Disease Lurks on Every Hand

And Finds Lodgment in the Weak, Run down and Exhausted System—Protect Yourself by Using

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The spring air is often laden with disease germs. The waste and decayed matter of winter is thawed out, and forms a regular hot bed of disease.

People with rich blood throbbing through their arteries need have little fear, for disease seeks out the weak and exhausted for its easy victims.

The artificial life of winter is such as to leave the blood thin and watery, and as a result the action of the vital organs, such as the heart, stomach, kidneys and liver, is weak, sluggish and torpid.

THE KILDARE RACE.

Sir.—I notice an item in the Examiner of Charlottetown about a race that took place on Kildare race between Fred Renne's mare of Elmsdale and Douglas Bell's of Campbellton and it states that Reid's mare took that race in three straight heats.

The childish correspondent of the Examiner has wrongly informed him and I trust that he shall henceforth be guided by those few words of wisdom.
