HEADCHEESE The following might be of interest to a recent inquirer about making headcheese. This information is intended as an aid to those making the product for profit and is quoted from American Cookery: Any farming district that is within easy reach of the raw materials could establish in the near-by cities a clientele for its products of headcheese, and find this sideline profitable if the product is handled as follows: With a whole pig's head (minus the brain) use four pig's feet, either with or without tongue (with tongue it is more delicate), and blanch in plenty of water. That means let come to almost a boil, then drain, and wash in cold water. This is done to obtain a clear product free from impurities and greyness. Put the head to boil again, fully and freely covered with water, and let simmer for at least five hours. Add, while cooking, salt, whole peppercorns, one-half a bay leaf, two whole onions, and take off the scum from time to time. Then take off the flesh, and pick it from the bones, chop it very fine,

HEALTH In Memoriam

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

CRIME A book of outstanding interest and information, yet one which is probably read by comparatively few persons is the Canada Year Book. The volume for the year 1936 has the following to say about crime. Convictions for criminal offences, that is serious offences, in Canada shows the following: In 1924-25 per 100,000 population; in 1931-32 per 100,000 population; in 1934-35 per 100,000 population. During the 34 year period from 1900 to 1934 crime in Canada increased from 4833 to 31,684 or 553 per cent. The increase in the population of Canada during the same period was 1044 per cent revealing that the increase in crime rate was between five and six times that of the population.

At Fort Augustus on November 16, 1937, the death occurred of one of its highly respected residents in the person of Mr. Patrick P. Duffy at the advanced age of 82 years. He was a son of the late Mrs. and Mrs. Philip Duffy and lived on the old homestead during all his life. He was recognized as an outstanding farmer who had achieved remarkable success.

Mr. Duffy had been quite well and active, carrying on his part of the work with energy equal to those much younger in years until about two years ago he took seriously ill. He consulted Dr. Farmer, Mr. Stewart, who did everything possible to prolong his life. He apparently showed some improvement and was able to move around again. This fall he was again taken ill and it became quite apparent that he must now answer the final summons and his spirit gently passed away on the above date. He had the most consoling privilege of receiving Holy Communion daily from the saintly hands of his pastor, Rev. D. P. Croken who also administered the Sacrament of Extreme Unction just before he died.

His funeral took place on Thursday 18th to St. Patrick's Church, and notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, was largely attended. The casket was carried by the pall bearers over the path where he had so many times walked and from Divine service, Mr. Duffy's home was always open to the wayfarer and visitor and he would surely give you a hearty welcome.

Requiem High Mass was celebrated by the pastor Rev. D. P. Croken assisted by Rev. F. McQuaid, deacon, and Rev. Oswald Murphy, subdeacon, after which the remains were laid to rest in the adjoining cemetery. Services at the grave were performed by Rev. D. P. Croken.

Let us cherish the memory of a kind husband and a loving father and mother; his widow, Mrs. Alice Duffy, seven sons and two daughters, Rev. Henry A. Duffy, Alberta, Rudolph, Seattle, Washington; John, U. S. A.; Albert, New York; Patrick E., Port Augustus, Leo, and Earl at home, Mrs. Frank Walsh, New York, Mrs. Frank Koughen, Donagh, also one brother James P. Duffy, 340 Euston St., Charlottetown, and two sisters, Mrs. Sadie Aylward, Mrs. Theresa McQuaid, Lynn, Mass., and sixteen grandchildren.

The pall bearers were: John Hegarty, Peter Holland, John Weeber, Joseph Duffy, John Heron, and Joseph Kelly. Numerous Mass Cards and Letters of Sympathy received testify to the popularity of the deceased. May his soul rest in Peace.

MR. JAMES N. MACPHERSON Mr. James N. MacPherson was born at Big Pond, King's County, P. E. I. Dec. 24, 1847, son of the late Neil A. MacPhee and Catherine Macdonald, his wife; a nephew of the late Rev. Fr. Pius MacPhee and the late Very Rev. Daniel Macdonald, D.D. He attended the public schools at Rock Barra, Piquet and St. Columba.

Having grown to young manhood, he entered the shipbuilding trade in the employ of his uncles, the late Ronald and Angus Macdonald of Piquet, the former the father of the late Rev. Father Gregory, the latter the father of the late Rev. John A. Macdonald. Some time later he entered the employ of the late Alex. Cheverie, merchant and shipbuilder at Souris. Having worked in the shipyard he was promoted to the position of bookkeeper in Mr. Cheverie's store. In the year 1888 he married Mary Catherine Macdonald of Piquet, P. E. I., whose maternal great grandparents were Donald Macdonald of Keppoch and his wife Lady Flora MacKinnon, the daughter of Lord MacKinnon of Keppoch, P. E. I. in the early eighteenth century.

Of his union nine children were born, four sons and five daughters. As the shades of evening were falling on Saturday, Dec. 5, 1936, the frail barque of his earthly existence drifted out, to seek a peaceful haven beside a quiet sea. On Monday morning, Dec. 7, 1936, his funeral took place from his late home at Big Pond to St. Margaret's Church. Mass was offered by the pastor, Rev. K. O. McPherson, after which his mortal remains were interred in the family plot in St. Margaret's cemetery beside his youngest son James Charles, and his wife who predeceased him in 1928.

Eternal rest grant unto them O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them.

OBESITY

Obesity is a polite way of saying "to fat" or "too stout." Some persons have a hereditary tendency to stoutness and in some families a single member may become unusually stout even from childhood. But stoutness is more often the result of excessive eating and not enough exercise. It is a well recognized fact that people who have a tendency to become stout, despite the fact that they may eat moderately and play plenty of golf. The fact remains that they are consuming carbohydrates beyond their daily needs and the excess amount is converted into fat and stored in the tissues.

Obesity is undesirable on several counts. In the first place it tends to slow one up and make all exercise burdensome. Fat people suffer more than thin people when a fever hits them and they are poorer risks when they have to take a general anaesthetic. Why is this? Let us explain.

Our foods are divided into three classes, carbohydrates, fats and proteins. All are essential for normal nutrition, but as used for body energy they are all converted into heat and stored in the body. If we are taking into the body more food than is daily required the excess amount is stored in the tissues as fat. But the fat doesn't pick out just those parts of the body one can see which lay down layer upon layer of new weight. All body tissues are used in this storing up business and so the heart and the kidneys and other organs all get their share. This means that an organ like the heart has more bulk to keep working than the heart which normally does not carry a lot of extra fatty tissue. More work means more effort and that is why a very fat person gets short of breath and may experience air hunger, and is a poorer risk for an anaesthetic.

Body weight in most persons can be controlled. It is largely a matter of eating within reason and having a well balanced diet. If you are overweight consult your doctor. He will prescribe a diet to suit you. Above all avoid food faddists and the kind friend who took some pills which he says is exactly what you need. That is dangerous. An outstanding consultant told the writer not long ago, that some of the most serious cases with which he had to deal were persons who followed somebody's cure-all for control of weight.

Eat wisely, exercise properly and remember that it is easier, as a rule, to put on weight than it is to take it off.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Jessie Matthews At The Capitol Dark-eyed Jessie Matthews, the Dancing Divinity of It's Love Again and Evergreen, provides one of the major screen thrills of the year in her new song and dance picture, Head Over Heels in Love, which opened last night at the Capitol theatre. The picture art actress gets under way as the temperamental prima donna of the Paris cafes. But she always manages to call a whole raft of unfavorable publicity because of her weakness for causing sensational scandals on the boulevards of the exciting capital.
