

EMPIRE—Tonight and Sat.

SHOWS 7.00 — 8.45 — MATINEE SAT. ONLY 2.30

FUZZY SOLVES A MURDER

And Brings The Criminals To Justice!

PRC Pictures presents Buster CRABBE KING OF THE WILD WEST and His Horse Falcon

His BROTHER'S GHOST

AL (Fuzzy) ST. JOHN

COMEDY — POPULAR SCIENCE — CARTOON

Georgetown And Vicinity

Mrs. Elizabeth Fraser, Burnt Point, recently visited her sister Mrs. Richard Collings, Gaspeaux.

Mrs. Agnes Murphy and family, Georgetown, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Leo Fay and family and Mr. Newman Sigsworth of Newport, on a motor trip to Pictou, N.S., on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boudreau and family who during the winter have resided at Maple Hills, returned to Georgetown recently, where they will reside.

Twenty Georgetown Girl Guides, led by Capt. Kay Roche and Lieut. Mrs. Howard Fouchere, were inspected in Montague, on Wednesday by Lady Baden-Powell.

Mr. Herbert George, operator of one of our Georgetown to Charlottetown Buses, recently travelled to New Glasgow, N.S., on business.

Mr. Bertram Hadley and Mr. Thomas England of Medford, N.S., are visiting Georgetown, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lavandier.

Miss Gertrude Fitzgerald, daughter of Mrs. S. C. Knight, Fitzgerald, spent a few days in Charlottetown the guest of her sister, Catherine.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lavandier, arrived home on Thursday, after a honeymoon trip through the Maritimes.

Miss Zeida Jay, Mount Stewart, is visiting here, the guest of Mrs. Michael Burke.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hempstock, Ottawa, accompanied by Mr. Hempstock's father of Hamilton, Ontario, arrived in Georgetown on Tuesday by car. While here they are the guests of Mrs. Hempstock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McKinnon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick "Ted" Jenkins and family, Dartmouth, N.S., arrived here a few days ago. Mrs. Jenkins and children will spend the summer here, in the "Fairchild Home." "Ted" plans on running a week end Taxi from Halifax to Georgetown, during the summer months.

The Annual School Meeting of the Georgetown School District, was held in the School on Tuesday, July 2nd. Mr. C. Knight acted as chairman. Due to inclement weather the attendance was smaller than on some previous years. The past year's business was discussed and the ratepayers heard the minutes of the previous meeting, the auditors report and the Trustees report. Much interesting discussion concerning the past and coming school year took place. It was decided that due to overcrowding during the term just closed, that it would be necessary to have a sixth room when school re-opened. Mrs. William Hobbs having completed her term as Trustee, her place was filled by the appointment of Mr. J. Waldron Levers.

The regular monthly meeting of the Georgetown Branch No. 16, Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L., was held in Kozzy Hall on Wednesday night. The local branch was non-existent for a number of years. A "Team" from Department of Veterans Affairs and Veterans Land Act, Charlottetown. The men comprising this "Team" which is sponsored by Col. B. Conrad, District Administrator of D. V. A., arrived here in the afternoon and met discharged veterans then and in the evening; discussing their problems with them and imparting much valuable advice. The local branch is very grateful to Col. Conrad and these men for their co-operation and interest in the welfare of the veterans. The following men comprised the "Team" which visited here: Mr. Keith Johnston, Assistant to the District Administrator, Mr. Lawson Jervins, Re-Establishment Credit Dept. Mr. Bruce Wonnacott, Treatment and Allowance Dept. Mr. John Trainor, Vocational Training Dept. Mr. F. Kennedy, Veterans' Land Act. Mr. J. T. Robinson, Veterans Welfare Officer.

LADY FANE SCHOOL Report of Lady Fane School for June. Grade IX-1, Ella Francis. Grade VIII-1, Violet Cairns; 2, Errol Francis. Grade VII-1, Ernest Francis. Grade VI-1, Boyd Waddell. Grade V-1, Glenn Gamble; 2, Gordon Cairns. Grade III-1, George Cotton; 2, Eva Cairns; 3, Flora Waddell. Grade II-1, Mary Robblee. Grade I A-1, Gertrude Gamble. Grade I B-1, Joyce Waddell. Teacher—Kathleen MacDonald.

H. J. MABON OPTOMETRIST Fitting and Supplying Glasses Etc. Montague, P. E. I. Office Hours 10 to 12 A. M. 2 to 5 P. M. Holidays etc., by appointment Office Connected With DRUGSTORE

MacDonald Bros. THEATRE Mt. Stewart TONIGHT 8.30 SATURDAY 8-10 p.m. Greer Walter GARSON PIDGEON in "Mrs. Parkington" with Edward ARNOLD Agnes MOOREHEAD Cecil KELLAWAY Gladys Cooper, Frances Rafferty, Tom Drake, Peter Lawford, Dan Duryea, Hugh Marlowe

THE SHOW YOU HAVE ALL BEEN WAITING TO SEE. ALSO NEWS MENTHOLATUM

C. F. W. BURNS who has been elected a Director of the Crown Life Insurance Company.

Montague And Vicinity

In Montague on Sundays and statutory holidays, if one wishes to use the telephone an inconvenience of hearing the operator say "twenty-five cent emergency charges" is transmitted to one's car. This primitive rule was established some five years ago by the Montague citizens, in preference of paying an additional fifteen cents per month. Why this practice was ever adopted is questionable. The Montague exchange handles in the vicinity of 180 telephones. If and when over 200 phones have been installed, the Island Telephone Company can hardly refuse to give us continuous service. However, there are more co-operative firms in Prince Edward Island than the above company.

This column firmly believes that some responsible body, such as the Town Council, should improve this deplorable backward condition. Mr. George MacInlyre capably handled what was probably the largest crowd ever to attend the Montague races. An extension to the grandstand greatly added to the convenience of the large crowd.

The rain clouds which always overshadow Montague on a race Wednesday, held their watery mist and the spectators enjoyed a pleasant day.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thornton and Mr. and Mrs. Weeks of Milton, Mass., U.S.A., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davison.

Mr. Milford Hubley of Brighton, Mass., has arrived in Montague to spend his annual holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Martin, Pictou, N.S., are visiting their son Herman, in Montague.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lowery have returned from Halifax to live in this, their former home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis, Advocate, N.S., are guests at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Coffin.

Mr. Lloyd Delahunt of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, Charlottetown, is auditing books in Montague.

Miss Stephanie Gaudet, Summerside, is visiting her former friends in Montague.

Mrs. J. Evans and son Jackie, St. John, N.B., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Webster, Montague.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rattery, U.S.A., are renewing acquaintances in Montague.

Miss Mary Martin, employed in Montreal, Que., is beginning a two month holiday in her home town, Montague.

A friendly game of softball was played Wednesday evening between Iona and Montague. The game was witnessed by a large crowd and the final score was Montague 16, Iona 9.

The monthly Town Council meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, July 9th, was postponed until Thursday July 11th.

The three accused in the Brooklyn assault case appeared before Magistrate MacDonald on Monday, one being fined $100 and costs or two months, and the other two dismissed.

(Editor's Note.—Our Montague correspondent touches upon a subject of much importance to our Montague readers. However, it is unfair to lay the blame upon the Telephone Company which maintains a tariff schedule covering service from rural lines to our largest centers. We mention only three classes. Communities having from 25 to 100 connections receive a day service only; those having from 100 to 200 are provided with a longer service, but not including Sundays or holidays; from 200 to 1,000 receive the continuous service. Provision is made whereby any group may be advanced to the next highest service should they have 75 per cent of the phones necessary and in Montague, there would be an additional charge of 15 cents per month on all services. The Telephone Company has indicated its willingness to give Montague the continuous service, but the citizens must express their desire for such service and willingness to comply with the company's regulations.)

Prickly Heat Mentholatum quickly cools, soothes and relieves Prickly Heat, Chafing and Sunburn. Jar and tubes 50c.

RACING DRIVER

By Alexander Campbell

They had brought torches with them and the flickering lights revealed a rocky path winding upwards, bounded on either side by thick prickly bushes.

The lightning had ceased to flash, and the rain had gone off. The storm had left the air clear. But the black sky held neither stars nor moon.

They talked on. The path grew more broken as they progressed and several times they had to climb round huge boulders and overcropping rocks.

"We're coming to the end of it," said Rupert. "It starts again a little higher up, but it branches to the left. The cave is on the right."

Professor Ellington eyed the bushes dubiously.

"Snakes?" he suggested. "Possibly," said Rupert cheerfully. "But we have to risk that. In any case they won't attack unless they see the light. They drop on to the head of their victim. That's why the natives when they're going through tree country usually carry a torch or a stick in their hands. For a mamba in the face or chest is fatal. You can't apply a tourniquet."

"Because that might mean wambas. They lurk in the trees, and they attack on sight. They don't care how big you are. That's why the natives when they're going through tree country usually carry a torch or a stick in their hands. For a mamba in the face or chest is fatal. You can't apply a tourniquet."

"Rupert walked confidently. He had no thought save for the cave which was their objective.

He felt a glow of admiration. There was no denying the sincerity of Rupert's devotion to his work.

They struggled on through the bushes, and the professor was making noises like a pampus when Rupert halted abruptly and lashed out with his stick.

"I had to hit him," he said calmly. "I trod on his tail and he was so angry he struck. Fortunately he was a slow one—probably had just his supper."

They could hear the reptile thrashing angrily away through the bushes. The other two stepped even more gingerly.

Rupert passed a bag and raised his torch. Then he gave a little cry of satisfaction and pointed upwards.

"The cave!"

Two huge boulders were buried deep in the hillside, like gigantic jaws. There was a tiny, black opening between the jaws.

"The natives were superstitious about the place," said Rupert. "I suppose they thought the grip of an undisturbed. Of course there was nothing to see, but the floor was covered with soil, above five feet deep. That was what we dug. It turned out not to be soil at all, but an accumulation of debris and powdered bones. The five foot level, you see, is the level of occupation and when I excavated thoroughly I found the skull and the teeth."

"We'd better get back" barked gazing at the narrow opening, had a sudden vision of a bowed, hair-covered beast scurrying there, half man, half ape, with a stick club upraised. Involuntarily he lifted the torch higher. There was nothing there.

The rushing of water came to their ears.

"What's that?" asked Professor Ellington, sharply.

"That's the stream which runs down here," replied Rupert. "Normally it's merely a trickle but the storm has swollen it. That's the danger you need. My digging has already loosened the grip of the earth on the two big rocks. They might collapse and seal up the cave. If the stream speaks through, everything of value will be washed away."

"The scrambling up the hill, and a moment later were seen by one by one through the narrow opening.

The rocks were buried deeply in the hillside, and like two upped hands, they formed a little hollow—the cave. In the centre of the floor a pit had been dug—and Rupert exclaimed in dismay.

The water has begun to seep through. The pit was about a foot deep in water.

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

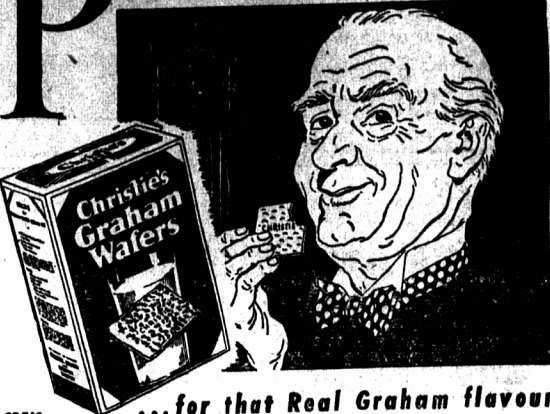

Frank lifted his torch. He exclaimed in a hoarse voice, "The rough, rocky walls were bedaubed with red ochre drawings of men and animals. One looked like a giraffe, and other animals."

The drawings were like the scrawlings of a child, but the figures were clearly recognizable. Some of the men carried bows and arrows. "Your cave-men were artists!" "No, I scraped the walls and uncovered these. But Professor Ellington will tell you that they are much later work—bush-men's paintings. My primitive men were a few hundred thousand years before that stage in human development." Professor Ellington gazed uneasily into the pit. "What are we going to do?" he asked. Rupert frowned. "The storm has passed. Let's hope it doesn't begin again. Eventually the water will go down. But there is still danger. There is only one thing we can do—ball this water out somehow, and then lay some sort of covering down to keep more water from seeping in." (To be continued)

Farewell Party

On the eve of their departure for Bloomfield where Mr. MacDougall has been transferred as Station Agent, the residents of Tyne Valley, Port Hill and vicinity, assembled in the Tyne Valley Hall to tender them a farewell party. Mr. Lloyd Sharp capably acted as chairman and in a few well chosen words expressed the purpose of the gathering. This was followed by several well-revised selections of instrumental music followed by a hearty singing with Mrs. Cecil Birch as pianist. Mr. and Mrs. MacDougall and family were then escorted to the stage where a complimentary address was read to them by Mrs. Hart Lidstone, followed by the presentation of two well filled purses on behalf of Tyne Valley District presented by Mr. Ivan MacKay while Mrs. Graydon Gregg made the presentation on behalf of Port Hill. Mr. MacDougall, replying on behalf of himself and family expressed his deep appreciation for this gracious gesture and their regret at leaving the many friends they made during their three year stay in Port Hill. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies, followed and obliging manner as his father. We would ask you to send a little gift, which carries with it all good wishes for your best in life—health, happiness and prosperity. Signed by your many friends Tyne Valley and Port Hill.

PREFERRED

...for that Real Graham flavour

WHY HAVE SORE FEET? JUST RUB IN MINARD'S LINIMENT

PRINCE EDWARD

TODAY AND SAT. Shows 2:30—7—9

The true story of every woman's fighting man

Now immortalized on the screen

ERNE PYLE'S "STORY OF G.I. JOE" Starring BURGESS MEREDITH as ERNE PYLE with Robert Mitchell as The Captain Freddie Steele as The Sergeant Wally Cassell as The Private Directed by William A. Wellman Released thru United Artists

News Of The Day

CAPITOL

TODAY and SAT. Shows 2:30—7—9

NOTORIOUS FRONTIER OUTLAWS... IN ACTION! James Boys... Daltons... Belle Starr ALL in one picture

BADMEN'S TERRITORY Starring RANDOLPH SCOTT ANN RICHARDS GEORGE "GABBY" HAYES

Chapt. 12 of "SECRET AGENT"

EAST POINT SCHOOL Honor Roll of East Point School for the month of June. Grade X Senior—1, Kathryn Harris. Grade X Junior—1, Kenneth Beaton. Grade VII—1, Marie Cheverie; 2, Adele Harris. Grade VI—1, Cecile Provost. Grade V—1, Charles Provost; 2, Danny MacLean; 3, Johnny Gillis. Grade III—1, Ruth MacIntyre; 2, Shirley Harris. Grade I Senior—1, Tena Massey; 2, Billy Harris. Grade I—1, Peggy MacDonald. Highest Attendance—Marie Cheverie. Pride for Spelling—Charles Provost. Highest Average 93%—Ruth MacIntyre. E. F. Cheverie—Teacher.

H. J. MABON OPTOMETRIST Fitting and Supplying Glasses Etc. Montague, P. E. I. Office Hours 10 to 12 A. M. 2 to 5 P. M. Holidays etc., by appointment Office Connected With DRUGSTORE

"SWEET CAPORAL"

10.30 p. m. C. F. C. Y. Summer Radio Show

THIRTY minutes of bright, breezy music and song designed especially for summer listening pleasure! Hear singing stars Ken McAdam and Simon, with new augmented Sweet Cap Singers. Enjoy rhythmic stylings by the Sweet Cap Singers orchestra, featuring Ray Johnson on the electric organ. Light up and listen LIGHT-UP-AND-LISTEN

Advertisement for Agnew-Surpass shoes. Text: Carefree CASUALS in dressy white. There'll be glamour afoot when you wear these stunning numbers with your white ensemble. Offered in all-white and white with Red, Blue and Brown trim. $2.98. Agnew-Surpass LIMITED "WHERE THE SMART STYLES ORIGINATE"