Use it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, the pains of rheumatism and sciatic, sore throat and chest. Horses are liable very largely to similar ailments and are equally amenable to the healing influence of this fine oil remedy which has made thousands of firm friends during the past fifty years.

SCHOOL CHILDREN IN TALKIES

—Possessing the art of talking pictures, school authorities of Hungary are introducing courses in elocution in connection with the instruction in motion picture acting and production that is to be given in all the public schools of that country. As originally planned, the pupils were to be taught dramatic art in preparation for acting before the camera, but with the development of the young screen artists are to be prepared for speaking parts as well. They will also be taught how films are made and projected, and the entire technique of writing scenarios from comedies to histories will be included.

VARIABLE HAY VALUES

(Experimental Farm Note)

During the past few years the Forage Crop Division of the Dominion Experimental Farm has investigated quite extensively some of the causes of the variation in the dry matter of forage crops. While practically all types of forage plants were investigated the present remarks will refer largely to those used for hay purposes. The prospect of a purchaser of a ton of red clover or alfalfa hay cannot be induced very readily to buy an equal amount of pure grass hay. He knows that the clover hay is supposed to possess more of the high priced protein that he is anxious to feed. Fewer people seem to be aware of the fact that there may be more variation in the protein content of either red clover or alfalfa hay, cured in different ways, than usually exists between clover hay and timothy hay. The investigations of the forage plant division indicate that the weather conditions at harvesting time and the method of curing the

This appears to be generally true with all types of forage plants. In purchasing hay of all kinds it would appear to be the best policy of wisdom to make sure that the majority of the leaves remain, and that the conditions under which it was cured were as favourable as possible as indicated by a bright

Prohibition Court At Summerside

Magistrate George J. Tweedy held court at Summerside last Saturday and dismissed the case tried before him the previous week against a ranch keeper on the western outskirts of Summerside. The accused had denied any knowledge or connection with the liquor found on the adjacent property, and there was no evidence to show that he had anything to do with it personally or that it had been found on his own land.

Three further cases were then heard by His Honour, and judgment was reserved in each case. The first case was against a Summerside party for selling a teddy of rum to a young man from Malapogue. Evidence was given of the purchase, and the defendant testified that he was present when the sale was made, but had nothing to do with it, but he admitted that the man who actually delivered the liquor was his partner at the time of conducting a Refreshment Shop.

The second case was against a Kensington party charged with having a quantity of alcohol in his possession. Evidence was given of the finding of the alcohol by the and higher the latter part due to chain stores taking on supplies for next week. Grapefruit lower due to accumulated stocks in hands of jobbers and light demand. Prospects of a stronger market next week (this week). Good quality and color fruit is active at prevailing prices.

New York's auction markets also reported heavier sales of Florida fruits than of those from California. The market disposed of 100 cars of Florida fruit and 141 of California citrus. During the previous week, 188 cars of Florida fruit were sold and 141 from California. Prices ranged from as low as $1.15 to $9.75 for oranges. The price of $9.75 was paid for a line of Indian River pineapple oranges. No. 1 oranges averaged from $3 to $6 according to the report, which stated also that grapefruit sales fell off during the week.

Market observers declare the Florida sales this week will be about as heavy as those of last week, but an increase in California arrivals is anticipated.

Spring Park School Closing

The Christmas closing of Spring Park School took place on Friday morning at 10.30 o'clock. The school room was nicely decorated for the occasion. The parents and friends present were treated to a splendid programme of songs and recitations, one number of which took the form of a surprise to the principal, Mr. Harold Yeo, and his assistant, Miss G. Farquharson. Both thanked the scholars for the gifts and wished them "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." A vote of thanks was tendered the Women's Institute and Mr. P. W. Burke for fruit and confectionery most generously supplied. A few remarks by Mrs. P. A. Driscoll, who presided, brought the proceedings to a close. The following is the programme:

Dialogues: Nine Senior pupils.

FLORIDA FRUIT OUTSELLS THAT OF CALIFORNIA

TAMPA, Dec. 24—Florida citrus fruits were far outselling the California product at the Philadelphia auction markets last week, according to reports received today by the Florida Citrus Exchange. The Philadelphia market handled 10 cars of Florida fruit, as compared with twenty-seven cars shipped from California.

The report on the week's business from the market, at that city follows: Oranges slower and easier the first part of the week. More active
