EASTERN GUARDIAN

...PAGEANT ENJOYED-A Pageant of rare beauty was presented to a large congregation by the Y. P. S. of the Montague United Church on Easter Sunday. The Garden of Gethsemane portrayed was very real and beautiful with its many hued Easter blossoms softened by colored lights. A cross was lit up as Mr. A. W. Ives sang the "Old Rugged Cross". The Young People making the different parts of the Pageant very real. The doubters and seekers after knowledge, trying to understand that the Christ was indeed risen and the finding of the empty tomb making it all very impressive. The different Easter hymns were thrown on the screen and some were sung by the Young People and the congregation joining in the old familiar ones. "Christ Arose" was given as a trio by Messrs Ives, Martin and McLean, Miss Francis Coffin directed the Pageant and Mrs. Saint presided at the organ and Mr. Archie Hume accompanied on the violin. The program was very much appreciated and much credit is due Miss Coffin and Mrs. Saint for the splendid manner in which they had this Pageant presented.

New Glasgow

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pursey of Medford, Mass., have returned to P. E. Island for the summer months. Mrs. Pursey will visit her mother, Mrs. Nicholson, at Hunter River, and Mr. Pursey will visit his old home at Rustico.

Mrs. Albert Gallant, South Rustico, who has been visiting in Charlottetown, returned to her home.

Mrs. Everett Haslam, Springfield, was a week end visitor to Charlottetown.

On March 29, a concert was put on in the Cavendish Church by the Shining Star Mission Band, under the direction of Mrs. H. S. Bishop, Mrs. George McCoubrey was in charge of the music.

The concert throughout was of a very high order and each one, from a tiny tot of three to the oldest actor took his or her part in a very fine way.

The two most outstanding numbers in many respects were the "Springtime Pageant" and the "Crowning of Easter." The Springtime Pageant depicted the Spirit of Springtime, her six fairies and many of the spring buds and blossoms. The soft white dresses of the fairies with their bright sashes, hairbands, and wands in different colors, and the gay flowers with their quaint green caps made a very charming picture. The solos in the motion songs were taken very creditably by Frances Clark who acted the part of Springtime. The sacred pageant "The Crowning of Easter," was well portrayed. Pauline Webb represented Thanksgiving; Jean Clark, Christmas; Freda Smith, Good Friday; Loraine Webb, Easter; The Crown Girl, Edith Clark. Elmer Clark and Reginald Simpson, acting as pages, bore the cross in a very dignified manner. The choir assisted in the choruses; the Easter solo was beautifully rendered by Mrs. George McCoubrey, with Mrs. Wesley Smith at the organ.

NEW YORK WOMEN PUFFING ON PIPES

NEW YORK, April 7.-Pipe smoking, which some foolish men thought no woman would dare take up, is the fad of the moment among Park avenue's debutantes and society matrons.
Full credit for the vogue was claimed by Archibald Charles Montague Brazon Acheson, fifth Earl of Gosford, grandson of the Duke of Manchester.
Lord Gosford sat in a plush-carpeted suite overlooking Central Park puffing on a miniature pipe-a three-inch, one-ounce briar. It's his own idea. He designed it for himself. He never intended, he says, that any copies should be made, but-"When I came to the United States I found most of the ladies I met smoking cigarettes-and grumbling that they were violating doctors' orders by doing so.
"I watched them. They would finish one and use it to light another. They seemed to get no real pleasure from them. They said they smoked to quiet their nerves, but it seemed to make them twice as jumpy.
I decided it would be just the thing for your women, so I had a few made for my friends. Now every-where I go I see beautiful ladies puffing on pipes."
Lord Gosford warns feminine pipe-smokers not to use ordinary masculine tobacco, which he calls "fine for the out-of-doors but horrible in a parlor." For women and husbands whose wives won't let them smoke indoors he recommends very mild, very fragrant blends.

CORNWALL

The York Point and Cornwall Institute met at the home of Mrs. Aubrey McPhail on Monday night for this week. There was a good attendance of members considering the stormy evening. In the absence of the President, Mrs. Hazen Howard, the Vice-President, presided. After the regular meeting Mrs. Fred McLaren read a paper on "The Value of good pictures in the home." The York Point Ladies served lunch and a social time was enjoyed.

WEALTHY BUILDINGS ARE NOW TENANTS

PARIS, France, April 11 - (By The Canadian Press)-Anyone motoring around the outer boulevards of Paris now might well imagine himself to be on the outskirts of a city of departed millionaires, for in all directions are rows upon rows of sumptuous apartment buildings, tenanted and "To Let." Three years ago there was hardly a flat to be had in Paris. Most of these buildings were begun in the days of the boom, in the anticipation that tens of thousands of Parisians, rendered prosperous by a flourishing Bourse, would be able to afford them. The city of Paris alone has 5,000 vacant flats on its books. Rents are coming down, but very slowly.

home for some time.

The Young Peoples' Society met in the vestry of the United Church on Monday night. In the absence of the President, Max Thompson, the Vice-president presided. Jack Scott read the Scripture lesson and Elmer Frizzell led in prayer. Jack Crosby then read a story from the Pathfinder. The new rule that every member bring another member with him, or pay a fine resulted in several fines being paid. After the regular meeting a social time was enjoyed and games were played.

Quite a number enjoyed the skating in Cornwall Rink on Wednesday, April 6th, and it will likely be the last skate of the season.

All this week many people have travelled over the North River ice and as late as Friday evening, April 8th, horses with loads have managed to crawl over, but probably in another week we shall have the boats running.
