Trinity Church Will Celebrate Seventy-Sixth Anniversary, Sunday

Sunday, November 10th, Trinity United Church, Charlottetown, will celebrate the seventy-sixth anniversary of the dedication of the church building.

The process of time the building was past and the property was sold and improved—notably by the addition of the Memorial Hall, which was dedicated in 1884. A large organ was installed many years ago and later renovated and modernized. Fine oak pews replaced the earlier ones originally provided by the United Church of Canada. The Presbyterian congregation, which then changed its name to Trinity United Church, was the largest Protestant congregation in the Dominion under the name of The Methodist Church, and in the historic union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches became the United Church of Canada. The Presbyterian congregations in Charlottetown having elected to date themselves from the time of the union, the congregation which was known as the First Methodist Church, which then changed its name to Trinity United Church, was the largest in the Dominion.

Deep Therapy In Constant Use At P. E. I. Hospital

The benefits of the deep therapy machine purchased for the Prince Edward Island Hospital in 1937, were brought out at a short paper given at the meeting of the Prince Edward Island Hospital Junior Aid last week.

Before the purchase of this machine the ordinary X-ray machine in addition to its use in taking pictures of various parts of the body for purposes of diagnosis, was used with an attachment in the treatment of disease. But this machine of 100,000 volts, was inadequate in the treatment of deep-seated diseases. Through a deep therapy machine was used, it was felt by hospital authorities to be a necessity if the welfare of the people was to be adequately served. It was purchased at a cost of $4,942. Of this sum $192 was raised by public subscription, the balance being paid by the hospital.

This machine of 200,000 volts, is being used in the treatment of many ailments, chief of which is cancer. At the Prince Edward Island Hospital about 100 treatments a month are being given by Dr. J. C. Houston, head of the X-ray department. As many as 200 treatments were once given in one month.

Statistics have proven the value of this machine in fighting against cancer. Particularly in the second degree cases has its success been noted. This 90 per cent. of the cancer patients who receive treatment when the disease is in its first stage are cured, proves the imperative necessity of educating the public to seek early treatment.

You Can't Kill Christmas Spirit

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Neither the Blitzkrieg nor the "Blockade" is going to prevent the spirit of Britain from enjoying their traditional Christmas pudding.

It may seem a little early to talk about things relating to Christmas, but then, perhaps it is not generally known that a Christmas pudding should always be made at least a couple of months before it is eaten.

As much a tradition as Father Christmas or the Christmas tree, the English Christmas pudding, properly made, should contain, besides the foundation of flour, sugar, eggs, suet, raisins and currants, various mixed spices, brown sugar and treacle and any other special ingredient the housewife favors.

Brandy is poured over the pudding just before serving and set alight, and then ritual requires that the pudding is carried round the table before it is placed before the head of the house, who serves it to the assembled party.

It is a well established custom for every member of the household to assist in the stirring of the pudding after the cook has mixed in all the ingredients.

When the English cologne was redesigned a year or two ago, and the small silver, three penny piece gave place to the twelve-sided and much larger copper bit, confusion reigned in many English households around Christmas-time. For another tradition of the Christmas pudding was that these tiny three-penny bits should be embedded in it—on the principle of the "lucky dip."

To bite on a small thin piece of silver was no great danger, but the prospect of closing one's jaws suddenly on a large lump of copper rightly frightened housewives and mothers.

Thus the three penny piece has either been discarded as a component ingredient of the Christmas pudding or its place taken by the six-penny piece, less lavishly sprinkled.

Girl's Courage Is Recognized In Award List

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 5.—(CP)—Sixteen-year-old June Mills, of Saint Ste. Marie, Ont., has been awarded the Royal Canadian Humane Association's bronze medal for a heroic action last June 9. The girl, one of a party of seven, tried to save members of her party struggling in the water in Haviland Bay and succeeded in rescuing one.

Five persons were drowned, including the girl's mother and a young brother, Earl, when the boat in which they were returning from a camp across the bay was swamped and the seven persons tossed into the water. Others drowned were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Macdonald and their son, Donald.

It was dark and most of the party disappeared in the water. June went to the rescue of Mr. Macdonald but was forced to let him go and then directed Macdonald's father, Donald, to the boat, and held her there until July's father arrived in another boat one hour later.
