

Fur Fashion

Mrs. Lemuel E. Prowse as she appeared at the International Fur Breeders' Style Show at the Charlottetown Hotel, wearing a silver blue mink sling cape.

Top Centre:
Miss Beryl DeBlois gave an effective showing of the eight skin Koh-I-Nur mink neck piece with one of the fall's smart tailored suits.

Centre:
Miss Barbara Quigley was most appealing in her rich white-marked silver fox jacket over an evening dress.

Mr. Alan MacMillan, with her tailored suit, gave a splendid demonstration of how lovely the pearl platinum fox cape will look on a well-dressed lady lucky enough to possess such a charming fur.

Foretaste

Mrs. Wilson Beckett demonstrated the piece-de-resistance of the entire Fur Show, the much admired full length natural wild mink coat.

Bottom Centre:
Mrs. Vincent Fraser made an excellent model for the blue front mink cape which was exceptionally beautiful.

This fine showing of exquisite and valuable furs was arranged by the Junior Ladies' Aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

Miss Audrey DeBlois was chosen to demonstrate the full length ranch mink coat which was the admiration of the guests who showed their appreciation of the fine showings by enthusiastic applause.
