CLEAN UP THE SCHOOLYARD

I am sure every schoolyard needs some real cleaning these spring days, so why not a real get-busy, clean-up day for it? Think of what twenty or forty rakes and hoes and brooms could do in an hour! Besides, what a lot of fun it would be to have a half day's vacation in the spring sunshine, every pupil working like a soldier fixing up camp.

"It is the janitor's place to do it. I hear some lazy folks say."

No, not altogether, for you will be working for yourself. Don't you have to look at the trash and litter, the dilapidated hitching-posts and the last year's weeds? The schoolhouse is your home for at least half of your waking hours, from now until school closes, and if you have any pride at all you want your home to be pleasant, comfortable and attractive. Besides, flies and mosquitoes, which live in filthy places, are not only disagreeable, but may bring you terrible sickness; so it is a matter of personal health as well as good looks.

Were I the teacher in your school this spring we should have a half-day session in the open before the weeds get a start, using rakes and hoes and brooms for our tools, instead of pencils and chalk.

THE NIGHTINGALE'S SONG.

When robins have ceased their singing And shines each twinkling star, On drooping lilies and roses, Then daylight seems so far, When soft, pale, silvery moonlight, Falls on the restless sea, The nightingale sings each June night His plaintive song to me.

Oh, the lark sings in the sunshine, Up near the sky so blue, He sweetly sings in the morning Amid the crystal dew, The nightingale sings when moonlight, Falls on the rolling sea, His sweet, plaintive song each June night, The nightingale sings to me.

Muse so thrilling and tender, Charms on a summer night, Like beautiful dreams in slumber, That with night-time take flight, Then sing nightingale each June night Your plaintive song to me, Sing on when silvery moonlight, Tranquil falls on the sea, Lena McDonald, Cardigan.

ONE MAN'S SUCCESS

Saving and farming appear to work a whole lot better than fishing and farming. There are thousands of men along our Island coast line who own and operate a fishing boat and a farm, but not very many (though their numbers are rapidly increasing) owners of a saw mill and a farm. It looks as if the saw mill were a better side line than the fishing boat, at least Mr. Harry Tanner, Souris Line (near Harmony Jct.), is finding it so. Twenty years ago Mr. Tanner who was a Lunenburg fisherman and fished for years in various places at North Lake Campbell's Cove, Black Bush, etc., took the old McCarthy house, on Souris Line road for the winter. He had a wife and small family, supporting them in his summer fishing. That year he fished at Black Bush. There was a good farm at the McCarthy place, and a fine mill stream on the rear of the property, but another mill was operating in this stream about a quarter of a mile farther up, (McLean's.) Tanner used to work in saw mills in winter, both in Nova Scotia and we believe, at Rosses, when he fished at North Lake.

The fine mill-site in the McCarthy place bethought Tanner to see if he could not build a mill here. The property, or farm, was involved in ownership, but by investigating he got privilege to build a small house on the property, where he moved his little family that winter. That fall he consulted the men around about helping him to put up a saw mill, for he had not a cent of capital except his two willing hands. The people of Big Pond held, nearly all of them, wood lands on Kelly's Road, to the rear of Tanner's proposed mill and these people encouraged him to go on with the mill. He agreed, if they assisted him to build the saw mill, to saw at half price—at 25c per hundred feet, as all the other millers were charging 50c. This was an inducement and the people around helped generously in building the dam, which was the one big job to erecting a water power mill. There was plenty of brush and bushes and timber around, and the dam was completed that winter. He also got some help in erecting the building with the dam completed and a mill frame up. Mr. Tanner began to look around for old disused and castaway mill gear, old wheels, etc. The big water wheel he built himself. Fortunately it was not difficult to get the necessary mill gear required. He also got a circular saw somewhere and by next fall had the mill going. That summer necessity made him fish, but this was his last season fishing, for in the fall he started up the mill and began sawing according to promise, at 25c a hundred. Naturally, he got more work in the mill than he could attend to, and by working sixteen hours a day, was making much more money than these other millers sawing for 50c.

With such a start he soon acquired the north part of the McCarthy farm in which there was a lot of good timber, and also a block of woods, situated near the mill, from the Government at the price then charged, $1 an acre. Now Tanner could saw for himself as well as for his customers. In this way, and by working sixteen hours every day, he prospered though still charging 25c per cord for custom sawing, and it was only when spring boards went up to $2 per hundred feet, that he rose his sawing price only some 50 per cent. He has acquired most of the McCarthy property and is counted as one of the big progressive farmers. Any stranger passing along Souris Line Road in his auto would naturally enquire, in passing Mr. Tanner's place, "who lives there?" So fine an array of buildings, fences, cultivated fields etc., as may be viewed in the Tanner farm. The mill has given place to a modern, up-to-date turbine driven saw mill of great power and capacity. This case might be called "a successful Nova Scotian abroad," and shows that there is a field right here in the Island for men of push and energy, without going "abroad." This story of Mr. Tanner's success is not, however, a plea for higher education, for Mr. Tanner can neither read nor write.—X.

SPEAK ENGLISH.

"Learn to speak English. Free evening classes for women."—A sign-board.

Ah, ha! English is to be the world language. Not Spanish, which in its day would carry one well through the civilized world; not French, even yet supposed to suffice in polite society almost everywhere; not German, which only a few years ago was urged as the universal language of commerce. English! The world is now urged to study it. But where is that sign? It may be asked to halt the rhapsody. Oh, the sign? Why—it is prominently placed on the front of a large public school house in the City of New York, Borough of Manhattan, at the corner of East Houston and Essex Streets. That makes another matter of it, eh?—New York Sun.

REV. W. D. WILSON SPEAKS BEFORE THE CONFERENCE

SACKVILLE, N.B., June 14.—At this morning's session of the N. B. and P. E. I. Methodist Conference Dr. J. M. Palmer presented the report of the supernumerary fund, which showed a total of capital assets of $183,868.45 and a current income of $30,129.50. A report of the general fund was given by T. H. Keough of Toronto, who was present in place of the general treasurer of the supernumerary fund. Rev. W. D. Wilson, inspector under the prohibition act, addressed the Conference on some of the difficulties encountered in the enforcement of the act and the need of perpetual vigilance. He urged upon the Conference the necessity of procuring government control of all liquor sold under the act.

The following were appointed on the committee in connection with the united national campaign: Chief Justice McKeown, W. B. Snowball, Rev. C. M. Young, president H. E. Thomas.

The conference committee on the supernumerary fund were appointed as follows: Ministers—G. M. Young, Dr. George Steel, Thomas Marshall, J. M. Rice, J. J. Pinkerton, F. H. M. Holmes, Laymen—Dr. J. M. Palmer, W. B. Snowball, Col. F. S. Moore, J. A. Likely, Col. W. J. Osborne and L. W. Mann.

At the fifth sitting of the Conference on Saturday a lengthy discussion took place over the recommendation from the stationing committee that Woodstock be permitted to retain its pastor for a fifth year. It was decided to adopt the recommendation by a large majority.

A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of making certain changes in the circuits.

Rev. Thomas Hicks was re-elected treasurer of the contingent fund.

Lieut. E. C. Henninger, missionary to Japan, and recently returned from overseas service, addressed the Conference on the invitation of the president.

The Conference decided to meet next year at Sackville. It seemed to be the unanimous feeling of the members that the holding of the Conference annually at Sackville was the proper course.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham, of Toronto addressed the conference on the united national campaign in which five churches in Canada are co-operating in special evangelistic and financial enterprise. The budget for the Methodist church reached an aggregate of $4,000,000. The machinery of all the churches irrespective of denomination will be devoted to the great enterprise.

Chief Justice McKeown, of St. John, moved a resolution heartily endorsing the united national campaign and interchurch forward movement. The resolution pledged the conference to respond to the extent of its ability in reaching the financial objective of $4,000,000.

The resolution, seconded by Rev. G. M. Young, was unanimously adopted.

E. R. Machum, Dr. J. M. Palmer, M. C. Rice and Rev. G. M. Young were appointed a committee to nominate the committee of the conference on the united national conference. The question of making all semi-independent circuits missions was discussed.

At the evening session W. H. Goodwin, of Montreal, addressed the conference on "True Success."

Reports were received from the educational institutions. President Rev. Dr. Barden, reported one of the most successful years in the history of Mount Allison despite war difficulties. A science building and memorial library were two great requirements.

Dr. J. M. Palmer, principal of the academy, reported that never before had so many applications been received so early in the year.

Dr. Wigle, principal of the ladies' college, reported that the high water mark had been reached in attendance.
