

THE WESTERN GUARDIAN

PETTY OFFICER M. COOK

His Auto-Intoxication Had Nothing To Do With Volstead

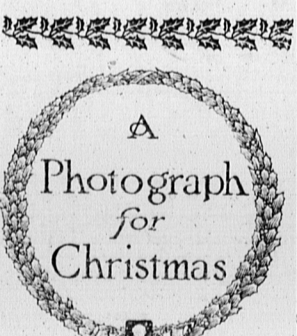

Mr. M. Cook of 1236 Pacific Street Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I felt drunk most of the time. My head was dizzy, I couldn't think clearly. I paid no attention to it until one day I dropped a coin and when I stooped to get it, I got so dizzy I fell in the middle of the street and was almost run over. I later found out that the cause of this condition was due to a sluggish liver causing FAULTY INTENSINAL ELIMINATION (constipation). This was promptly and effectively overcome by a short course of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They were a life-saver in my case. My appetite has doubled, my dizziness has gone, and my pep is great." Carter's Little Liver Pills have been recommended by druggists everywhere for 47 years. 25c a package.

Writer Laments Passing Of Masculine Chivalry

GERMAN WOMAN CRITIC SAYS WAR HAS HAD EFFECT ON MEN'S MANNERS

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—European men of the best families have since the war retrograded in gentility even to the extent of losing the art of gracefully kissing a lady's hand, and they stand about drawing rooms with their hands in their pockets in a manner which reminds Mrs. Wanda Jaus Rothe of "a lot of benevolently inclined Turkish pashas who are quite willing to be amused by their pet harem wives." This outraged writer gives vent to her opinions in a long article in the Hanover "Courier." Lamenting the disappearance of chivalry from European society and attributing this chiefly to the "swell-headedness" which has sprung up among men of all classes since the war, she says that while American women are enjoying the comforts of riding about on balloons (trousers their European sisters are being oppressed by the male "swell-heads," who have lost all traces of good manners.

Love makes the cottage a palace of gold. Nature alone knows what she wants. The deed is everything; the fame is nothing.

Special service Tues, evening Nov. 11 at 7:30 at Cape Traverse.

—MALPEQUE.—The Thanksgiving Season will be fittingly remembered in both services in the Malpeque Church on Sunday next. The pastor will preach taking as his subjects "The Lord, our Great Benefactor" in the morning service and for the evening, "A Missionary Appeal". All are welcomed to these services.

—PAINFUL INJURY.—Little Miss Hope Compton, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Compton of North St. Eleanor met with very painful injuries on Sunday through falling down the cellar hatch. Her chin was badly cut, necessitating four stitches, her gums injured and four teeth knocked out.

—SCHOOLS BUSY.—The teachers of Kensington High School are now busy with the surplus work of preparing the pupils for the presentation of the annual school concert. This event in the life of Kensington School is annual, and the preparations making this year promise well to constitute a programme containing dramas, drills, music, vocal and instrumental, and recitations, serious and humorous, that will surpass all efforts previously made along these lines. Parents, teachers, and pupils will do well to co-operate to achieve success hitherto unattained in Kensington, and that will mean something a little less than wonderful for Kensington had some pronounced success in school concerts.

—OF INTEREST TO TRAVELLING PUBLIC.—The Railway Committee of the Summerside Board of Trade, in considering the present Island Time Table, got in touch with the Railway authorities with reference to the train scheduled to leave Summerside on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 1:30 p. m. Arrangements have now been made whereby the conductor of the Borden train which carries passengers from the mainland and is due to arrive in Summerside at 1:40 p. m., daily will advise at Kensington station if he has any passengers for points west of Summerside and if so, the 1:30 p. m. train will be held for them; otherwise it would depart on time. This will allow passengers from the mainland to go through to any western point with no stop and thus save approximately five hours on their journey and with only a few minutes' delay at this end for other passengers. This prompt action for better service on the part of the Board of Trade will be greatly appreciated by the travelling public.—S.

—PROMINENT RESIDENT DEAD.—There passed to his eternal rest at his home, on Oct 25, at Brae, Lot 9, one of the outstanding figures for many years in his community in the person of the late Patrick McPhee. For many years he, besides conducting his farm carried mails from Coleman to West Point, and of late years to O'Leary. Over forty years were spent in this service. He was especially noted for his great kindness and courtesy to all and during the whole term of his service as courier never missed a round till his final illness compelled him to retire. The funeral was the largest seen here in many years and took place on Tuesday the 28th October. Services were conducted in the Presbyterian Church at Brae by Rev. Dr. Sides. Flowers were sent by the following:—Pillow, from family, Crescent, from Miss Marion Higgs, and Miss Joannette Blackie. Spray, from Mr. Arthur Thompson, Wreath, Albert Higgs, John Murray and N. Thompson, Spray Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beer, Spray, Mr. and Mrs. George Beer, Spray, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Silliphant, Spray, Mr. and Mrs. Lou's Dystant, Wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Matthew. There are left to mourn the loss of an affectionate and indulgent husband and father his widow and three boys and six girls.

Furbelows And Furs Seen At Paris Salons

A survey of the Paris winter salons emphasizes the importance of the fur accessory both as a complement to the fur wrap and as an adjunct to both coats and frocks. Muffs, stoles, scarfs and bags are developed from the various pelts and one of the smartest touches of the winter season is the carrying out of the ensemble theme through the matching accessory. Early rumors concerning the substitution of many interesting versions are sponsored by the principal French designers. Worth features both the round and the small melon shaped muff in several variations. One interesting type is in the shape of a horn and has just sufficient space to fit the narrow end for the hand to slip in. Drexell completes an attractive ensemble by adding a muff and bag of brown broadtail to a coat of the same fur. A similar motif was carried out in brown shaved astrakhan. The muff is by no means limited to the fur coat. It accompanies clove models as well, and these latter at fur-trimmed and it matches the pelt of collar and cuffs. The typical muff is a semi-melon shaped affair, developed in a flat fur, and of small, almost minute dimensions. It has little or no stiffening, and may be crumpled and put into the pocket. Large Fox Scarfs Worn. Scarfs, stoles and dog collars developed in fur are tangible evidence of the Parisian's predilection for fur around her throat. The annual scarf is enjoying an unusual vogue in Paris, and its popularity has already penetrated to these shores. These scarfs are invariably large and are worn low over the shoulders, after the fashion of the model sketched on today's page. Fox is the favored medium. The furred hat is also attracting favorable attention in Paris. This type of chaparran may be entirely of fur or only trimmed with it. However, due to its bulk and its uncomfortable warmth in mild weather, the all fur model is less popular than the hat which utilizes fur only as a trimming or in even combination with silk. Lavin unites fur and silk in a turban which is of taupe satin and moleskin. The satin forms the top of the hat while the fur, in cuff effect, is draped across the front and sides. A smart model from Rose Rescat combines felt and mole in a medium sized hat. The hat itself is of felt and is banded with a narrow strip of the fur. The chat of the same fur is used for the one-side trimming.

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Five tourists who recently visited Schleissheim in Bavaria, are credited with having consumed 105 Bavarian sausages and seventy-five pretzels in three hours, to say nothing of the scores of steins of beer considered necessary to wash down the food. This is a record in food consumption in Bavaria and wide publicity has been given to what is termed the gluttony of the unknown visitors. Their feat has aroused suspicion that they are in the employ of sausage makers and pretzel bakers.

Ludendorff to "Expose" Prince Rupprecht's Plot

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Angered by the action of twenty-seven Bavarian generals who have excommunicated him from their fraternity because of his attacks against Prince Rupprecht, General Ludendorff now threatens to tell tales against the prince and expose him as a conspirator in a plot to restore the Bavarian monarchy. According to a declaration by Ludendorff today, Rupprecht opposed the Ludendorff-Hitler putsch on November 9th last because he had in mind "his own action" scheduled for November 11th and 12th. This action, the general hints, was to proclaim the general hints, was with Rupprecht as King. Rupprecht, he declares, was all ready for his coup d'etat, having prepared a manifesto to the Bavarian people, and therefore consider the Ludendorff-Hitler adventure contrary to his own interests. Publication of this latest declaration widens the breach between the Bavarian and Prussian monarchist camps, each of which in turn is slandered by interecine strife.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. You just apply it with the fingers. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing oilment penetrates the pores, then comes a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Stop Rheumatism With Red Peppers

When you are suffering with rheumatism so you can hardly get around just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Instant relief. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Frees the blood circulation and the old rheumatism torture is gone.

Advertisement for varnish and paint services. Text: "You have no idea how much happiness paint and varnish yield when applied properly in rooms. Effective painting may almost double the amount of light in a room naturally rather dark. The painting of woodwork in cream or light buff makes all the difference in the world. Then varnish is very important in interior decorating. Varnished surfaces catch the light as do the facets of gems. Nowhere is varnish more generally needed than in the front hall. Many a worn staircase has been transformed by its use. A bright, pleasant kitchen makes for happy thoughts. Now is the time of year to have interior work done because master painters are free to give their very best services during the winter months."
