Daytime Dresses of Tweed, Jersey and Wool Crepe are Most Popular

Daytime Dresses of tweed, Jersey and wool crepe, are most popular. The wool Jersey dresses have a great many admirers among business women especially, because they require so little attention to keep them looking fit. While they are favored in Norfolk and other tailored styles, a number of them introduce such feminine touches as embroidery and smocking. Fashionable women are choosing these frocks in bright shades of blue, tan, rose and green. Price $8.50 to $20.00.

Crepe Satin Dresses

There are still a few of these wonderful bargain dresses left. These dresses have style details—vestees, two-belt effects, metallic braids, etc. Colors, black, navy, canton blue, chestnut, browns and greens. Bargain price $11.98

With the donning of your Fur Coat, the woman of fashion needs a Metallic Hat. It may be a tight little draped turban or a piquant brimmed affair of gold or silver lace, but it must have a glint about it to harmonize with the semi-formed fashion which employ the popular metal cloth. You will find a great number of these intriguing little hats in our mid-winter displays, priced so invitingly no one will want to resist their golden and silvery charm.

"THE BARGAIN CENTRE"

Mary and Jackie Marchbank, dressed as "bride and groom," hauling a basket filled with overflowing with beautiful and useful gifts. These were opened by Miss Jean Caseley and Miss Louise Mease, and nicely arranged by Miss Ethel Agnew, while Mrs. Ira Huestis read the names of the donors, and the verses so appropriately chosen. Some of these caused much merriment. Miss Picketts then thanked her many friends for their emphatic expression of cordial good wishes, and this was acknowledged by the guests in singing, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Thus the evening was most pleasantly spent, with music and other means of social intercourse, that completely delighted the body social. A most palatable lunch was served in dainty style by the ladies. The good will and good wishes of all were expressed throughout the evening, and still further expressions are to follow on Wednesday evening.
