DIED.

At Brackley Point, on Thursday, Nov. 27th, George D. McCallum, aged 39, son of John McCallum. Funeral that to take place on Saturday last to Brackley Point Cemetery was largely attended.

PATRIOTISM

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier, and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion are promptly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"After I received the advice which you gave me in regard to my stomach," writes Geo. Dorner, Esq., of 1915 E. 1st Street, Baltimore, Maryland, "I used your 'Golden Medical Discovery' according to directions. After using four bottles I considered myself cured, as I have not felt any symptoms since. Had tried almost all remedies that I heard of that were good for dyspepsia, but without relief. Finally, I became discouraged, and wrote to you for advice, with the above result."

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 50 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ONTARIO'S REFERENDUM ELECTIONS

Give Large Majority for Prohibitory Law

NOT ENOUGH TO PREVAIL

Results Excite Surprise—May Injure Ross—Returns Come Slowly—A Shooting Accident.

RETURNS COME IN SLOWLY.

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—(Special)—The only new returns that have come to hand today are South Lanark 1,190 for and 624 against, with eleven polls still outstanding.

THE PROBABLE MAJORITY.

Scattered votes received from other counties are not sufficient to disturb the proportion of the figures already sent out which are approximately 135,000 for prohibition and 89,000 against.

SOME SURPRISE AT RESULTS.

The temperance party hope to reach a total temperance vote of 200,000 against about 150,000, but this is not yet known. The voting in the cities was relatively more favorable and in some of the country divisions heard from either smaller or less favorable than the temperance party had hoped.

MAY REACT AGAINST ROSS.

It is felt by many that the large majority thus defeated by the liquor minority by means of the handicap in the Referendum must react against the Government and render its position still more precarious.

SHOT HIMSELF WHILE HUNTING.

BATHURST, N. B., Dec. 5.—(Special)—Wilfred Dickie, aged 17, of Basseyver, accidentally shot himself through the abdomen while hunting rabbits on Wednesday.

GENERAL DEWET'S NARRATION OF THE STORY OF THE BOER WAR.

Blames the Loss of Independence to Treachery of Burglers

—Little Praise for Lord Roberts or Kitchener—Tributes to Buller and Knox—Contempt for Block-house Policy—His Closing Injunction to Countrymen is to be Loyal.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—"Had not so many of our burghers proved false to their own colors, England, as the great Bismarck had foretold, would have found her grave in South Africa."

That is the keynote of General De Wet's book entitled "Three Year's War," published by Archibald, Constable & Co., in London and dedicated by the Boer general to "My fellow subjects of the Boer Empire."

It was perhaps the most remarkable book by the most remarkable leader than any recent war has produced. The concise, simply told tale of the extraordinary campaign is marked throughout with the stamp of truth. The baldness of the narrative only serves to bring into striking relief the fiery passages where a strong man literally bursts out his soul in pathetic regret or bitter denunciation. In thus taking the public into confidence De Wet loses nothing of the glamor with which his exploits in the field surrounding him. In criticising he spares no one. Boer and British come equally under lash. De Wet declares that whatever the English people may have to say in discredit of General Buller, he had to operate against stronger positions than any other British general. Throughout the work the Boer has but slight praise for Lord Roberts and little more for Lord Kitchener. General Knox is almost the only British general who seems to have struck De Wet as a commander with real military genius.

WERE NOT BAD SHOTS.

Of "Tommy Atkin" he has many kindly words to say, and declares: "The British were far from being bad shots."

MRS. YOUNG'S CASE.

A Strange Case That Baffled Doctors.

None of Her Friends Believed She Could Recover and Her Case Has Excited Great Interest

From the Courier, Trenton, Ont. The case of Mrs. Robert Young, of Stanley street, Trenton, is one that has caused a great deal of talk among those who are acquainted with her. Mrs. Young is now in her seventy-eight year, and is quite vigorous for a woman of that age. Three years ago she took a chill, which appeared to affect her whole system. Her lower limbs and body swelled to such an extent that she could scarcely move them. Her stomach became so disordered that she could not take solid food, and her heart fluttered so violently that she could not lie in bed, and for two years had to be bolstered up day and night. The chills which were apparently the original cause of the trouble, became chronic, and affected her two or three times a week, and after a chill her skin would turn a dark brown color. Her friends did not believe she would recover, but nevertheless did all they could for her. Three doctors tried their skill, but to no purpose, and the strongest consolation they could confer was "Well, you know we are all growing old." Several advertised medicines were then given her, but with no better results. In August, 1901, Mrs. Young had become so bad that her daughter-in-law had to come from a distance to nurse her. She brought with her some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and persuaded the old lady to begin their use. In the course of a few weeks there could be no doubt that they were helping her, and the doctor advised them for their use, and now, after using them for some months, the swelling that had affected her limbs is gone; the chills no longer bother her; her stomach is restored to its normal condition, and the heart fluttering that had made it necessary to bolster her up in bed has also disappeared. It is no wonder that the case has excited much comment, and the editor of the Courier, who has personally investigated it, can vouch for the facts related above. Such marvellous cures as this prove that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to be the best medicine offered the public today, and all those who are ailing should promptly give them a trial. All druggists sell these pills, or they can be obtained by mail at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

comparative immunity of the Boers from harm, De Wet constantly and most fervently attributed to the interposition of God. "If any reader," he says, "is eager to know how I was kept out of the enemy's hands, I can only answer, although I may not understand, that I should fall into their hands. Let those who rejoice at my miraculous escape give all the praise to God."

Nevertheless the book teems with accounts of military and other strategies by which De Wet outwitted his pursuers. Frequently he recounts cases of desertion and panic among his own men when his entreaties and sjamboking were all of no avail. De Wet pays tribute to Cronje, to his bravery, but declares he lost at Paardeberg only on account of his fatal obstinacy to leave the laager as he was advised to do by general Botha and by the writer himself. Regarding his own force De Wet writes:

"It was far easier to fight against the great English than against treachery among my own people, and an iron will was required to fight against both. Once, if only our orders had been carried out a little more strictly, and if only the most elementary rules of strategy had been observed in our effort to break the English lines of communications, Lord Roberts and his thousands of troops would have perished of hunger. It was not the skill of their commander-in-chief that saved them."

CONTEMPT FOR BLOCK-HOUSES.

Of the block-houses De Wet is frankly contemptuous. "The block-house policy," he says, "isn't equally well have been called the policy of the blockhead." The writer emphatically defends the right to blow up railroad lines and trains as the usage of war, and he declares he never missed an opportunity to do so. The so-called war against women and the misuse of the white flag by the British is sternly denounced by the Boer general, who says: "That such direct and indirect murder should have been committed against defenceless women and children is a thing I should have struck my head could never have happened in a war waged by the civilized English nation, and yet it happened."

His last word is an injunction to his fellow countrymen to be loyal to the new government. "Loyalty," he says, "is the best in the end, and loyalty alone is worthy of a nation which has shed its blood for freedom." The book contains a magnificent portrait of the author by the American painter John S. Sergeant.
