CORRECTS MAP—The December Sunset, the Pacific monthly, contains an article by Alfred Jeffreys on Lauchlin MacLean, "an irrigationist from Prince Edward Island, who has made important indentions on the map of Washington." Mr. MacLean is president of the Spokane Canal Company, the Fruitland Irrigation Company, and the Sheep Land Company.

WEDDING BELLS—A very quiet wedding took place recently at the Methodist Parsonage in Moose Jaw, Sask. when Miss A. M. Beaton of Hunter River, P. E. I., was united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Salton to Joseph Stafford of Skibbereen, Sask. Mr. and Mrs. Stafford left the following day on their wedding tour for North Dakota where they will spend Xmas, after which they will return to their own home in Skibbereen, Sask. Their many friends wish them a long and happy life together.

BEAUTIFUL MUSIC—The service in the First Methodist Church, Charlottetown, last evening was principally of song, the solos and choruses being taken from the Messiah so admirably given recently. The soloists were Miss G. Coombs, Miss F. Moore and Miss J. Hood who were all in good voice and sang with clear, sweet accord. After the regular service a short organ recital was held by Prof. Thompson and listened to by a goodly number. Charles Earle also sang two solos at this service and, as earlier in the evening, gave genuine pleasure in their rendition.
