to look after his affairs and was at home at the time of the British march on Pretoria and surrendered with the rest of the population of his district.

It will be seen that his domestic and material interests were entirely bound up with the Boer cause, and as a man he could have no reason to favor his British conquerors. We therefore think it reasonable to suppose that in his letter (written to his sister in Copenhagen) he told what he believed to be the exact truth. Here is an extract from his letter:

"The British authorities are treating us well in every respect, and really are showing us extraordinary friendliness. The behaviour of the soldiers demands the highest praise; one never hears a word of any plundering or of violence of any description towards the people here. I do not know a single case of such a thing, and I have not heard the least complaint of the British soldiers being rude or rough to any of our population. I really therefore cannot see that there is the slightest excuse for the way in which so many Boers are taking up arms again and breaking their oath of neutrality. They had nothing to fear so long as they simply kept their oath, for the British authorities protected them in every respect. They might have formed a camp in which, with their families and cattle, they could have remained perfectly secure under British protection. Instead of doing that, the moment they could they have broken their oath, and have slunk round behind the British army. If the English have made any mistake in their treatment of the Boers, I can only say that, in my opinion, it has been in treating them with a great deal too much good nature and forbearance."

J. Cousins, news agent of Toronto is an example of what a man may go through and still escape with his life. He has been four times shipwrecked; once bayoneted in battle; once struck by a train, losing an eye, part of his skull, an arm and shoulder blade; has four times had one or more ribs broken; once broke his right ankle and once broke his left leg. He was for a time employed on the Grand Trunk Railway to watch at crossings, but was discharged because he was becoming deaf. Once, while in the hospital, to be treated after one of his numerous accidents, eight doctors said he could not live an hour. He makes a living selling newspapers on the streets of Toronto, while most of the doctors and surgeons who treated him are dead.

The late Empress Frederick was the fourth of the late Queen Victoria's children to pass away, the others being Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, and afterwards Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha; Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, and Princess Alice, Grand Duchess of Hesse. The living children are the King; the Duke of Connaught, Prince Arthur; the Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, Princess Helena; the Duchess of Argyll, Princess Louise, and Princess Henry of Battenburg, Princess Beatrice.

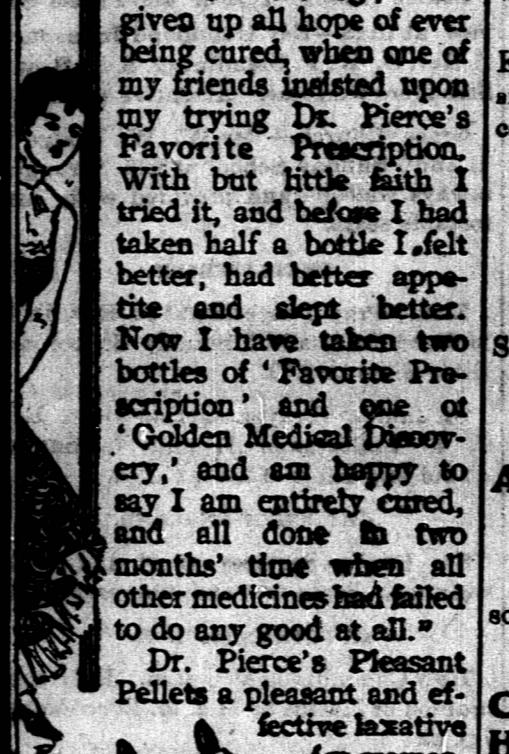

The Australian Commonwealth is looking for a distinctive flag and in response to a call for a design no fewer than 27,000 have been offered. The Canadian flag, it is said, was designed by the late Senator Plumb, approved by the Government of his day, and the consent of the Imperial Herald's College to its use was also obtained. It is now generally felt to have been a mistake. Something simpler than the conglomerate of the arms of the several Provinces should have been chosen.

Sheriff Pearson of Portland, Maine who is enforcing the Prohibitory Law there with great vigor, declared at Old Orchard recently that no hotel in Portland is selling liquor now. He added that he could be worth $50,000 had he chosen to stand in with the rum-sellers, who have made repeated offers to buy him out. It is a hard fight, no doubt, to enforce the Prohibitory Law, but if the law is good, and those in charge of its enforcement are alert, energetic and honest the thing can be done.

I could not rise to my feet without fainting.

"I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods," writes Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C. "It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not rise to my feet as all without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better, had better appetite and slept better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all."

A HOME CURE. Consumptives Need not Leave Their Own Homes to be Cured.

The Slocum System

Of Treatment is Offered you Absolutely Free.

A consideration not to be overlooked in the treatment of consumptives is the expense in quest of health. Some of our medical men are now advising their patients to go long distances in the hope that change of air will do them good. A lot of solemn nonsense is being said, and in the meantime the patient is suffering. "Stick to low altitudes," says one. "Go to the mountains," says another. How is a poor perplexed sufferer with sore lungs, to decide among these different authorities? The fact is people die of consumption in all climates. They recover from it too, in all climates if they are treated properly. The only positive cure for the disease is to kill the germs that produce it. This is accomplished under the Slocum system of treatment. The disease must have nothing to feed on. That is the principle underlying the Slocum system. You can try it at your home.

POSITIVELY FREE. You or your dear friends, have a FREE course of treatment. Simply write to THE S. A. SLOCUM, CUMBERLAND CO., Limited, 119 King St. West, Toronto, giving post office and express office address, and the free medicine (The Slocum Cure) will be promptly sent. When writing for them always mention this space. Persons in Canada, seeing Slocum's free offer in American papers will please send for samples to the Toronto laboratories.
