—A pretty event took place at 8.30 p. m. Wednesday, July 26th, at the home of John and Mrs. Gordon, Alma, when their eldest daughter, Mary Beatrice, was united in marriage to William Thomas Horne of Elmsdale. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. H. McHattie in the presence of a large number of guests. The bride, who was very becomingly attired in a hand embroidered white silk gown, was given away by her father. She was attended by her sister, Miss Hazel Gordon, who looked very pretty in white muslin with pale blue trimmings. The groom was supported by his brother, Edward H. Horne. Miss Mary Clarke played the wedding march. After the ceremony and congratulations the guests partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Horne will make their home in Elmsdale.

—The death of Mary Foster, wife of John A. McLeod, which occurred at the Hale hospital Sunday morning, adds to the "book of life" a most pathetic story. The circumstances surrounding the death of one of the best and most widely known young women of the city is such that a young husband who, only 13 weeks ago, led to the altar a charming young lady full of girlish ways and joyful spirit, is today accompanying the little form, reposed in a white sealed casket, to the quiet little town of Alberton, P. E. I., to be placed in the family lot of his parents. Mary Foster was born in Amesbury March 24, 1885, the daughter of John A. and Mrs. Foster. Two years later, at the birth of Helen, the second and only surviving child, the mother passed away, leaving the care of the infant children to the father, whose death followed within a short time, thus leaving the children to be cared for by more distant relatives. Mary, the oldest, was cared for by an aunt, Mrs. Patrick McGrath of the Bradford district, while Helen, a two-months-old baby, was taken to a home in Lowell and later taken from that institution by a Mrs. Anderson of Lowell. At the age of 14 Mary left her home with her aunt to care for herself and younger sister, whom, up to this time, she had never seen. Locating her in Lowell they began life as sisters, always living together and seldom was one seen unless accompanied by the other. Four years ago they came to reside in this city, making their home at 16 White Street. A heart-broken husband, John A. McLeod, as he journeys his way today on that voyage of several hundred miles, had little thought on the 24th day of March, when they were quietly married at the parsonage of the First Church in the Bradford district by Rev. Mr. Stackpole, that the little figure dressed in white and bearing the look of determination to make a happy little home through life for the husband she had chosen would in such a short time answer to the call of the Great Spirit. Mrs. McLeod's death came after an illness of only a few weeks, when she was operated upon for appendicitis, mortification having set in, and she passed away at an early hour Sunday morning at the age of 26 years, 3 months and 15 days. Mr. McLeod is employed as a plumber at the Murray & Dugdale store on Water Street, and his many friends learn with regret of his sorrow.—Haverhill Exc. A.

—The new Presbyterian Manse now being erected on the land formerly owned by Mrs. Dr. Bearisto on Central St. is well under way and will probably be ready to occupy the last of November.—S.

—Don't miss Holman's clean-up sale of boys' and men's suits. All odd, incomplete and broken lines must clear out at less than the cost of manufacture. R. T. Holman, Ltd., Summerside. 7-28dr3i.

—The Caspasia arrived in port yesterday morning about 4 a. m., carrying a general cargo. While docking at Queen's Wharf she struck the end of the wharf carrying away three or four posts. She left about eight a. m.—S.

—Pumps! Pumps! This is a line that Brace, McKay & Co., Summerside can give extra value in. They are offering pumps 50 per cent heavier and stronger than cheap ones at an extra cost. 7-25dtusrt2w.

—Miss Amy G. Burrows, who conducted The Guardian's Branch Office at Summerside so efficiently for some time past, has resigned, and Ernest McQuarrie will in future, beginning with next week, be agent, in addition to his present duties of correspondent.
