Miss Enman thanked her friends in her own charming way. Music and dancing whiled away the hours most pleasantly, the music being furnished by Mr. Keir Duggan and Mr. Perry. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by the young ladies present.—K.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

C. W. L. MEETINGS AT INDIAN RIVER

The regular monthly meeting of the C. W. L. of Indian River was held on Oct. 6th with a large attendance. Mrs. Leslie Ramsay presided and opened the meeting with prayer. Reports of the various committees were received. The Social Service convener reported two girls in need of clothing and arrangements were made to provide for them. A bill for shoes was presented and ordered paid. The President then gave an interesting report of the Diocesan Convention held recently at Georgetown. Discussions followed and a vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Ramsay for her splendid report. Father McDonald addressed the meeting and pointed out what might be done to raise the moral standard of literature and picture shows. A committee was formed to get books from the Chamber of Commerce and distribute same, thereby encouraging the reading of good books. This committee was also asked to check up on pictures shown in Kensington and notify Catholics when pictures were on the condemned list. It was a pleasure to hear from one of the members that practically all pictures shown in Kensington were of the better class. The meeting adjourned. On Sept. 22nd, a special meeting of this branch was held at Indian River and was well attended. A splendid report of the Catholic Action Rally held at Tignish was given by the President. An appeal for the Archdiocese of Regina was read and $2.50 was voted to be sent immediately. Arrangements were made for the holding of a card party. Catechism classes were organized on the same lines as last year. Father McDonald addressed the meeting, stressing the social service work of the league and the good which might be accomplished in this way. The meeting adjourned.—K.

France Moves To Increase Armaments

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) PARIS, Oct. 8.—Marcel Regnier, Minister of Finance, announced today that France was spending 5,469,000,000 francs—$684,850,000—on armaments in 1936.

"When Europe and the whole world is ringing with the sound of arms," he told the Chamber of Deputies, finance committee, "it is no time to renounce financial sacrifices."

Emergency arms appropriations are added to the regular army, navy, and aviation budgets.

With these additions, the national defence expenditures will be 12,142,000,000 francs—$1,517,250,000.

The regular navy budget is 1,381,458,577 francs.

The regular army budget is 4,368,285,970 francs.

The regular air budget is 608,444,406 francs.

PRINCE COUNTY CONTEST

Conservatives, yes and a good many that were Liberals on July 23rd are today pleased to learn that there will be a show-down in Prince County in the coming federal election. It is not a Steventine that is running either, but a well known stalwart admirer of the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett. Yesterday Mr. J. F. Arnett was nominated to espouse the cause of the Government Party and of its illustrious leader, Mr. Arnett is well and favourably known in Prince County and though late in the running will yet show our good Liberal friends that their counting Provincial Liberals or less than three months ago as Federal Liberals on the 14th, is very much up in the air. We should like to know what deflection there has really been from the Liberal ranks if Islanders at this time had a chance again to record their votes to say which party they would now like to have in power in Charlottetown. There has never been such general disaffection in the doings of any Canadian Provincial Government as that of Premier Lea in such a short time. The deceived and disgruntled populace are legion and good numbers of disillusioned Liberals in almost every poll in Prince Edward Island will be pleased to give their support to candidates favouring the government of that great statesman who was the prime mover in the great Empire Trade Agreements which have already done so much for Canada.

The decision to put a Conservative candidate in the field, which was for a number of causes delayed until Saturday night, was soon arrived at following that very splendid and most convincing address of the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett. Never has a Prince Edward Island audience listened to such a masterful presentation of political facts as that delivered in Charlottetown on Saturday evening by Canada's greatest statesman—greatest baring none.

Numbers of appreciative Liberal listeners were heard to express themselves in no uncertain terms in favour of the statesman who piloted Canada with proud acclaim from a grateful people through the most trying five years in the history of her experience.

With the vigor of a man of thirty he displayed and flayed the insincerity of King's attempts, ridiculed his propagandist press and allowed his whole stock in trade to be scattered as dust and feathers on winds from every quarter. In emphatic tones with the very best of order—he it said with credit to that monster Charlottetown audience this most distinguished son of the Maritimes went from stage to stage of his term of office dealing in plain straightforward terms with the Farmers Creditors' Arrangement Act, the Farm Loan Act, etc., and dwelling at length on the Empire Trade Agreements, all of which farmers' benefits Mr. MacLean worked and voted against, the last of which was said to be the real crowning of Mr. Bennett's term of office.

Is it any wonder Mr. Arnett is pleased to work for such a man? For such a party?

The shorter the fight the quicker the peace. With the co-operation which Mr. Arnett expects in approval of Mr. Bennett's splendid accomplishments during his term of office it is generally believed that over confident Liberals are due to meet with some surprise when the votes for Prince County are counted on the evening of the 14th of October.—Comm.

URGeselectors SUPPORT EMPIRE PACTS

(By C. P. Staff Writer) (C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) CORNWALL, Ont., Oct. 8.—A vote cast against a government candidate in the forthcoming general election would be a protest against the Imperial Trade Agreements, and an invitation to unbridled competition with Japanese goods on Canadian markets, Prime Minister Bennett told a Cornwall audience tonight.

Abolition of currency duties such as demanded by Japan would threaten "the high standard of living built up by great difficulty in this country."

Mr. King sided with Japan in this dispute and Japan, refusing to negotiate further until after the election "is waiting for King, My friends, they will have a long wait."

So strong was the feeling throughout the country of appreciation for the benefits of the Empire agreements that "I am told today we are going to win 10 or 11 seats in British Columbia because of those agreements alone."

There was no need of a third party "the so-called destructive party which goes about appealing to passions and hatred. I've found all over Canada the people have made up their minds about that sort of thing. I agree with what Mr. King says on that."

The legislative program of the Conservative government held in it every reform and safeguard that any party could secure.

Mr. Bennett spoke in the inter-est of F. T. Shaver, Conservative candidate in Stormont, tomorrow he speaks in Lindsay and Toronto.

Canada had emerged from the greatest economic crisis ever known, well in the van of the nations of the world, Mr. Bennett said. That this was true was a tribute to the courage and perseverance of the people.

Mr. Bennett spoke at Alexandria this afternoon, having motored to that Glengarry town from Montreal.

Search For Missing Plane Continues

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 8.—Partial explanation of the air transport crash which killed 12 persons near here yesterday was advanced tonight as search was pressed in Utah for a missing plane and its three crew members.

A company statement on the crash of a transcontinental airliner against a knoll 15 miles north of Cheyenne indicated "abnormally low altitude" was a factor in the death plunge.

But the big question as to why H. A. Collison, veteran pilot, would skim hills over which he had passed scores of times may never find an answer.

The search in Utah for a Standard Oil Company plane, missing since Sunday with three men aboard, shifted late today. Airplanes were sent to the salt flats where Sir Malcolm Campbell recently established a world land speed record to check a report that a "low black streak" had been sighted on the white wastes.

Suffered With Frightfully Irritating Pimples. Healed by Cuticura.

"I suffered with eczema that took the form of pimples, which, when scratched, broke out into scaly blotches. My legs and ankles were covered, and the pimples were frightfully irritating, itching and burning continually. Scratching caused inflammation, and I had to keep my ankles and legs bound. I could only work during intervals.

"I tried many lotions with little success. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using for two months I was healed." (Signed) Miss J. Odegaard, Valbrant, Saskatchewan.

Cuticura Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum Powder are sold at all druggists.

The odds on the Cambridgeshire were: Pegasus, Lawcourt 10 to 1; Finalist 17 to 1; Badruddin, British Quota 25 to 1; Gunboat 28 to 1; Boethius, Plymouth-Sound, Corrida 32 to 1; Knighted 40 to 1; Guineasap 25 to 1.

ETHIOPIANS PLAN COUNTER ATTACKS

(By Christian Ozanne) (Havas Staff Correspondent) (Copyright, 1935, by The Havas News Agency) (A.P. Havas by Guardian's Special Wire) ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 8.—Two huge Italian bombing planes crashed head on in mid-air over Gerogubi and fell to the ground in flames, according to a dispatch received here tonight.

The planes were believed to be part of the squadron of big Caproni bombers which has been dropping explosives on the Ogaden province town for several days.

Details were lacking.

Dispatches from the north said two Ethiopian companies of 300 men each, known as the "Legions of Deaths," had penetrated nearly 20 miles into Eritrea and had occupied dikae, about 35 miles from Asmara, capital of the Italian colony.

(In Rome Ethiopian invasion of Eritrea was admitted, but a government statement asserted that the attack had been repulsed.)

Other reports said the right wing of the Italian army pushing into northern Ethiopia had been repulsed by 60,000 Ethiopians under Ras Kassa, and was retreating toward the Selti River.

Italian planes dropped propaganda pamphlets on Direwada and Harar, Ethiopia's second largest population centre.

Ethiopian laborers worked at high speed to complete an emergency road to the southwest. This road eventually will lead to the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and will serve as an artery of communication with the outer world if service on the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway is interrupted by an Italian attack.

Italian movements on the northern front made little impression on military experts here. The defence council, with Emperor Haile Selassie at its helm, was busy principally with the expected offensive from the northeast, across the plains of Aussa near the junction of the Ethiopian, Eritrean and French Somaliland borders; and from the southeast, through the tropical grassy plateau of Ogaden Province.

Informed observers explained that Addis Ababa, life-pulse of the Ethiopian Empire, was virtually invulnerable from the north, due to its midable natural mountain barriers. They said the easiest approach to this capital was the rickety little railway line to Djibouti. Ethiopian war chiefs were determined not to lose control of key points along this road.

Concentration of Ethiopian troops in a vast triangular formation on either side of the railway went forward tonight.

LIQUOR CASE ADJOURNED

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Oct. 8.—Failure of two Crown witnesses to appear today caused adjournment of the trial of Genois Sanford, Clementville, N.S., on three charges in connection with an alleged $5,000,000 Canadian liquor smuggling conspiracy.

Before adjournment John A. Campbell of Greenwood, Kings County, told the court he had purchased rum and alcohol from the accused and had "paid for some of it."

Sanford was charged with conspiracy to defraud the Dominion Government, harboring and selling liquor, contrary to the provisions of the Customs Act and the Criminal Code.

Ten others similarly charged pleaded guilty last week before Magistrate J. L. Barnhill in Halifax. Eight were fined and two given light jail terms and two were released on suspended sentence.

Electing trial in a higher court, Sanford pleaded not guilty on all three counts and his Counsel, Daniel Owen, K.C., moved that trial should be held in Annapolis since "the offence allegedly occurred in that county."

In refusing the motion, Mr. Justice Henry Graham said "the accused was apprehended here and was committed to this court, and this court will try him."

Memorial Services For Late King

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) PARIS, Oct. 8.—One year ago tonight King Alexander of Yugoslavia sailed for France and a death that brought a threat of war to the Balkans.

A few hours after the monarch and Foreign Minister Barthou of France were shot down in a crowded Marseille street there came reports of Yugoslav mobilization at the Italian and Hungarian frontiers. Action by the League of Nations averted the crisis, however.

Instead of a war there will be a criminal trial and tomorrow the assassination of Alexander will be observed in memorial services. The first stone of a monument to the slain king, father of the present boy King Peter, will be laid.

Government officials will attend a memorial mass in the Russian Church and a wreath will be placed on the Arc de Triomphe. Services will also be held in Marseille and other cities. Barthou will be honored by members of his family, friends and colleagues who will gather at his tomb.

(By The Canadian Press) VICTORIA, Oct. 8.—Nearly every garden in Victoria probably has one or more black Widow Spiders lurking under stones, but no appreciable harm is known to have been caused by them.

N. Smyth brought one of the spiders to W. Downes, Provincial Entomologist who had received reports of other "widows" caught on Vancouver Island. He accompanied Mr. Smyth to his garden and found two more of them.

Mr. Downes recently sent one of the spiders to an expert in New York who definitely identified it as a Latrodectus Mactans or Widow Spider.

He believes, however, that they do not really bite and says he does not think anyone would die from a Widow Spider's bite unless he or she were in bad health.

Canadian Held For Murder In Jamaica

(C. P. Cable) (By Guardian's Special Wire) KINGSTON, Jamaica, Oct. 8.—Guy W. Armstrong, held here on a charge of murder rising from a shooting affray in which one man was killed and another wounded, is a 43-year-old Toronto-born electrical and mechanical engineer.

He served in the Great War from 1915 when he entered the Royal Flying Corps as a lieutenant and was held in a German prison camp for 15 months before the end of the war.

Married in England in 1919, he returned to Canada the same year. He came to Jamaica in 1929 for his health. His mother resides at 24 St. Joseph Street, Toronto.

Objecting to the presence of Benjamin Thompson in his confectionery store at Mandeville last Friday night, Armstrong is alleged to have shot and killed Thompson when he resisted ejection from the building. Daniel Malcolm who tried to calm the Canadian after the act was also shot and seriously wounded.

Death Toll In Holdup Placed At Six

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) CALGARY, Oct. 8.—Death toll in the search for three fugitives from justice, hunted since the slaying of two policemen on the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border-line last Friday night, rose to six tonight with the death of Peter Voyken, member of the bandit trio, and Constable G. C. Harrison.

Wounded in a gun battle near Camrose, 15 miles east of Banff, last night, Harrison, member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, died in hospital here tonight. He was shot through the neck when he attempted to arrest three armed prisoners suspected of the slaying near Arran, Sask.

Voyken, 21-year-old Doukhobor farmer of Arran, succumbed to a bullet wound in the stomach. He was shot by Wm. Welsh, Banff game warden and member of a posse searching for Voyken and his companion, John Makoyak. Joseph Posnikoff, the third member of the gun-carrying trio, was killed when the bandits abandoned their automobile after a gun battle near Camrose, yesterday.

Physicians at the hospital were apprehensive concerning the condition of Kalmakoff. Wounded when, with Voyken, he sought to elude a police posse by taking to the woods near Banff, Kalmakoff was given little chance for recovery.

The two suspects abandoned their automobile shortly after exchanging shots with Sgt. T. S. Wallace, R.C.M.P. officer. Wallace received wounds that proved fatal while attempting to question the young gunman concerning the holdup of T. C. Scott, a motorist, returning home from Calgary.

LANSBURY RESIGNS FROM LABOR PARTY

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) LONDON, Oct. 8.—Seventy-six-year-old George Lansbury tonight was free of the duties of British Labor leader to launch a pacifist campaign. Despite repeated requests of the party to reconsider, the veteran politician today formally tendered his resignation.

The party quickly elected Richard Clement Attlee in his stead. The new Labor leader, aged 47, was suggested by Lansbury as he retired.

When the Labor Party recently registered its approval of the British Government's support of sanctions against Italy Mr. Lansbury was placed in a delicate position. He had insistently demanded Great Britain should not invoke sanctions and held out for pacifist measures.

Meet At Transport House

The parliamentary Labor group met at Transport House this afternoon to discuss Lansbury's offered resignation. The veteran Laborite, who first entered Parliament in 1910 and has been one of the outstanding Labor workers in England during the last quarter century, addressed his colleagues for more than an hour. He pleaded for pacifism and then left the hall.

During his absence a motion was adopted by 38 to seven requesting him to reconsider his resignation. He was recalled, but adhered to his position. The meeting then accepted his resignation, with a special passage of tribute to his service and regret at his retirement.

The meeting then decided to request the resignation of Sir Stafford Cripps from the executive committee of the party because of his declared opposition to sanctions. Last week Lord Pon-

HOUSEWIFE CONFESSES TO KILLING TWO

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) MINNEAPOLIS, N. Y., Oct. 8.—A housewife who smiled with a child's unconcern confessed today, officials said, that she helped the alleged seducer of her schoolgirl daughter to poison his 220 pound wife. She also was represented as confessing she did away with her own brother by the same poison — a crime for which she was tried and acquitted a decade ago and so can not be tried again.

An illicit relationship Everett Applegate, 38, allegedly carried on with Ruth Creighton, 18, apparently inspired the boryian conspiracy in an ordinary frame dwelling at Baldwin, N. Y. There lived Mr. and Mrs. Applegate and their daughter Agnes, 13, and Mr. and Mrs. John Creighton with their two children, Ruth and John, 12. And there last Sept. 26, an eggnog was mixed.

But before that, according to the confession District Attorney Martin Littleton announced Mrs. Creighton had signed, Mrs. Applegate found out about her husband and Ruth Creighton.

Mrs. Creighton also found out that Applegate found out, the confession recounted, that Mrs. Creighton really had poisoned her brother, Charles R. Avery, when they lived in Newark, N. J. She said she did it because he was "a cripple and a burden to the family."

After being acquitted of his slaying, incidentally Mrs. Creighton, who is 36, was tried for the poison death of her mother-in-law and again was acquitted. Her confession denied this poisoning.

So Applegate, according to Littleton's version of the confession, wanted his wife out of the way by cause she knew about Ruth and also because she was so fat—she weighed 260 pounds, but had been taking tablets to reduce.

Mrs. Creighton, the confession said, also desired her death because Applegate then would be free to marry her daughter if she could get out of the way.

Applegate, in addition to the doctor, threatened to expose her in connection with her brother's death.

Then came the eggnog. Mrs. Creighton mixed it, she said, and Applegate dropped some powders into it and took it to his wife. That night Mrs. Creighton herself, Littleton said, placed a "large dose" of the poison in a glass of milk for Mrs. Applegate.

The woman died the next day. Her death at first was ascribed to a heart attack. It was only when a detective living in the neighborhood heard "rumors," their source and nature not specified, that an investigation was started, that an Applegate, who has professed innocence was arrested on a charge of assaulting Ruth. As a result of the alleged confession, however, Littleton said he would seek first degrees murder indictments when the Nassau County grand jury meets Friday. Creighton is held as a material witness, but authorities said he had no connection with the alleged murder.

Delivers Address On Evangelization

BELLELEVILLE, Ont., Oct. 8.—Archbishop J. A. Richardson of Fredericton delivered an address on evangelization of the world here today at the opening communion service of the provincial synod of the Anglican Church. Representatives of all seven dioceses of the ecclesiastical province of Ontario attended.

Archbishop Roper of Ottawa, Metropolitan of Ontario, conducted the communion service. Business sessions of the synod opened following an address of welcome by Mayor George O. Tice.

Seek Early Session

Mr. Attlee, deputy leader of the party since 1931, was asked this afternoon "to request the government to convoke Parliament as soon as possible and to make necessary arrangements for a debate on the international situation on the day that Parliament meets."

Mr. Attlee, who served in the Great War and retired in 1919 as a Major, has been a commoner since 1922 and held the post of Minister-General in the Labor Cabinet in 1931.

Fears Held For Crew of Missing U. S. Yacht

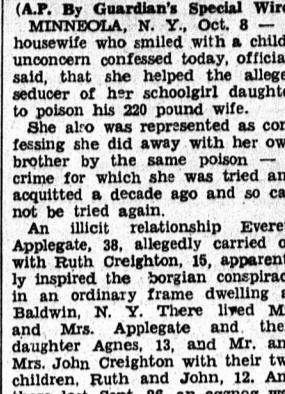

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, Oct. 8.—Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol boats were ordered today to keep a sharp lookout for a United States yacht feared lost with two men on a cruise from Marblehead, Mass., to Metis Beach, Que.

Instructions went out to watch for the sloop Vengeance or its wreckage—after R. C. M. P. marine headquarters here had been advised by the U. S. Coastguard that she had not been reported since she set out July 29 on the 1,000-mile voyage along the New England seaboard.

It should have taken only two weeks, but almost 10 weeks have passed since her crew of two sailed the 38-foot yacht out to sea. In that time, gale after gale has whipped the Atlantic's western waters, claiming scores of lives at sea.

Fifty lives were lost in ships along the coast of Newfoundland in one of the blows—during August—and fear was held the same fate had overtaken the men on the Vengeance as she sailed along the Atlantic or up the Gulf to the St. Lawrence River port.

Representations Made To Italy To Have Neutrality of U.S. Flag Respected.

(A. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The United States Government reaffirmed its faith in the peaceful settlement of international disputes today, but sought special protection for Americans from actualities of the Italo-Ethiopian war.

"International disputes can and must be settled by pacific means," Secretary of State Hull told a delegation of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Only shortly before the State Department chief disclosed that the United States had made special representations to Italy, aimed at having the neutrality of the United States flag respected if Addis Ababa is bombed.

Although Breckinridge Long, Ambassador to Rome, made no specific request that the Italians refrain from bombing any building flying the United States flag, Hull told reporters that was the purpose of the representations.

The Italian foreign office has been given the location of the United States establishments in the Ethiopian Capital. Cornelius H. Van Engert, Charge d'Affaires at Addis Ababa, has requested that flags be raised over or painted on the roofs of all buildings housing United States citizens.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—In step with the neutrality proclamation the export-import bank was disclosed today to have denied against granting credits for the sale of goods to Italy.

Bank officials said the same action probably would be taken with regard to Ethiopia if the question should arise, but that there had been no applications for loans to finance trade with the African kingdom.
