IN MEMORIAM

MR. FREDERICK GEORGE COMPTON

The passing of Mr. Frederick Compton whose death occurred at his home in St. Eleanors on March 21st has cast a gloom over the whole community where he was so well and favorably known.

The late Mr. Compton was born at St. Eleanors sixty-two years ago. He belonged to one of the oldest and most highly respected families in the province. He was the third eldest son of the late George Compton and a grandson of Major Thomas Compton who was the founder of St. Eleanors' district and who by his efforts, did so much for the improvement and development of St. Eleanors in its early days.

With the exception of a few years spent in the United States, when a young man, the late Mr. Compton spent all his life in St. Eleanors. He was lame from a small boy but he bore his affliction without murmuring and worked on his farm to the best of his ability. Failing health and financial difficulties caused him to abandon the farm, and come to live in the village of St. Eleanors. Feeling crushed, his eyesight failing, his health gone, the burden of life was too heavy for his weakened frame, and his sensitive spirit took its flight. Fred was he better known, was one of nature's noblemen. His hospitality was known far and wide. A good neighbor, a kind husband and father, and in sickness or trouble he was always ready with an extended hand to help both rich and poor. His host of friends mourn the passing of one of their best and most worthy friends. It was his habit to pass through the deep waters of affliction, but we are told by a sacred writer that those that come out of great tribulation shall be arrayed in white robes and serve before the Throne, and he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them and wipe away all tears from their eyes. These are comforting words for the bereaved ones. For with the rod of chastisement, goes the precious promise of the father's love.

The late Mr. Compton was twice married, his first wife was Marie Munro of Georgetown who predeceased him some thirty years ago, his second wife was Elizabeth Andrew of St. Eleanors, who with seven children survive him, namely, Marie, Edna, Eleanor, Sadie, in the United States, Lillian, Clifton and Louise at home. On the 24th of March a large crowd of sorrowing friends gathered at the home to pay their last respects to a departed friend and neighbor. He was quietly but tenderly laid to rest in St. John's Cemetery where he was a life long member of the church.

To the sorrowing widow and family, brothers, sisters and relatives, heart felt sympathy is extended. (Other papers please copy) rower should dictate terms to the lender. "There is no desire on my part to ask the Dominion for the privilege of dictating to it, when we should be given a loan," he declared.

ALBERTA GOVT

Payment of interest on the bond maturity Premier Aberhart said would take the form of a "token payment"—an evidence of his province's good faith in meeting its obligations. The maturity, he said, was an inheritance and "we are doing our level best to put our house in order....to meet further obligations as they arise."

His administration also sought word from Ottawa concerning renewal of Alberta's unemployment relief agreement which terminates today. Under the agreement the province obtains a federal grant of $175,000 each month.

The situation, government officials said, may have serious consequences for Alberta cities which receive a major part of the federal grant for direct relief purposes. For the past four months Calgary's monthly share has been $80,000 and Edmonton's $90,000.

HOLD FIRM

OTTAWA, March 31.—(C. P.)—At a late hour this evening there had been no apparent change in the determination of the federal government to let Alberta go its own way financially, unless Premier Aberhart agrees to the conditions under which he may receive further assistance from the Dominion treasury.

Finance Minister Dunning, before entering the House of Commons for the evening session, read a despatch from Edmonton in which the Social Credit premier of Alberta declared the province would be forced to default the $3,200,000 bond redemption, due tomorrow, unless assistance came from Ottawa. He declined to comment.

Shipments Must Be Properly Described

OTTAWA, March 31.—Revenue department officials stated instructions had been issued late today to customs officers of Halifax holding up four carloads of scrap metal until the shipment had been properly described in the bill of lading. A similar situation developed as in the shipment held up on March 13.

"Customs authorities must insist on shipments being properly described in bills of lading," a department official stated. "The present shipment was billed as scrap metal squares containing nickel. An expert for a railway company carrying the shipment to Halifax tested it and found it did not contain nickel. The shipment will be held up until the description is corrected."

The question sanctions or revenue did not enter into the action, the official said. Of course the authorities would check up to make sure the metal went to the port to which it was consigned, which was Hamburg, Germany. The delay at Halifax would depend on how long it took the shippers to correct the description.

One of the reasons the department insisted on accurate descriptions was to insure accurate statistics, the official said.

LIBRARIES GAIN FROM TEAM-WORK

LONDON, Ont., March 30.—(C. P.)—The county library experiments in Middlesex and Lambton receive highly favorable comment in the annual report of the Inspector of Public Libraries, F. C. Jennings.

By the co-operative plan which is practised by the majority of the smaller libraries in these two counties, each of the member libraries is enabled to receive a selection of new books every three months. These, when added to the library's own stock of books, give to its patrons not only a wider selection but also the opportunity to see the newest books.

Miss Dorothy Carlsie, public librarian at Sarnia, receives credit for having given the plan her full support when it was first projected for Lambton County. County libraries had been taled of for years but it remained for some group of people to see what could be done and the Lambton library workers were the pioneers. Middlesex has since followed and fine assistance has been given to this second county plan by R. E. Oroueh, the London public librarian.

He saw no justification for Inverness coal going through S. Cunard and Company, Halifax, to the sanatorium or any other government institutions.

The government had bought some coal direct from the mines and some from dealers, Mr. Dwyer said. In that way they had bought some from Cunard.

"There is nothing mysterious about that," the Minister declared. "It is as clear as mud," interjected Col. Harrington.

"As I understand it, the government sold the coal to Cunard and Cunard sold it back to the government at a profit to Cunard," remarked Joseph Macdonald (Cons. Cape Breton North). "That profit seems to be pure velvet."

Noting a large percentage of coal for the Nova Scotia Sanatorium at Kentville had been purchased through dealers, Percy C. Black (Cons. Cumberland) declared the supplies should be bought direct from the mines, with the small mines getting their share of the orders.

Time Element In Voting Considered

OTTAWA, March 31.—The House of Commons committee reviewing Canada's electoral legislation today frowned upon a suggestion that the government be called upon to pay a substantial proportion of a candidate's election expenses. The view expressed by members was government already had a big financial load to carry. Cost of electing members to Parliament should not be added.

Just before the adjournment of the committee to meet at the call of the chair, some discussion took place on proposals to consider the time element when conducting elections. Members stated in past elections results in Nova Scotia were published in British Columbia before polls in that province closed. This might exercise an influence on British Columbia voters.

Hours of voting might be "staggered" to get round this difficulty, or, as an alternative, opening of ballot-boxes in the Maritime Provinces could be delayed until voting on the coast was finished.

Further consideration will be given to the problem.

Alleged Graft In N.S. Govt. Coal Deals

(C. P.
