The April issue of the Farmer Magazine appears an interesting article by Mrs. W. L. Carr, entitled "Show girl-true type," which will be read with interest by Prince Edward Island teen-age girls especially those who are interested in horses.

The young lady in the article is Miss Viny Jones, daughter of Mr. J. Walter Jones, M. L. A. and Mrs. Jones, Eton.

Princess McCrimmon, the successor of Miss Jones in horseback riding brings to the mind of the writer a story told by a former Prince Edward Island Clegman, himself a musician of note, when he addressed his young people with regard to public speaking he always said there were three rules to follow viz:—1st, practice; 2nd, practice; 3rd, practice; with added to that of course a love for you work and interest in it.

As the articles said in accordance with family tradition Miss Jones has opened up a new career for farm girls and her example might well be followed by more of our girls although perhaps they might have to begin on a much smaller scale. Her description given in the words of the poet Masefield must be very pleasing to her family and friends.

Congratulations are in order to Mr. and Mrs. George MacLean, Lewis, on the splendid showing made by their son Mr. J. Angus MacLean, recently, having been awarded an "exchange Scholarship" with the university of British Columbia.

Mr. MacLean is a junior student at Mt. Allison University and is a very clever debater which talent is looked upon by his Belfast friends as being hereditary. Those who had the privilege of hearing Mr. MacLean on the platform in Iona had a few years ago feel the above honor is truly merited and will follow his career in the future with pleasure.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. J. SPENCE MOAR Friends throughout the Province will regret to learn of the sudden passing of Mr. J. Spence Moar, whose death occurred on Sunday, April 11th, at his home in New Perth.

Mr. Moar who was 60 years of age was widely known as one of the leading farmers of Kings County, taking a very keen interest in agriculture and its subjects, and although he did not attain the years of some, he has accomplished much for the betterment of the district in his useful life.

He was an outstanding neighbour and extremely hospitable, visitors and strangers always finding a warm welcome at his lovely farm home.

One brother, William, and one sister, Margaret, both of home, are left to mourn.

The funeral which was held from his late residence on Tuesday, April 13th, was largely attended, services being conducted by the Rev. C. E. Armstrong, of Montague.

Interment was in the Union Road Cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. AGNES TRAINOR At Newton Lot 26, on Sunday, evening April 11th, 1937 there passed peacefully away to her eternal reward the soul of Mrs. Agnes Trainor.

She was a daughter of the late Thomas Murray of Middletown, P. E. I. and was born 73 years ago. Some fifty years ago she was married to the late John Trainor of Shamrock, where she resided until two years ago when she went to live with her daughter in Newton.

The late Mrs. Trainor was a faithful and practical Catholic and during her illness was frequently visited by her beloved Pastor the Rev. Dr. M. J. Smith from whose hands she received the last consolations of Holy Mother Church.

A kind and loving wife, a true and faithful mother, a good and charitable neighbour, a good and practical Catholic woman can be truly said of the life of Mrs. Trainor.

She leaves to mourn one daughter Mrs. Albert McKenna of Newton, two sons, George P. Joseph and John Harold all of Shamrock.

Her funeral took place to St. Malachi Church, Kinkora, on Tuesday morning and was largely attended. A High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. George McCabe who also performed the services at the grave. The pall bearers were six of her lifelong neighbours Aeneas Hughes, Emmet Huchess, Patrick McCarhan, Emmet Duffy, Patrick McCarville and James Greenan.

May he soul rest in peace.

Spring Touch Of Whitewash

In the spring the farmer's fancy may rightly turn to thoughts of whitewash, for, after the long winter, the barns, and creamery, and home fences look much in need of being brightened up.

Even dwellers in the city or suburbs will find that an outbuilding would be none the worse for a spring touch-up. And there is nothing after all better so inexpensive as whitewash.

Persons are often deterred from using whitewash through the fear that a shower of rain might ruin it, but the Dominion Experimental Farms have evolved a waterproof whitewash for outdoor work which will prevent a newly whitewashed barn from looking a picture of dejection after a downpour. It is made up in the following proportions:—slake 25 pounds of quicklime in 12 gallons of hot water, and add two pounds of salt and one pound of sulphate of zinc dissolved in two gallons of water. To this, add two gallons of skim-milk. An ounce of alum, though not essential, improves the wash. Salt should be omitted if the whitewash is required for metal surfaces which rust.

For farm buildings a disinfectant whitewash may be desired. Here is a recipe recommended by the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Saskatchewan. First, 50 pounds of lime are dissolved in eight gallons of boiling water. To this is added six gallons of hot water which is ten pounds of salt and one pound of alum dissolved in it. A can of lysol is added to every 25 gallons of the mixture. A pound of cement to every three gallons is gradually added and thoroughly stirred. The object of using the alum is to prevent the lime from rubbing off. Cement makes a more creamy mixture, so that it is easier to apply and more surface is covered. Lysol is added for disinfecting purposes, but a quart of cresol disinfectant to every eight gallons would serve the same purpose. Lysol is preferred when the colour is to be kept white.
