

French Soldiers Ordered To Continue Battle

MAXIMS
OF A
MERE MAN
Every misery missed is a new mercy.

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

The People's Paper Read by Everybody
Covers Prince Edward Island Like the Dew

MAXIMS
OF A
MERE MAN
Meanness is as hateful to God as waste.

Charlottetown Guardian Two Cents. Morning Guardian. Founded 1867. CHARLOTTETOWN, CANADA, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19, 1940 10 PAGES Annual Subscription Delivered $5.00 By Mail—P.E.I. $4.00; Canada and U.S. $6.00

PREMIER KING URGES HASTE IN HOME DEFENCE MOVES

Negotiations For Peace Not Yet Started, Report

Four Separated French Armies Continue Bitter Struggle Against Enemy.

Budget To Be Presented On Friday

Coming Events

- *Talkies—Eldon Friday. L-412-6-19-21.
- *Ice Cream Festival, Hazelbrook school, June 27th. L-648-6-19-21.
- *Cavendish Tea, August 7th. L-678-6-19-26.
- *"Se Eyes of Love" in French at Hall tonight. L-655.
- *Talkies—Murray River Thurs. L-512-6-19-21.
- Dance at Fort Road. L-665-6-19-21.
- Ice cream and dance, Earnest School Monday, June 24th. L-632-6-18-21.
- Reserve June 25th for barn at Fort Road. L-606-6-17-19-21-31.
- See "Arrival of Kitty" by White players in Kingston Hall. L-623-6-19-11.
- Mount Stewart Hall Friday—21st. Marie Players present. L-686-6-19-11.
- 20th. Webster's Orchestra. L-683-6-19-11.
- Stock Marketing Board red at once limited supply good pigs 20 lbs. up. L-684-6-19-21.
- Holy Redeemer Play "Tempest Sunshine" at Kinkora Hall, Friday 21st. 8:30 P. M. (A.S.T.) Specialties. L-672-6-20-21.
- Annual Meeting P.E.I. Ayshire Agricultural Hall, Charlottetown Friday June 21, 1 p.m. L-691-6-1731.
- Buying live hogs every week at Albany, Emerald and Frigon Albion list with A. C. G. Green Thursday. Mail of G. C. Green. Signed G. C. Green. Thue-Wed-14.

British Leave France; Tell Of Fighting

Canadians Take Over In Iceland

Declares Canada May Be Next In Nazis Objectives

Churchill Calls Upon Stout Hearts

Will Aid in Defending the Northern Island From Nazi Moves.

Compulsory Service Bill Given First Reading — Commons Told Of "Emergent Position Of Very Grave Character."

Speared Urged

Naval Situation

Canada Needs 40,000 Men For New Army

Passengers, Crew Safe

Ford To Build 6,000 Motors For Britain

Expect German Reply Tomorrow

Correspondent Describes Strange Night Voyage Of The Canadians To France

Division On The Move

Foxmen Meet In Annual Session

Lowell Hancock Named President — Activities Reviewed And Prospects Discussed.

Clothes May Come And Clothes May Go But Posing In Them Goes On Forever

Forecast

Maritime Provinces: Fresh To Strong Winds; Unsettled With Occasional Thunderstorms.

High Tide This Morning at 9:37 and Tonight at 11.

THE CAR FERRY SAILINGS

SUNDAY SERVICE

Annual Meeting P.E.I. Ayshire Agricultural Hall, Charlottetown Friday June 21, 1 p.m.

Don Stewart gave an exhaustive report of committee appointed to confer with the Dominion Government.

KING'S MESSENGER

J. Roland Robinson, shown arriving in New York via Clipper plane as a King's messenger. Fastened to his wrist by a stout rope, he carries a small cloth bag containing secret papers. The bag was reported weighted with lead so it would sink immediately in the event of enemy attack.

NAZIS FAIL TO SLICE FRENCH ARMY

BASEL, Switzerland, June 18 — (AP) — Armored German columns tried to slice the reorganized French army on the southern Jura mountains tonight to clear hands with Italians in the Alps, but failed to get through. Panzer tanks and armored car units, escorted by motorcycle machinegunners, tested the new French line, and found it strong. They withdrew slightly to await reinforcements before taking the new right wing of the French army "fighting for honor of the flag." To reach the Italians, the Germans will have to drive 100 miles a circuitous route around Geneva. In this new line along Saint Point Lake, source of the Dolba River in the heart of the Jura range (fringe of the Jura mountains) are units of the 450,000 Maginot fortress troops who escaped the Nazis Alsace-Lorraine trap by slipping behind a thin screen of Alpine Chasseurs who yesterday ended a desperate 36-

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Canada needs 40,000 recruits for the "citizens army" to defend the country in addition to 30,000 recently called for and the 115,595 now under arms, Air Minister Fowler, acting defence minister, informed the House of Commons today. Every able-bodied man will have a chance to train in arms. On Monday, 1,493 men were enlisted following orders issued over the weekend for immediate expansion of enlistment over and above the 30,000 needed for recruiting the 3rd and 4th divisions of the Canadian Active Service Force. Mr. Fowler said. General rate of enlistment is 80 men a day, and the munitions and supply department has assured provision of clothing, personal equipment and rifles for the recruits. (Continued on page 9, Col 4)

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

OTTAWA, June 18—(CP)—Urging speedy adoption of the Government's compulsory service bill Prime Minister Mackenzie King tonight warned the House of Commons "there is an emergent position of a very grave character" and "not a moment should be lost." "Cries of "no" roared through the House when the Prime Minister suggested it seemed likely it would take two days to pass the bill which he had hoped would go through today. Closing the debate on second reading Mr. King said he had made only a brief explanation of the measure this afternoon because he had felt "the extreme need of immediate action must be appert to all."

LONDON, June 18—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill called confidently tonight upon the stout heart of Britain to respond to the menace of invasion. He told the House of Commons, and later repeated in a broadcast: "Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war." In the hour of French military disaster he "cast up a dread balance sheet" and proclaimed the beginning of "the battle of Britain." Britain, he said, has more than 1,200,000 regulars and 500,000 local defence volunteers; Canada's 1st division is available "in the defence of their mother country." He said the "very grave character" of the situation was not a moment should be lost. He spoke of the remaining strength of the Royal Air Force, disclosed the "painful decision" to withhold Britain's full metropolitan (home defence) fighting plane strength from France and added: "We are now assured of immense continued and increasing support in munitions of all kinds from the United States and Canada, of air planes, and pilots from across the ocean." "If we can stand up to him (Hitler)," he said, "all Europe may be freed and the life of the world may move forward into broad, sunlit uplands." "But if we fall, the whole world" (Continued on page 7, Col 2)

LONDON, June 18—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill called confidently tonight upon the stout heart of Britain to respond to the menace of invasion. He told the House of Commons, and later repeated in a broadcast: "Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war." In the hour of French military disaster he "cast up a dread balance sheet" and proclaimed the beginning of "the battle of Britain." Britain, he said, has more than 1,200,000 regulars and 500,000 local defence volunteers; Canada's 1st division is available "in the defence of their mother country." He said the "very grave character" of the situation was not a moment should be lost. He spoke of the remaining strength of the Royal Air Force, disclosed the "painful decision" to withhold Britain's full metropolitan (home defence) fighting plane strength from France and added: "We are now assured of immense continued and increasing support in munitions of all kinds from the United States and Canada, of air planes, and pilots from across the ocean." "If we can stand up to him (Hitler)," he said, "all Europe may be freed and the life of the world may move forward into broad, sunlit uplands." "But if we fall, the whole world" (Continued on page 7, Col 2)

LONDON, June 18—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill called confidently tonight upon the stout heart of Britain to respond to the menace of invasion. He told the House of Commons, and later repeated in a broadcast: "Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war." In the hour of French military disaster he "cast up a dread balance sheet" and proclaimed the beginning of "the battle of Britain." Britain, he said, has more than 1,200,000 regulars and 500,000 local defence volunteers; Canada's 1st division is available "in the defence of their mother country." He said the "very grave character" of the situation was not a moment should be lost. He spoke of the remaining strength of the Royal Air Force, disclosed the "painful decision" to withhold Britain's full metropolitan (home defence) fighting plane strength from France and added: "We are now assured of immense continued and increasing support in munitions of all kinds from the United States and Canada, of air planes, and pilots from across the ocean." "If we can stand up to him (Hitler)," he said, "all Europe may be freed and the life of the world may move forward into broad, sunlit uplands." "But if we fall, the whole world" (Continued on page 7, Col 2)

LONDON, June 18—(CP)—Prime Minister Churchill called confidently tonight upon the stout heart of Britain to respond to the menace of invasion. He told the House of Commons, and later repeated in a broadcast: "Hitler knows he will have to break us in this island or lose the war." In the hour of French military disaster he "cast up a dread balance sheet" and proclaimed the beginning of "the battle of Britain." Britain, he said, has more than 1,200,000 regulars and 500,000 local defence volunteers; Canada's 1st division is available "in the defence of their mother country." He said the "very grave character" of the situation was not a moment should be lost. He spoke of the remaining strength of the Royal Air Force, disclosed the "painful decision" to withhold Britain's full metropolitan (home defence) fighting plane strength from France and added: "We are now assured of immense continued and increasing support in munitions of all kinds from the United States and Canada, of air planes, and pilots from across the ocean." "If we can stand up to him (Hitler)," he said, "all Europe may be freed and the life of the world may move forward into broad, sunlit uplands." "But if we fall, the whole world" (Continued on page 7, Col 2)