

The Signature.

To distinguish the original and genuine Worcestershire Sauce from the many imitations, see that the signature of LEE & PERRINS appears in White across the Red Label on every bottle.

No other sauce has such an exquisitely delicate flavour, or such a reputation among discriminating people in every part of the world.

FEW FREAK STYLES

Dignity and Simplicity in Both Line and Color.

Velvets Much in Evidence for Indoor Gowns as Well as for the Street Frock.

It is interesting to note that there are few freak styles in women's wearing apparel or absurd creations to catch the attention this season, but rather a determined effort to express dignity and simplicity, both in line and color.

The street frocks and suits, says a fashion writer, are of somber, neutral tone, and often trimmed with fur in harmonizing or contrasting tint. The fur forms the collar and cuffs, and when used on the skirt or tunic is generally put on in patches.

Take, for instance, a smart street frock of beaver color duvetyn with patches of beaver, trimming the panels that hang from the waistline at the back and front. The cuffs and high collar are also of the beaver. The lower part of the bodice is inset with a square of embroidery in brown and dull gold thread. Directly at the front and back underneath the two fur-trimmed panels is a larger panel of the material, decorated at the hem with cord tucking.

Another extremely smart frock is of brown velveteen, trimmed with nutria. The model is made with a long tunic, which is slit at the sides and trimmed at the edges with nutria. The tunic is set on to a loose-fitting back, which is drawn in slightly at the waistline with a sash, which encircles the waist, crossing at the front and loosely at the back, the ends being finished with tassels. The large collar, cuffs and the draped toque are of nutria.

Velvets are being used more and more for indoor gowns, as well as for the street frock. Many beautiful dinner gowns are fashioned from velvet

Fur Cuffs and Collar.

In the softest and most supple of weaves. These lovely velvets drape, but do not crush, a rare attribute in any fabric of this nature.

Often georgette, crepe or chiffon is used in combination with the velvet. The crepe or chiffon, for instance, may form the sleeves and part of the bodice while the velvet is used as a part of the bodice and skirt. Or the crepe may form an overfunic, as in the case of one lovely model, and the underfunic of velvet.

USE OF FUR FOR TRIMMING

Stylish Decoration Figures Conspicuously on Majority of Winter Suits and Wraps.

Almost every suit or wrap this winter has its bit of fur trimming. In some instances the fur trimming forms almost half the garment. A lovely wrap recently seen was of henna red velours with an enormous beaver collar which when opened formed a cape effect. A deep band of the beaver trimmed the coat at the lower part, extending up one-third of the coat length.

The accompanying hat was of beaver decorated with a feather ornament of henna red.

Jaunty little Eton coats of fur often complete a costume of cloth. An example is a costume of soft, warm wool velours, which has almost the warmth of a wrap which may be made comfortable enough for even average winter weather by the addition of a smart little coat of fur. Narrow bands of the fur could be used to trim the frock.

Different Aprons.

There is infinite variety of aprons; they are either of chiffon embroidered like the front of the corsage, which continues in two points around the waist, or else they are made with a sash to match, so as to connect with the waist.

"I forgot myself and spoke angrily to my wife," remarked Mr. Meekton. "Did she resent it?"

"For a moment. But Henrietta is a very far-minded woman. After she had thought it over she shook hands with me and congratulated me on my bravery."
