Modern Meat Smoking

The old method of smoking meat was effective enough in its way, but it is now simply an antiquated process which is doomed to pass away like a good many other old fashioned things. To understand what our Liquid Hickory Smoke does, it is well to remember what is accomplished by smoking in the old way. As you doubtless know, smoke contains certain elements which have a preservative acti n In fac , it contains several of these elements, and it also contains other things which are of no use whatever in the smoking of meat. The object of smoking is to have the preservative elements of the smoke equally deposited upon the meat. As smoke does not contain a great deal of them it takes long and tedio s smoking to get the desired results. At the same time there is deposited on your meat soot and the other undesirable elements of smoke. The use of Jamieson's Liquid Hickory Smoke is simply a short cut which achieves the same results as the old method as far as preserving the meat is concerned, and which is still better than the old way in many respects.

TUESDAY MORNING FEBRUARY 27, 1906.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

The destruction of the Intercolonial workshops at Moncton is a public calamity. Following the destruction in like manner of the workshops of the P. E Island Railway not long ago, the Moncton disaster raises a number of urgent questions as to the caretaking of large and valuable public properties, what watch was kept, what means were at hand for preventing fires, or for giving warning, or for extinguishing a big conflagration. Certain it is that the bad coincidence of two fires destroying in such brief space the principal workshops of the two Government railway systems calls for a most probing and searching investigation. It also raises the question of the propriety of the Government continuing to be its own insurer, in full or in part, where properties of so great cost and of such urgent and continuous necessity are at stake.

These are unlucky days for the Intercolonial. Last year a two million dollar deficit resulted from its operation. The year before the loss was half as great. This year a million dollar fire occurs, paralysing the building and repairing forces of the road, and this just at the time when the Minister of Railways was beginning to restore the balance between receipts and operating expenses. What does it mean? Is it that the stars in their courses are fighting against the Intercolonial in particular and against Government ownership in general? Or is it that an incendiary's torch has taken a large revenge for some petty personal or political grievance? Investigation might or might not bring out the truth, but investigation there ought to be. Very probably, if ever the truth shall be learned, the cause will be found to be that most fruitful of all causes of disaster by fire.—Sheer carelessness.

What is of equal or even greater importance than the fire loss and partial mechanical paralysis of the road, at least to the Maritime Provinces, is the impetus which the disaster may give to the movement for the sale of the road to a company or its transfer to a commission. As all are aware there is a strong movement in the west to get rid of the Intercolonial as a public property. The big deficits of last year and the year before have furnished the argument. It matters not that the canals are a sink hole for millions and the St. Lawrence channel another, neither of them yielding any public revenue. Those works being in Central Canada the Dominion must keep them. But if the Center and the West combine, the Intercolonial, being an eastern work, must be got rid of. And now the destroyed workshops add the weight of another million dollars to the unreasoned argument.

If the people of the Maritime Provinces for a moment realised what it would mean to them to have their railway system transferred to one of the big railway corporations of the west they would rally against such a proposal as one man, and take any steps short of armed rebellion to prevent it. They do not realise what it would mean. They do not realise how easily and how suddenly it may be brought about. For the leaders of the dominant party have but to order it and a subservient, hide-bound majority would vote it with the utmost alacrity. This is the danger that now confronts the Maritime Provinces, and the lurid flames of the disaster at Moncton may but be the portent of a calamity tenfold more costly to the eastern section of the Dominion. The time may be and is we believe very near when the people of the east must stand on guard in defence of their rights in this matter.

Germany is a highly "protected" country, and there in the toy-making industry, which is extensive and carries to the ends of the earth the label "Made in Germany" the common rate of wages is just about three cents an hour. Skilled workmen earn about $1,50 and women $1 a week. Children slave for 37 cents a week. Sixty-seven per cent of the families engaged in the toy industry have incomes not exceeding $150 a year.

EDITOR'S MAIL.

ILLEGAL SELLING IN KING'S.

SIR:—I would like to say a word in your paper about the way the liquor business is handled in this part of the country. We are unfortunate, in this county, not only in having our share of rum taverns but especially so in having a wholesale den where liquor (so-called) may be obtained openly, in any quantity, and by everyone. It seems strange that such a place could exist in this Prohibition county but such is the case, and the evil done is awful. The owner supplies the majority of the other taverns through the county besides retailing in large quantities.

People ask why no convictions are brought against this king of lawbreakers, but although he is fined more seldom than others no one seems to know the reason. Doubtless the chief cause is that public sentiment is not strongly enough opposed to this business and the writer has also reason to believe that some of the authorities are false to their trust.

For instance, a few days ago a summons was served on this rumseller who received it with unusual calmness. The next day he was seen in the village of the Stipendiary Magistrate, and the following morning in the settlement where live the most of those who were subpoened against him. The same night these witnesses were noticeably active and by morning were absent.

In due time (the next day I believe) the constable was around with the subpeonas but he had no one to serve them on. Not one could be found. Now if this does not mean that the rumseller in question got information from some quarter and got his men out of the way, I would like to know how these witnesses escaped so cleverly. And escape they did for the constable is a man who does not shirk his duty.

And how long are we going to stand by and witness this deplorable state of affairs? The feelings of the community are outraged and the country robbed by such disreputable characters who are demoralizing our people, and creating drunkenness and misery.

ADVERTISING IS BROAD.

Advertising in itself means publiltcy and publicity is a very broad and comprehensive term. It does not mean simply a word whispered to a favored few. It is, rather, synonymous with a general, broadcast declaration, and the broader the scope of the announcement, the better the advertising. No occupied space that directs attention along given and desired lines can be reasonably regarded as wasted; nor can any funds expended to this end be adjudged extravagance.—American Medical Journalist.

WHAT ABOUT THIS.

The following figures are taken from the Dominion Government report for 1905.

The profits earned for the previous year per $1000,00 of Insurance in force by the different Life Insurance Co's here mentioned are:— Canada Life $5.75 Confederation $3.60. Federal $3.39. Great West $3.45. Imperial $2.26. Manufacturers $4.33. Mutual of Canada $6.27. North American $1.55, Sun $4.63. LONDON & LANCASHIRE $10.80. The profits accumulated per $1000 on the business in force by the same Co's are:—Canada Life $13,52, Confederation $18.08 Federal $3.48, Great West $14.10. Imperial $7.34. Manufacturers $12.17. Mutual of Canada $19.07. North American $14.15 Sun $13.76. LONDON & LANCASHIRE $83,62.

The reason this roldeliable English Co. and show such a difference in profits compared to the Canadian Co's. is quite apparent to any person who knows. Anticipating the action of the Dominion Government and the reductions that would occur in interest rates, the management of this Co. set aside a large sum in 1892 and later again in 1897 thereby providing for the decreasing rate of interest and placing the reserves of the Co. upon a basis equal to that adopted by other Co's years after.

The Vice-President of a leading Canadian Co. at their annual meeting held in Feb. 1900 said:—"I am free to say that if ten, fifteen or twenty years ago the Directors could have foreseen what remarkable reductions would occur in interest rates they would undoubtedly have applied a portion of the profits at each quinquennial period towards strengthening the Co's. Reserves."

This certainly reflects credit on the management of the LONDON & LANCASHIRE LIFE.

Lewis H. Beer, Charlottetown, is the representative for this staunch Co. in his Province and will be pleased to quote ates at any time.

The Extended Popularity of

Diamond Dyes

Induces Speculators to Introduce Weak and Worthless Imitations.

DIAMOND DYES, true home helpers and money-savers for mothers and wives, are dear to every woman's heart.

Recently, speculators have gone into the package dye trade with the view of gaining a share of the immense and ever-increasing trade held by the manufacturers of the DIAMOND DYES, but all such efforts will, as in the past, result in failures.

The crude and worthless dyes brought out in opposition to the DIAMOND DYES, can never become popular, for the simple reason that they have not one good quality to boast of. The merchants of Canada who were induced to buy these adulterated package dyes now find them dead and worthless stock.

The progressive and busy druggists and dealers of Canada sell only the DIAMOND DYES, which have an established reputation of over twenty-five years. The modern merchant has not the time of inclination to encourage the sale of worthless and deceptive goods.

If our Canadian women desire full, brilliant and fast colors, they should at all times ask for the DIAMOND DYES, the only guaranteed package dyes in the world. When buying package dyes, see that the words DIAMOND PACKAGE DYES are on each packet handed out by your dealer. WELLS & RICHARDSON CO., LIMITED, MONTREAL, P. Q., will send free to any address their New Dye Book, Card of Dyed Samples, and new book in verse entitled "The Longjohns Trip to the Klondike." This little book is interesting thousands.

Separate tenders must be submitted for the work in each District.
