Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia. It makes life miserable. Its sufferers eat not because they want to, but simply because they must. They know they are irritable and fretful; but they cannot be otherwise. They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, an uneasy feeling of puffiness, headache, heartburn and what not. The effectual remedy, proved by permanent cures of thousands of severe cases, is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Malt Breakfast Food,

Is A Food For Health Not For Thought.

A breakfast grain food, preparation that requires thought, consideration or deliberation before it can be used is not a safe article of diet for health seekers. Life is so short, health too precious and time too valuable, to make any article of diet a food for thought.

Malt Breakfast Food has passed the stage of infancy; it does not demand hours of thought before it can be used; the ablest medical men and the most noted food experts place it at the head of all grain foods because of its health-giving and energy-producing qualities. It is the food for the weak and strong, the athlete and the invalid. All over this continent the fame of Malt Breakfast Food has been established as a health food. All grocers.

A TELEGRAM to G. H. Taylor yesterday announced the death on Sunday at Bridgetown Barbadoes, of Charles Richards, aged thirty years, son of James and Mrs. Richards of this city. The deceased was employed in Charlottetown with Mr. Taylor and afterwards removed for his health to Bridgetown, where he has built up an excellent jewellery business. It is probable that the remains will be brought home. The Guardian extends its sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Richards.

At a meeting held in the schoolhouse at Montague West, at which most of the residents were present it was deemed advisable to change the name of Montague Cross P. O. The following resolution, moved by the Rev. James Phelan, and seconded by John Brennink, Esq., was adopted: Resolved that the name of Montague Cross be changed to that of Iona. Further resolved that a copy of the proceedings be forwarded to the assistant post master at Charlottetown and the press for publication—COR.

THE Halifax Herald announces the death of Capt. Joseph Purdy, a well known master mariner after a lingering illness. The deceased was for many years engaged in the West India trade sailing out of the port of Halifax. His last command was the brigantine Ida Maud, of which he was the owner. Mr. Purdy was fifty-eight years of age. The funeral took place on the 8th, from his late residence in Halifax. The service was large, many prominent citizens attending. Rev. M. A. McKinnon conducted the burial service. The body was interred at Holy Cross Cemetery. Capt. Purdy was well known in this province having sailed out of Charlottetown and Summerside.

WHEN LIFE IS NOT LIFE

"Without health life is not life; it is only a state of languor and suffering—an image of death." The use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food gives the weak, languid and discouraged a new hold on life. It makes the blood pure and rich, creates new nerve force and instills new energy and vitality into the whole being. It makes weak and sickly people strong and well by building up the system.

PATENT medicines like many other things deteriorate with age and for that reason they should always be bought from a firm that receives them direct from the manufacturers, thus avoiding any possibility of getting worthless goods. Owing to our large trade in "Patent Medicines" we are enabled to buy in quantities direct from the proprietors, thus ensuring fresh goods for our customers. We have all the leading English, Canadian and American "Patents" and any we are out of we can import in a few days. MARRIED

At Burnt Point, Georgetown, on 9th January, by Rev. A. W. K. Herdman, John James Hanson to Carrie Adella McKean, Murray Harbor North.

Why London is Attractive.

The attraction of London to the annual visitor, writes Chauncey M. Depeew in a recent magazine article, is its cordial and charming hospitality. It is at the dinner-table and in the drawing-room that London becomes the capital of the Old World. Social standing and place in precedence being so stable and known, hosts have no fear of impairing their position by having guests who are not in the smart set. In the season, the visitor well enough known to find hospitable doors opening to him every day, meets and talks with those who are famous in every field of human endeavor and distinction. This is possible in no other city or society. Statesmen, warriors, orators, writers, journalists, artists, actors, travelers, and representatives of other races and civilizations, all of whom for the time are in the eye or on the tongue of the world, pass in review. With many of them there is opportunity for conversation and that most fascinating of studies, the discovery of or at least a suggestion of the secret of their success and power. I always return home feeling as if in the world's university I had met the workers who build and educate, and who are important factors in the culture, civilization and progress of their countries, or whose contributions to the thought or gaiety of nations make their acquaintance a valuable acquisition and enjoyable memory. It is delightful for a while to breathe an atmosphere where gigantic fortunes and titanic struggles to gain or enlarge them, which form so large a part of our daily reading and conversation, have no place in the programme.
