Dr. MacMillan had recently stated in the Legislature that he might resign in protest against the Provincial Government's failure to include any grant to the Society this year. The Society last year had received $300. Formerly they had been receiving $500 and they had asked this year for a grant of $2,000 to pay the salary of an agent to replace Mr. W. J. Brawders, who is now in full-time employment with the Government. Premier Jones had stated in the House that the obligation rested on the City of Charlottetown of assisting the Society at this time.

ARCHIVES IN CHARLOTTETOWN — Under the auspices of the Executive of the Women's Missionary Society (Eastern Division) through its Historical Convener, Mrs. W. A. Stewart, of Charlottetown, and with sanction and kind permission of the Kirk Session, a specially built cabinet has been placed in St. James' Church, Charlottetown, P. E. I., to preserve historical material gathered for the Society by Mrs. Stewart during the past fifteen years. Mementos from the Geddie's, the Gordon's, the Robertson's and others who served the Church in her overseas missions, together with historic memorabilia, reports and papers on various congregations in Prince Edward Island and a collection of Bibles and Psalters of the early nineteenth century constitute the collection as at present. These have all been carefully sorted, identified and labelled and are on display under glass and key. Space has been provided for additional material of definitely historical value and, when adequately and accurately identified, may be sent from any part of the Maritimes to St. James' Church, Charlottetown, P. E. I., where it will be placed in safe keeping. — Presbyterian Message.
